—At the last meeting of the Sone of England benevolent society, Lindsay, it was unanimously devided that the society should furnish a greet Christmas dinner on Christmas day to all English men or women of their sons or daughters whe may be in need or distress and who may be deserving of such attention. This is a move in the right direction and attracts attention to the benevolent spirit of the members of the order. We cannot give the method of distribution of Christmas cheer, but we are informed it is the intention to ask for the use of the Church of England rooms for the day before Christmas, when applicants in absolute need will be furnished with the necessities for the next day's dinner.
