that Great Britainrecognises the union of Bulgaria and Esstern. Boumelia and that Servia must take the cousequences of opposing the union. -Greece is negotiating with Montene-gro for an alliance offensive and defensive against the porte. Bismarck has notified Greece that if she enters upon hostilities it must be entirely at her own risk. - It is stated that several Scotch and Irish peers, both conservatives and liber-als, will support a motion of the Earl of Kilmorrin in favor of the abelition of the office of lord-lieutenant of Ireland.

—A cave-in occurred at Boston run, near Mahoney City, Pa., and a block of houses went down out of sight. The families living in the houses made a narrow escape. The surface is still caving in and five more blocks are expected to go down.

-"Piute Jim," the Indian poker sharp, says a Nevada paper, "lately beat a champion Chinese gamester of Bullianville out of $75 in cash, an ivory handled pistol and a gold ring. During the game it was fun to see the Piute box the cards on the unsuspecting Mongolian."

-Sir Charles Dilke says he is in favor of extending Mr. Trevelyan's Irish scheme to the three kingdoms. The conservatives, he says, ought to propound a scheme first, and if that should be rejected by parliament Mr. Gladstone should speak as the leader of the whole liberal party.

—The practical joker fiend caused a sensation in Hamilton on Sunday night by placing an imitation dynamite bomb in a public building hallway. It caused a scare when found, but on being opened was found to contain only a lump of ice and a few harmless pieces of wire.

- Advices from Warsaw state that forty persons have been arrested there on a charge of being implicated in nthilistic conspiracies. An unsuccessful attempt was made to murder two police spies. A majority of the alleged conspirators are Russians and of good social standing.

—A company has been formed in Amsterdam for the purpose of draining the Zuyder Zee, a gulf of the German ocean 45 miles long and 35 wide, having a superficial area of about 900 square miles, as com pared with the 998 square miles which constitute the kingdom of the Netherleap for life" at the American theatre at New Haven, Conn., on Monday night, Mile. Eddy, a trapeze performer, fell from the suspended bar to the seats, a distance of thirty feet, and received internal injuries that may prove fatal. A netting was provided, according to legal requirement, but it was not stout enough to break the fall.

-The London Truth says: "The queen did a kindly act last week when, as she was driving through Windsor, she observed a cab horse fall dead. An outrider was sent to make enquiries, and on learning the nature of the accident her majesty caused an intimation to be conveyed to the lamenting owner that he should be pre-sented with another horse from the royal stables.

-George Hauck, a Kingston (N.Y.) brewer, walking out into the country the other day stopped at a farm house for a glass of milk. He looked but saw no sign of life in the room except a sleeping baby in the cradle, which was being rocked to and from by some unseen power. A closer examination revealed the fact that a stout cord was fastened to one of the rockers and run through a hole in one side of the room. Hauck, following up the cord, was led to a small barn connected with the house. In rocking of the cradle.

-Another remarkable proof of the efficacy of M. Pasteur's discovery is furnished by the case of three children of Tourcoing, near the Belgian frantier. All were bitten by the same dog, and there was a great discussion among the townspeople whether to send the children to M. Pasteur or not. Finally a comprmise was reached. The child that been the most severely bitten was sent to M. Pasteur, and the other two, who had been bitten only slightly, remained at home. The wounds of all three had been thoroughly cauterized immediately after the bites were inflicted. The two children that stayed at home died of rabies last week, while the one which was treated by M. Pasteur is alive and well.

says: "I once had a cat who always set up to the dinner table with me and had his hapkin round his neck and his plate and some fish. He used his paw, of course; but he was very particular and behaved with extraordinary decorum. When he finished his fish I sometimes gave him a piece of mine. One day he was not to be found ed his fish I sometimes gave him a piece of mine. One day he was not to be found when the dinner bell rang, so we began without him. Just as the plates were put around for the entree puss came rushing upstairs and sprang into his chair with two mice in his mouth. Before he could be stopped he dropped a mouse on his own plate and one on mine. He divided his dinner with me as I had divided mine with -Mr. John Morley, the radical leader, in a speech last night made some important declarations regarding home rule. He said "it was all moonshine to say that the 330 liberal members fresh from their constiinfant sat up all the way and never cried.

There is a young negro porter at Atlanta who has a university education. He construes Greek perfectly and often labels his cotton tokets in Greek characters. He can find nothing better to do, and out of his case of thirty all but two havedropped back into just such work as he is doing.

Two shantymen belonging to Bremann's shanty on the Petewawa river started out for a walk through the woods last Stunday, taking their axes with them. They had not proceeded far when they were attacked by a famished wolf. Reteating with their faces to the ferodous animal they reached the loc on Lake Casty, when they succeeded in despatching it.

Earl Gray, writing to the London limes, deprecates the concession of local government to Ireland, as he believes such power would be made the means of orpressing all who dissent from the doctrines of the national lesque. The improvement of the condition of the people of Ireland, he says, must emanate from themselves. It must be brought about by provident habits and greater industry. It is the imperative duty of the government to suppress outrages and violations of law is Ireland. Until that is accomplished all concessions to the Irela people will merely serve, like sweets to children, to stop their reports of the submitted forget, living at Deaver, had concessions to the Irela people will merely serve, like sweets to children, to stop their reports of the submitted forget, living at Deaver, had committed forget, living at Deaver, had concessions to the Irela people will merely serve, like sweets to children, to stop their reports of the submitted forget, living at Deaver, had concessions to the Irela people will be reported by the law of the living and the tuencies have no mandate to deal with the Irish question. Liberalism would be powerless for earrying out these great tasks which have been confided to this na-

Boycotting is still on the ingresse in Ireland. The national league is now dictating to the county banks and threatens to beyout them if they do not obey its commands.

-Miss Ah Wook, an almond-eyed lady from Chins, living in San Francisco, claims that her arrest on a charge of attempting to defraud her creditors and the publicato cerraid her creations and the publica-tion of that fact in the newspapers damag-ed her reputation for truth and honesty and injured her facilings to the extent of $299, which she seeks to recover from the newspapers.

—A retired newspaper man tells of a pleasing experience with Mr. Vanderbilt. "I went to interview Mr. V.," he says, "and the big man was smilingly silent. "Surely you wouldn't hinder a newspaper man making a few dollars,' I said to him facetiously. 'A talk from you is worth a great deal; I made a handsome sum out of my first interview with you.' 'Well, by George, I like a man who can make money out of me,' said the railway king. 'It takes a smart man to do it; fire away with your questions.'"

-Moody and Sankey last week closed a short but very successful series of services in Montreal. A certain enterprising bookseller hearing of the visit went quietly around and beught up all the Moody and Sankey hymn books in Montreal and Toronto and in fact wherever he could find them. He secured a corner in them in fact. Afterwards he disposed of part them to his brethren in the trade, and made arrangements to sell others while the services were being held. Altegether he sold between three and four thousand of the books.

to an Ottawa paper says: Having had occasion to visit some parties on the Oplongo road in Renfrew county I reached Brudnel on Christmae day and was surprised at the proceedings there. The people appeared to be enjoying themselves amazingly, and I saw a good many individuals under the influence of liquor, although it is a county where the Scott act is supposed to be enforced. Upon enquiring how they got it I was informed that there was lots of it sold by pediars, and that two of the pediars had taken their abode at one of the hotels and were dispensing their medicine. Advices from Pembroke en the other hand etate that under the Scott act Pembroke is one of the most sober and orderly towns in Canada.

—Some days ago four Germans, two of whom were brothers, Emil and Guetave Steincke, of the township of Thorne, Pontiac, were out for a dear hunt. Guetave, a youth of sixteen, was standing on a log and resting his rifle thereon, when it slipped downward and discharged, the ball passing upwards through his clothes and slightly tearing the skin, then parted the upper lin almost at the right angle of the slightly tearing the skin, then parted the upper lip almost at the right angle of the mouth said disappeared, passing between the fiesh and upper jawbone and completely under the cheek bone, curved and made its exit at the extreme right angle of the right eye and bedded in the bony substance immediately above. The shot brought his companions to the spot, who found him scunned and bleeding profusely. They conveyed him home and dressed the wound, and, although the sight is almost gone, he is likely to recover it.

—A London cable says: Mr. John Mor-ley's speech Thursday night tends to con-firm the impression that Mr. Gladstone, through his confidents, is endeavoring to through his confidents, is endeavoring to push the land question to the front and make it a more important element in the Irish discussion than home rule. Earl Cowper's letter to the Times was the first vindication of this policy. He declared his belief that the mass of the Irish people cared more for concessions in rents than for home rule honors. Mr. Morley's speech goes further and hints at even greater things from the liberals in the coming session of parliament in the way of land reforms than were accomplished when they were last in power. Mr. Morley is now regarded as a sort of mutual friend between Mr. Gladstone and the radical Chamberlain, and his speech is believed to indiperisin, and his speech is believed to indiberlain, and his speech is believed to indicate unity of purpose.

—Society at St. Petersburg is just now much occupied with the revival of a cur ious story. About three years ago there was a spiritualistic seance at the officers' club in that city, at which the spirit of a famous departed general was called up, and prophesied among other things that there would be a great war in 1886, in which Russia would take the leading part. As the ghost of the deceased warrior mentioned amongst the names of officers who would greatly distinguish themselves in the war those of some men who did not even figure in the army list the affair was looked on as a joke and no more was thought of it. But by a strange coincidence amongst recent appointments to the rank of commissioned officers the very names appear which the spirit had foretold the bearers being men of no family, who have risen from the ranks. As there is no country in the world where superstition is carried to such an extent as in Russia the incident has caused quite a sensation. It would be very strange if at the commencement of the year 1886 we would see Russia drawn into war with Austria as a result of the struggle between Servia and Bulgaria.

—[London Life.

—A London cable says: A somewhat recate unity of purpose.

-A London cable says: A somewhat remarkable letter on home rule in Ireland appeared in to-day's Statist. The writer is supposed to be Robert Giffen, LL.D., statistician to the board of trade. His plan is for the imperial government to first buy out every iandlord in Ireland, giving him consols at par equal in nominal amount to twenty years' purchase of the present judicial rents; secondly, to give the land free to the present occupiers, subject only to a rent charge of one-half or two-thirds of the present judicial rent, psyable to the new local authorities in Ireland; and, thirdly, to selieve the imperial exchequer of all payments now made out of it in connection with the local government of Ireland. The plan is in fact to throw the cost of the local government in Ireland upon Irish resources exclusively, and to give the Irish people the rent of the country for the purpose of conducting it. The conflict between landlords and people would thus come to an end, and there would no longer be a fear that if England gives Ireland home rule the property of the landlords would be confiscated. Taking the rent of Ireland as settled judicially at about $2,000,000, the consols at par to be given in exchange at twenty years' purchase would be one hundred and sixty million pounds, involving an annual charge of $24,000,000 upon the imperial exchequer. At present the government close upon four million pounds exclusive altogether of the outlay for the army of occupation, for the collection of revenue and other important matter which would be still imperial. The position as tistician to the board of trade. His plan is exciusive altogether of the outlay for the army of occupation, for the collection of revenue and other important matter which would be still imperial. The position as required the Irish tenants would be that where they now pay $8.000,000 they would have to pay only from $4,000,000 to $5,000,000. The americancy is one, the writer shrinks for which importal credit should be most. Much of the powent frish difficulty is one to the fact that events have been fated to the judicial runts fixed a few rows ago. A subsequent fall of prices has upon the whole theory of judicial runts. It notes the new scheme it would be possible and necessary to lat the new local authorities its leminal have centred of the judicy. The collectors of the importal procument would reten a small police force of their every to enforce the collection of the imperial factor required for imperial matters which would remain imperial as long as these was its separation. This proposition will doubtless lead to much imhouse in town. propont die

-At the Munster assizes on Saturday sentences making fromeia to twenty years were passed upon a number of prisoners convicted of moonlighting, attempting to murder policemen and wounding and hooting other persons.

-A remarkable fight occurred recently —A remarkable fight occurred recently on the farm of the Hon. Oscar Turner in Ballard county, Ky., between a large Durham bull belonging to Col. Turner and a buck weighing over 200 pounds. Both were found in the forest dead and only a few feet spart. The bull had been gored three times by the buck, the last thrust entering the animal's heart and must have killed him instantly. The deer was dreadfully bruised, though his skin was not cut through. -The use of the disestablishment scare in the English campaign has incidentally served a useful purpose. It has stimulated the friends of the church to renew their efforts for reform "within the party." The initiative is not taken by Oxford, where so many religious movements have where so many religious movements have started, but by the more conservative Cambridge. An address signed by the leading members of the university has recently been sent out favoring a thorough house-cleaning, and the mere statement of the abuses is the justification of the address at this time. In the list of objectionable practices in the administration of the church are noted the "sale of patron." the church are noted the "sale of patronage, excessive inequalities or anomalies in the distribution of revenues, and the difficulties in the way of the removal of criminus and incompetent clerks." The principal advance suggested by way of government is "the admission of laymen of all classes who are bona fide churchmen, to a substantial share of the control of church affairs." This, of course, implies a scheme of self-government, possibly like the established church of Scotland. The London Times says that there is no constitutional reason why this right of self-gov-ernment should not be conceded to the church.
