of account of Dr. Chame's Liver Care in the reves solely with the fact that is is four-neurous with known liver regulators the Costs, harbs and kerbs, harbs and kerbs, harbs as on the Kidneys, Stommen, Bowels and Sea, dee Solls fulfiller of Dr. Chame's Recipe Books Commiss about 10 years over man, while noise is troubled cottle Liver Commits arections of many,

r. Edmanson & Co., Sale Agents, Bra

Marriage Licenses. LEORGE DOUGLASS.

MANTLEA, ONT.

R S. PORTER, ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES

ATTERNY, Oct. 28, 1884,-12, J BRITTON,

BSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES OR THE COUNTY OF THE PORTA

LINDSAY, FRIDAY, FEB. 19, 1886. THE BELLE OF MULKAPORE

A STORY OF MILITARY LIFE IN INDIA.

By the Author of "Fated Fatefau." We must all follow when Fate puts from the

(Continued from last week.)

Consequently I felt some diffivivancing my own opinion, viz.,

lequationsly, 'you would soon know what gay, the live and happened to stay with friends of our trie in the place instantly set their to her in and picked it up, and soid Thank you kindly Me void on route to merry him, wedding trousman, cake, and all complete!"

' and do you leve him?' I seked point-

love him, you dear little centimental

Miss Gibbon would half spologize for her extraordinary frankness by telling me

Colonel Keith's life, and if I were in

Mrs. Roper occupied a top beeth, and made that elevation an excuse for send-ing me all her errands, and they were

She never got up till Miss Gibbon an seed. She liked to have I was an early riser, and only too gind to escape from the stuffy cabin and take sturn on deck with Colonel Keith; who

To me her languidly moving town tive gentlemen one would think she was shod feet medestly dieglaged beneath the frile and furbelows of her morning-gown, she would remain perdue the enunbrella concessing her sud the favored uvalier, who read and talked to her, in a rupted by the luncheon-bell.

No one on board the Hindorian believ to your breakfast, and an injury to your dinner!' No, no! They all eagerly responded to the loudly clauging bell by hurrying headlong down to the saloon, where a substantial cold refection awaitdigious black fan, and making observations in a taint, subdued tone. A rechin praise of my excellent sense and maginformation of gray eyes.'

My eyes have had been called 'yellew,'

My eyes have had been called 'yellew,' her side-d genteel family, pursued Miss Gibbon select circle, she was the gavest of the nearly frantic. ' And what will you do?' I inquir what may, I will not marry Mr. Hogg,"

'No, no; I might work my pa

oper, as I have already hinted.
'Horrid old frump!' she would say fun of me.' * Everybedy!" I answered foreibly sundfather, Deb, and desens of other 'How long was this ago? 'Oh, four or five years ago?

And did no one else say anyth

crowd, if I got a good shove.'
'Your friend Rody evidently have no doubt that once you were a de that I was poisoning your mind, if the heard me; but I think that a girl who the world. Hold up you head-you will agreeable; but could it be true, or was it

You keep them all at arm's length-

'I don't know what a con and I don't cars if he has a million

FOR 1886.

Once again has the time come for renewing subscriptions for another year, and THE Post confidently expects that once more friends and readers, many of them being from ten to twenty years standing, will continue the relationship for 1886. The past year has been a satisfactory one; and the incoming year promises steady progress, and as fair a share of prosperity as can be obtained in what many consider "these hard times."

The standing of THE Post as one of the best local papers in the Dominion will be maintained, and it will be the constant aim of its proprietor and staff to increase its value and interest. It is enough to say that its local correspondence will not be diminished. In this respect THE Post may fairly claim the first rank. The newsletters of our various correspondents make up a most valuable and interesting feature.

Special attention is directed to the new story just started in THE Post. It is one of surpassing interest and of high moral tone. It will please our readers more than any of the stories that have been published in the paper. New subscribers sending in names promptly will get the two back numbers (Dec. 11 and 18) containing the opening chapters of the story.

We need not enlarge upon the other features that have made THE POST popular and attractive. We may add that the advertisements are among the most interesting things to be found in the paper. They are fresh, bright, sparkling, witty, clever, entertaining. There is nothing stale or dull, not even among the mostmatter-of-factlegal notices. The advertisements are carefully perused for the tempting bargainsthey offer and for the varied wants they make known.

We trust our friends, agents and readers will continue with increased vigor their efforts to increase THE Post's sphere of usefulness. We are greatly indebted to them for their zeal and kind MILL MACHINERY. offices in the past, and respectfully solicit their cooperation for another year.

Renewals are now in order. Write name, amount and post-office plainly. Some people forget to give name or post-office. changing from one postoffice to another be sure to give the old name as well as the n.w. If you have a second name or initial give it as well. Register and

B. Lawwille Orthician

A FULL LINE OF SPECTAGLES, EYE-GLASSES, COCCLES, FTD. PRSTIMONIAL. LINDSAY POST OFFICE. Dec. 17. '88.

OMEMER GELERT

ATHERL VALENT GAMERI GREENB

The

LIND

NEW

HOME

Gathere

-Robe Wednes ly deran

predicte sit in D

-Bull with ad

-The

An ing to o

been a b

relatives denly be

farm of l eloped w zie, marr

arrested for

of seed g

partmen tressed s Albert, I

Larame Machine Oil.

HRESHERS AND MILLMEN!

JOS. HEAD, Fenelon Falls.

Thexton & Co.

CUTTER TRIMMINGS. GUNS AND SKATES.

STORM SASH-Prices Right.

THEXTON & CO'S. Lindsay, Dec. 10, 1885.-70.

S. Perrin.

THE GREAT COUGH REMED! Is sold by every Druggist and Dealer in Patent Medicine in the County.

James Keith

CLOVER SEED! - CLOVER SEED!

TIMOTHY SEED.

WANTED-ANY QUANTITY

AMES KEITH'S

A. Higinbotham.

OLD ENGLISH CONDITION POWDER

A. HIGINBOTHAM, Druggist, Lindsay

WILLIAM STREET, LINDSAY,

Save and Shingle Mill Machinery, Flour and Mill,

Engines and Steam Pumps

McLennan & Co.

FRESH MINED COAL STOVE, NUT AND EGG.

DELIVERED AT

-The e

-Miss

go Farm, thousand Sach copy -A Lon

he will er