TORONTO.

BROKE HIS NECK.—James Alderson, a farmer of Scarboro, left Toronto Saturday night for home after disposing of his load of produce. While passing through the teway leading to the house the wheelslof his waggon struck the gatepost, throwing Alderson out. He fell upon his head breaking his neck, and expired instantly.

CAVAN. Won the Seat.—The contest between Mr. Robert Vance of Cavan and Mr. Barnum for a seat on the board of the agricultural and arts association having resulted in a tie, the minister of agriculture had to decide the question of who whould like de the question of who should fill the position. The Peterboro and East Durham societies having voted for Mr. Vance, and they having the largest paid up membership, he has been declared elected.

COBOURG. A QUEER THEFT.—On Saturday afternoon a respectable and well-to-do farmer named Leonard Ash went into W. Hopper's watch and jewelry store in Cobourg for the purpose of paying an account and having his watch repaired. Mr. Hopper turned to his watch repaired. Mr. Hopper turned to his books to look up the account, and while doing so Mr. Ash very coolly pocketed a valuable gold watch that was in a tray of watches in a glass show case that the proprietor was showing to another customer, who stood examining them. Shortly after ash left the store the article was missed, and suspicion at once fell on the previous customer. The facts were at once made known to Chief of Police Rankin, who immediately took the matter in hand, and succeeded in finding the guilty one with the stolen property at his residence, near Cold Springs. Ash was brought before Police Magistrate Dumble on Monday morning, and was committed for trial at the spring assizes, bail being accepted at $1,000.

BILLS.—It is said that counterfeit $2 bills are in circulation in various places. It is a comfort to hear of a little money being in circulation somewhere even if it is a poor quality of stuff. For ourselves we have not seen anything but store bills since last Christmas. A counterfeit $2 bill itself, would be a positive treat. It would at least remind us of the bills and the happy times we had years ago when we worked on the government roads, and tended the placid ox, and before the fates doomed us to a life of slavery in the literary galleys.

DEPARTURE OF FATHER MCEVAY.—Service was held at the Catholic church on March 1886 pursuant to addition to the distribution of the bride, and a silver bracelet, a gift from her father, was of course the centre of attraction and looked charming. Although not yet eighteen she is as staid, as matronly, and as sensible as most young ladies are at twenty-six. We compliment the groom on his good fortune in securing so bright a jewel. The bride was the recipient of many valuable and handsome presents.

After service the rev. gentleman, announced to the evident regret of the whole congregation, that he would have to leave on Friday. He gave a feeling address, expressing the pain it gave him to sever the warm friendships he had formed with his people, and gave them some good advice and counsel. PONTYPOOL.

Suppressing the Smallpox.-As we printed Mr. Murray's letter we give place to the following from the Port Hope Times: Some of the people about Pontypool are making unnecessary trouble for themselves by insisting on a discussion as to the origin of the smallpox in their village, after the epidemic has been very effectually and promptly stamped out. One worthy individual signing himself "John S. Murtay" has a wordy and meaningless letter in individual signing himself "John S. Murray" has a wordy and meaningless letter in THE LINDSAY POST, the only purport of which seems to be abuse of Dr. Geo. The fact that no other instance can be cited where so many cases occurred with such satisfactory results speaks volumes for Dr. Brereton's treatment and skill. Out of the number attacked by the disease only one patient succumbed and that one might have been alive to-day had the directions of the doctor been strictly adhered to. As it is the danger is over, and we think it in the interest of every resident in the village—particularly those engaged in any kind of business -to allow the subject to drop as quickly as possible, for as long as it is made a matter of discussion, either on the streets or in the press, they cannot expect farmers to go there to do their tradng, if they can do it—even at a great deal ing, if they can do it—even at a great deal if inconvenience to themselves—at adjacent villages. Dr. Brereton is deserving of the highest praise not only from the recidents of the village, but from the entire surrounding community for his noble self-sacrifice in devoting his time entirely to the suppression of the lost home disease. McDonald, moderator protem. The resignation of Rev. H. Sinclair of the charge of Uptergrove was taken up, his letter read and parties heard; when after due consideration it was agreed that this presbytery having heard Mr. Sinclair's statement at our former meeting and also by communication to-day adhering to and pressing his resignation, this presbytery agree to accept the same, and in so doing would record their regret at the loss sustained by his removal, and their high regard for him as a brother beloved and as a faithful and earnest pastor and preacher of the gospel. The presbytery in taking leave of their brother affectionately commend him to the grace of God with the hope that another field of usefulness may soon be opened to him. The clerk was appointed to preach and declare the charge vacent on the 14th inst. The Rev. G. C. Patterson was appointed to act as moderator of the session at Uptergreve. Various reports were received and general assembly remits considered. Also the claims and grants for mission stations and sugmented congregations were authorized; and the Rev. E. The dogs were stopped every time. I stopped them myself when they were not ten rods behind the deer. They would have caught it in a very short time. The dogs may easily be known by the following description: one is a hound of medium size, nearly white, with a few black spots on him; the other is a large black dog, with sufficient capacity to eat one-half of a deer at one meal. If those dogs are of any value they had better be cared for or they will be shot.
