After the morning service Elder Willoughby will administer the rite of baptism to a number of persons. On Monday tea will be served in Whitselde's grove, adjoining the church, commencing at five o'clock. A quilt will also be sold by vote. A first clase time is expected.

BASE BALL.—We notice in the Salem correspondence of last week a paragraph in regard to the base ball match, criticising I'mpire Pearce's decisions. Pearce, ascording to Salem, was a good umpire as long as they won the match. In the last match Britain for the first time played her best team, winning the game quite easily. Britain tied Salem in the third innings, and led her all the way through the game afterwards, outplaying the Salemites at overy point. The Salemites, who are noted for kicking as soon as they find their opponents going to the front, began to find fault with the umpire, (because they were not able to hold up their end of the stick), and heaping abuse on him because he called the game at the eighth innings, with Britain eleven ahead, time by three watches being fourteen, fifteen and twenty minutes past eight o'clock, and the ground being en the east side of a large hill. The public may judge whether it was time to stop play or not. The Salemites, instead of taking their defeat like mes, whine and cry like a small child because the other took the largest piece of candy—the whine cry like a small child because the other took the largest piece of caudy—the whine being of a very sickening nature.

Construers' the Constru everybody knows, the eggs are all placed senarately in little cardboard compartments, which preventathem from breaking under any ordinary circumstances, and is a great improvement on the old method of packing in oats or chaff. Still, they won't stand everything, and when one of Mr. () strom's cases, while being lifted on to the sloor of a-car, slipped and fell, there was an awful smash, no less than 200 of the eggs being broken by "stopping so suddenly." As soon as they were picked out a number of boys instituted a sucking match, one of them emptying no fewer than fourteen shells before he was full to the throat. a great improvement on the old method of

THE "EVA."—Last Tuesday evening the steamer Eva did not return from Lindsay as usual, her pump having got out of order hefore she reached Sturgeon Point on her way back to the Falls. On going down to the wharf on Wednesday, after her arrival, to accertain what had happened, we got into conversation with the captain, we were sorry to learn that, although the Evals paying well, there being a large traffic between Lindsay, Sturgeon Point and Bohosygeon, the patronage from Fencion Falls is so small that, unless it is increased materially, she will probably not make regular trips to and from the village after the month she was induced to come here on trial shall have expired. The additional expense of running to the Falls is very little; but, trifling as it is, the receipts are carredy enough to cover it, as on some days the boas leaves with scarcely a passenger, and the only freight she has yet had was one ton of flour.—[Gassite.

PICNIC.—The Precbyterian picnic on Monday from Lindsay passed off pleasantly. Is landing some difficulty was occasioned by the absence of any wharf in connection with the park, and the excursion had to go round by the road. This ought to be seen to at once by the council.
Roads.—The council has expended nearly $200 on the roads and will expend that sum before they are through. One or two places are still in need of gravel, particularly the road leading from the wharf, but it is likely the council will not leave their work partially done. BOBCAYGEON.

Mew to Defcat the Tories. The Pail Mail Gazette has a plan by which the tories may still be checkmated. Since Lord Hartington would not come to Glad. stone, the Gazette would have Mr. Gladstone go to Lord Hartington. "Lord Hartington," it says, "is master of the political situation. He is as anxious as Mr. Gladstone to meet completely the local wants of Ireland and to satisfy to some exwants of Ireland and to satisfy to some extent her intional aspirations. The whole question turns on the extent to which it is safe to go. Lord Hartington has indicated the four limitations beyond which, in his opinion, it is unsafe to go. Mr. Gladetone dissents from three of them, but that is no reason why, when the popular decision has some in favour of Lord Hartington, be should not endeavour to harmonize the views of the two democracies. Why should mor Mr. Gladetone try again and brings in a not Mr. Giadetone try again and bring in a bill limited by the Hartmutonian condi-tions?" Still the Pall Mali Gazette confine that it is a foriorn hope. This plan has since been abandoned by the Gazette as im-
