& Clever Capture. On Friday evening of last week Mr. R. Matchett, station agent at Lindsay, received a telechett, station agent at Lindsay, received a telegram describing the appearance of two men who were supposed to have been the parties who broke into the station at Beaverton Tuesday night previous. On Friday night before leaving off duty Station Agent Matchett took a look at the cars switched on the different sidings just to see if things were all right. While walking along a line of flat cars loaded with lumber standing near the water tank he saw two men crouched between the lumber piled on the car and partly covered by boards pulled over. The glance afforded showed that the hat worn by one corresponded with the description of supposed burglars, and the further fact was noticed that one had a red moustache. Mr. Matchett made a feint of taking the numbers of the cars, and presently walked off to the station and telephoned for Chief of Police Bell, who hurried down. Switchman Stanton was pressed into service by Mr. Matchett, and the three went off to the cars and on the way down Hugh Sinclair joined in the hunt. The car was surrounded and Chief Bell mounted the car and intimated to the surprised men that their time had come. They showed fight, but having four stout fellows to deal with seon subsided and submitted to be handcuffed. The men were searched at the station and were found to have been armed. When arrested one, who afterwards gave his name as McLone, threw away a revolver which was afterwards picked up. The other man was armed with a revolver, a piece of soap, and a copy of the Midland Free Press. The prisoners were locked up in gaol by Police Officer Bell, and were brought before the magistrate on Saturday merning... Detective Burrows of Toronto visited Lindsay on Tuesday and recognized prisoner McLone as Edward Kenny, a professional burglar and thief of considerable notoriety. In his day he has served two terms in Kingston penitentiary, once for burglary and again for robbery. Five years ago in a robbery he shot a fellow burglar named Crozier in mistake for a policeman. In his capture Chief Bell has ri gram describing the appearance of two men

A large percentage of the potato crop was lost last year owing to late harvesting, the fall rains setting in before the average producer of Ireland's hope and joy had his crop out of the ground. Mr. Hugh Workman lett his horse tied to a verandah post in front of Mrs. Jemegager's store on Kentst. and his little three-year old grandson Herbert was left sitting in the buggy. The horse became restive and got on the side-walk, upsetting the buggy in the ditch on top of its occupant. In its endeavor to free itself the horse plunged wildly. The buggy was jerked to and fro and there was great danger that the child, who was still beneath the buggy, would be ornshed to death. Mr. Bartlett saw the danger, seized the horse by the head and held him until the child was removed from his dangerous position. Fortunately the little fellow was uninjured, but it was a narrow escape.

—In view of the vast number of tracks constructed and under course of construction in nearly every village throughout the country the question naturally arises "why should not Lindsay have a driving park?" As it now stands we have plenty of horsemen, any number of fine bred animals, but, alas! no suitable place to drive, not even possessing the time honored "concession line." It is to be regretted that such a state of affairs should be allowed to exist as numbers of citizens who would like to give their roadsters a little track-work for the purpose of developing their speed are thus prevented from so doing, while others are compelled to send their animals to some of the neighboring towns or villages. This is also a loss financially to the town which by a small outlay coupled with a little concentrated action on the part of our horsemen could be easily overcome. Let some few of our horsemen get together and talk this matter over. There is yet sufficient time to construct a track this fall to be in readiness for next season. Who will be first to move -In view of the vast number of tracks con ness for next season. Who will be first to move in the matter?... It has been intimated that Mr. T. Complimentary Dinner.

On Wednesday evening a large party of gentlemen representing the professional and commercial interests of Lindsay met at the Benson house and sat down to dinner at eight o'clock. The occasion was a complimentary one, an ex-Bradburn, who is leaving Lindsay after a residence of fifteen years. Mr. D. J. McIntyre, M. P.P., occupied the chair, having on his right the guest of the evening and Mr. J. R. Dundas, M. P. Mr. S. A. McMurtry filled the vice chair. On the chairman's left was Mr. Brooks of Memphis, Tennessee. An excellent and appetizing spread was provided by mine host Benson, to which full justice was done during a half hour of active wielding of knife and ork. Then the chairman took up the list of coasts and the usual loyal sentiments and national and local tossts were disposed of, brief speeches being made by Mr. J. R. Dundas, Mr. John A. Barron, Mr. J. H. Rainsford and others. In proposing the health of the guest of the evening the chairman took the opportunity to speak in very flattering terms of Mr. Bradburn. Then followed the presentation of the following address: dence of fifteen years. Mr. D. J. McIntyre, M.

To Mr. T. E. Bradburn .-DEAR SIR.—Your fellow-citizens desire to express to you their deep sorrow that you have decided to remove from their midst and with your family to take up your residence else-

In proof of this assertion—if proof were required—we have only to refer to the public positions which your fellow-citizens have from time to time offered for your acceptance, without being aspired to by yourself, and in which you have acquitted yourself with ability, honor and integrity. As a member of the town council and as a member of the board of education you have rendered efficient and valuable service.

you have rendered efficient and valuable service.

The interest shown by you at all times in manly sports—whether as guardian of our public hall or as actual competitor in the "roarin' game"—have brought out with lustre those qualities of head and heart which have secured you the respect and esteem of those with whom you have been associated.

We shall not attempt to conceal from you our strong suspicions that much of the cheerfulness of your social life is but the unconscious reflection in you of a home made happy by your amiable wife. Through you we wish to assure her of our regret that she and family are removing from among us.

Notwithstanding our regrets we are pleased to knew that your future home will not be far distant, and that from time te time we shall have opportunities of renewing, in some measure, those pleasing associations to be partially interrupted by your change of residence.

On behalf of the citizens of Lindsay we heartlly wish you continued health as d prosperity, blessings which it is our earnest wish you, wife and family will share.—Signed,

THE CITY STORE.

DELIBERATING

It is good to deliberate if one is prompted with good motives. While the cotton manufacturers were recently deliberating in council assembled with the view of advancing the price of all classes of Cotton Goods, the City Store Syndicate did their deliberating a little previous and took advantage of the lull in the Cotton market to purchase their supply, and the consequence is that we are tickling our customers with lower prices than ever, while others are sounding the note of alarm at the general advance all along the line. The secret is that we are to day selling all classes of Cotton Goods for less money than the manufacturers are selling to day, and the same deliberations in the matter of Woolen Dress Goods have resulted just as favorably for the patrons of the City Store, while those 'who got left are obliged to buy at the advance. We made our purchases early thus effecting a saving to our patrons of tully 20 per cent. These are indisputable facts which can be proven by a comparison of the goods. We have faithfuly labored to give our customers better value than can be obtained elsewhere and with our present facilities and advantages we are determined to increase if possible our already unapproachable reputation for the best value in all classes of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods, Carpets, Oil Cloths and Housefurnishings, Millinery and Mantles, &c. Our bargains this season are making the venerable tongues wag.

IN A VOICE

Sharp enough to open an oyster can, we proclaim that unless you begin to make preparations for cold weather you'll hear something drop. You can't begin too soon, the note of warning is already sounded and Jack Frost is coming. It behooves all, young and old alike, to prepare and not be caught napping. How easy to nip him in the bud. A little thought and prompt action on your part frustrates his evil designs and caves you perhaps from a fatal illness. To provent .. is necessary to supply yourself and family with warm clothing, say a new Suit, an Overcoat, Underclothing, Flannels, &c., and as the outlay is likely to be large it is necessary to find a store where you can make your money do you the best service. The City Merchant Tallering House of Lindsay is the strongest competitor for your patronage. While our prices are always the lowest our stock is the largest in the county, thus enabling you to have the greatest variety to select from while reaping the advantages of our lowest prices. Our Stock of Tweeds Cloths, Overcoatings, &c., is exceptionally large and well assorted for the season's trade and the general artistic cut, skilful workmanship and perfect fit of our Gent's Clothing is known throughout the Midland Counties to be complete perfection, a reputation we it we fairly and honorably attained and continue to hold. Wehave'nt a big head but its great.
