The well-known furniture dealers, Anderson Nugent & Co. of Lindsay, have taken a progres sive step looking towards a very material ensive step looking towards a very material en-largement of their business facilities. Feeling that the future trade of the county could be well handled at Lindsay they have during the last month built a brick addition to their shops and placed therein a new boiler and engine made by Leosard & Sons of London. The boi-ler is 18 h. p. and well adapted for giving steam quickly and with a minimum amount of fuel. The engine is of 15 h. p. and of the class known as "high speed" engines, running about 250 re-volutions per minute at a not excessive pres-sure. Suitable shafting and pulleys are being fitted by John Makins. In addition the firm hve put in some first-class wood-working ma-chinery, including a jointer and tenoning ma-chine, band saw and surface planer. Other tools will be added so as to equip the factory up to very large capacity. to very large capacity.

Don't forget the spring races of the cance clui which come off this afternoon on the river over a course from the boat house south. It is a little late for spring races, it is true, but the spring will be there all the same—in the paddler's arms. The following program of events has been ar-

—Some ruthless ratepayers have been at it again. A lot of sod has been cut along the sides of Peel-st., west of Victoria-ave. Such an offence has been visited with a heavy fine at Peterboro, and justly so. Haul up the first offender and make an example of him.

A small frame house in the east ward owned and occupied by A. Menzies burned down together with all its contents on Tuesday night last. The fire originated from the usual defective storepipe and had gained such headway before being noticed that the family had barely time to vacate. The loss is about $200.

time to vacate. The loss is about $200.

To-day by special invitation of Mr. M. Boyd the county council will take a day off and make the trip over the river and lake by steamer Esturion to Bobcaygeon, where they will be entertained by Mr. Boyd and shown over his extensive stock farm. The farm of Mr. C. Fairbairn will also be visited. As becometh any wellorganized venture, members of the press have been invited to be one of the party. The press will be there.

-While the fire was in progress at the skating rink Tuesday afternoon some sparks fell on the roof of the town hall and set the shingles thereon merrily blazing. The public eye was directed to this new danger. Would the town hall blaze up and burn down? was asked. The ground was a saked. The hall blaze up and burn down? was asked. The enquiry was answered in the negative when an athletic member of the fire brigade was seen lightly mounting by one of Leary's iron fire escape ladders. The adventurous freman reached the roof, climbed up to the incipient fire and beat the blaze out of sight with his black felt hat. Other sparks were smothered as fast as they fell on the roof. Score another run for Leary's iron fire escape ladders.

A good article in meat is to be desired. Well fed cattle, well dressed and offered for sale in neat and suitable premises always find favor with the public, who know a good article when they see it. At the shop of Mr. J. Williamson, corner of Lindsay and Kentst., is where everything in the line of butchers' meat can be at all times purchased. Although only a short time in business in Lindsay Mr. Williamson has made a marked change about the premises. The shop has been neatly peinted, the fittings overhauled and made convenient and everything is clean and inviting. As an instance of the good things provided, on Saturday was offered for sale to customers cuts from three well-fed beeves, three fine sheep, spring lamb, nice veal and other meats. Victoria Shating Rink Burned. On Tuesday afternoon about four o'clock the large wooden building known as the Victoria ting rink took fire. It made an excellent anh ject for the fire to work upon, and in a few min-utes after the alarm was given it was beyond the reach of any effort made to save it. How the fire originated is not known, though it is said several boys were playing about the building shortly after one o'clock. Two lines of hose were laid from the hydrant at Blackwell's corwere laid from the hydrant at Blackwell's corner and a stream turned on the north end of the building. It did no good. Twenty streams would not have put the fire out with such a chance to keep alive and get in its work. Attention was given to secure the buildings to the south, but a frame stable alongside the rink on the west side was licked up in a few minutes.
In an hour the rink was a mass of glowing embers, and was soon wet down. On the building was an insurance of $1,200. The rink was owned by Mr. Thomas Fee, and had been in use during several winter seasons.

[To the Editor of The Post.] Sir. -I desire to combat an impression that is abroad that either myself or the Bank of Montreal wish to stand in a position antagonistic to the requirements of the board of health or the town council. The bank would not support me in any such stand. But I desire for my own good and to preserve so that it can be continued in safe use as a residence the valuable property the bank owns that an improvement in the sani-tary condition of the town be brought about. Those persons who heard Dr. Bryce's remarks Those persons who heard Dr. Bryce's remarks at the meeting of the council on Wednesday are now aware how necessary it is that we all put our heads together to do this. A condition of affairs exists that would warrant the interference of the provincial board of health. Let us avoid this by all means, and set ourselves under the direction of our local hourd to whom the our the direction of our local board to adopt the suggestion of Dr. Bryce. I know the cost will not be great and it need not deter.—Yours truly, C. E. L. PORTROUS,

First of July in Lindsay.

Now for it. The ball has been set rolling. It will increase in momentum, gathering in force from day to day, until Dominion day will see the best, grandest and most comprehensive de-monstration ever got up at Lindsay, and that, mind you, is saying a good deal. At a meeting held on Tuesday night preliminaries were ar-ranged for a good day's sport and a varied pro-gram was marked out. Mr. J. Dobson was ap-pointed chairman, Mr.W. H. Graham, secretary, and Mr. T. Wa. ers, treasurer, of the general committee. Strong sub-committees were ap-pointed to take charge of different features. The list includes aquatic sports, and a grand athletic pointed to take charge of different features. The list includes aquatic sports, and a grand athletic exhibition and competition in the agricultural grounds during the afternoon. An attractive feature will be the trotting and running horse races, for which liberal prizes will be offered. Large and striking posters will be issued during the week to come, and all particulars made public....Arrangements are being made for the presentation of medals to the Northwest heroes and for a military demonstration. Full particulars meet week.

The Central Canada Lean and Savings Co. A branch of this prosperous and strong institution has been opened in Lindsay by Mr. J. R. Dundas, vice-president. The advertisement of the company appears elsewhere, and shows abundant resources and a list of able and experienced business mea on the directorate-names that are well-known in this part of the province. We are satisfied that under Mr. Dunder Mr. Du erboro, and Justify and make an example of him.

—Mr. Thomes Cuff has a duckling about his premises that is a curiosity. This duck rejoices in having four legs and feet. The two extra legs are on the left side, where they do not in the least interfere with its activity. This duck will be a hard one to beat at aquatic sports, having extra propelling power.

Lindsay branch says:—"The ability, renability and capacity of Mr. Dundas for properly managing the affairs of the company at Lindsay will give the company confidence in the concern, and, if any further recommendation is needed, it is supplied by the facts of the stability of the institution, its rapid progress in the acquisition of tution, its rapid progress in the acquisition of the company at Lindsay will give the company confidence in the concern, and, if any further recommendation is needed, it is supplied by the facts of the stability of the institution, its rapid progress in the acquisition of tution, its rapid progress in the acquisition of the company at Lindsay will give the company confidence in the concern, and, if any further recommendation is needed, it is supplied by the facts of the stability of the institution, its rapid progress in the acquisition of the company confidence in the concern, and if any further recommendation is needed, it is supplied by the facts of the stability of the institution, its rapid progress in the acquisition of the concern, and if any further recommendation is needed, it is supplied by the facts of the company confidence in the concern, and if any further recommendation is needed, it is supplied by the facts of the company confidence in the concern, and if any further recommendation is needed. das's management the company will do a large and satisfactory business. SALT YOUR BUTTER WITH FINE SALT.

A BOOM

BUTTER AND CHEESE MAKERS. The statement that the law prices now ruling for Butter are distinctly traceable-in a measure-to but sulting and to poor packing in the past is a statement which is only too true. The old style of salting butter should be abandoned. Butter well made and salted with fine salt will command the highest prices. We have had butter delivered to us of excellent quality but ruined for table use by a too liberal upplication of coarse salt.

We have imported and are selling a very superior salt for the use of butter-makers. It is the best salt for the purpose in the market. It costs but little more than the course salt and enhances the quality and value.

The use of Ashton's Factory-Filled Salt in butter-making enhances the value of butter from one to the cents pound, as compared with the use of any other brand of salt. Six pounds of salt are usually require to the ing of one hundred pounds of butter. One sack of Ashton's salt will mace thirty-seven hundred pounds or butter; therefore, the use of it will make a sack worth thirty-seven dollars, in the mere enhancement of value of product over the use of any other brand. It is not safe to take other salt as a gift.

To make cheese, two and one-half pounds of salt are required to make one hundred pounds. The wind salt af Ashton's Factory-Filled Salt above other brands will not exceed, for the manufacture of one breaks and a charge, one cent and a quarter, calling the cost of Ashton's Salt double the price of ordinary brands of sait,

The enhanced value of cheese by the use of Ashton's Salt is, in the opinion of experts, one-eight of a cent per ound equal to twelve and one-half cents per one hundred pounds. It is not safe to try to save a cent and a quarter, in view of a gain of twelve and a half cents, in the making of one hundred pounds of cheese. Every manufacturer of butter and cheese, competent for his business, knows that a fine-ground salt, and at properly dried, runs out with the milk, leaving no flavoring or curing property behind. Assum's Salt is effectively solable; no other, as at present discovered, is effectively soluble. By using fine salt, that runs away, weight of the product is lost, and therefore profit is lost. Buy and use this Salt. Ask for no other, takeino other. It will repay its use many times in
