GIVING UP

And Going South.

I have decided to go out of business in Lindsay, and with that end in view I offer the large stock of Goods now on hand for sale at very low prices indeed. To do this effectually extra inducements will be offered as stated below. I hope to see the entire stock cleared out by the end of the year, and if not so sold will be disposed of en bloc.

It is with reluctance that I have decided on this course, and it is certainly not a personal wish of mine that business relations, now of many years standing, with the people of the town and county should be severed. Long continued illness in my family has, I regret to say, compelled me to take this step, and in so doing I recognise that it is some consolation to have the assurance that many friends and the public generally will share with me my regrets at making the change. - Yours truly,

JAMES GRAHAM.

WORTH OF GOODS TO BE CLOSED OUT.

IF THE PUBLIC ARE SHREWD THIS IS THEIR OPPORTUNITY.

THE RULE, NOT THE EXCEPTION.

IF UNIVERSAL ADVERTISING

has not destroyed your faith in human nature; if you believe anybody can make a business statement truthfully, read this

As is well known the class of goods kept by us has always been the best. We have never dealt in cheap shoddy or bankrupt stocks. Our aim and object has always been to supply first-class goods even at the risk of being called dear, preferring at any time that customers would say our goods were dear than that they were either rotten or fading colors. I think our reputation has been fully established in this way.

This sale will be for Casit only, as it would not be of any use to sell the goods and then spend time here trying to get the money for them. Give us your assistance in this matter and you will get the best value you ever got in Lindsay. We intend to continue this sale for two months and then dispose of the balance en bloc at a rate on the dollar.

Below is a partial list of stock with prices. Goods when sold out will not be replaced. We shall take it as a great favor if people living in town would come in the morning, as we must wait on the people from the country during the afternoon.

Judging from the talk of the boys the coal oil fever seems to have struck the town. This does not imply that speculation in oil is prevalent, but that several have publicly stated that they will on the opening of navigation next spring launch out on the wild waters with a steam yacht apiece, each boat driven by coal oil engine. On Thursday night of last week what seemed to be a fragment of Wiggins' predicted storm visited this section. Rain in quantity was accompanied by an exceedingly heavy wind. It blew great guns, to use a nautical phrase and almost everything moveable received rough treatment. Fences were levelled, pieces of siding torn off and shingles ripped off roofs in sections. In the north ward two summer kitchen attachments to dwelling houses were wrecked. On the river waves ran as near mountain high as possible and steamers and scows tied up to wharf only escaped wreckage on an inhospitable shore to get wrecked on worth mentioning. If the received theory regarding wind sterms is correct—that the wind is set in motion by a vacuum produced at some central point then that vacuum must have been nearly as large as Omemee, roughly speaking.... (who is arranging papa's cravat) says—We have been to Lindsay to-day on a shopping expedition.

Father—Indeed! and what is the result? Susan-The result, dear father, is that we have discovered the proper place to purchase my whole wedding out-fit, and the prices are very reasonable.

Father-What proof have you of that, my daughter.

Susan—Proof, did you say? Well in anticipation you know we have been prospecting for some time; have been to Toronto, looked there and all the other towns round about, and to-day we have been to every dry goods store in Lindsay and pronounce the CITY STORE the peer of them all. Their goods are just lovely, their stock is immense, and their prices are away down lower than any other place.

Mother-Susan, are you sufficiently well posted in qualities and designs to enable you to judge competently.

Susan—I flatter myself that I know what I want, and Uncle Jacob there has been in the business all his lifetime and surely you'll give him credit for knowing something of values, particularly as he has made a fortune at the business. He accompanied me today and will be pleased to testify to my assertions.

Uncle Jacob—It is quite true, I accompanied Susan to-day and can testify to the truth of her assertions, and assure you that she is quite correct in saying that the City Store is the place for all economical buyers to frequent. Their goods are certainly superior and their prices are positively lower, say 15 to 25 per cent. below any other store we visited to-day, and what further proof would you require.

Father-I am satisfied and fully convinced that the City Store is the proper place to buy your outfit, but surely you don't tell me that you can purchase everything we want there. Sit down and tell me what they keep in this big place you are so loudly in praise of. Selinda (the young lady in the background) enquires if there was anything nice enough to clothe the brides-

Susan—Please keep quiet Selinda, until I illustrate to father. To begin then, we looked at their Silks, Satins, Brocades, Fancy Dress Trimmings, Hosiery, Dress Goods, Gloves, Laces, Ties, Millinery, Mantles, Mantle Cloths, Fur Mantles, some Seal, some Persian, and i am sure there was over 50 Astrachan Mantles there to choose from, prices ranging from $20 to $50; and the Carpets, every kind you could mention, from a 10c hemp up to $1.50 Brussels and Velvet.

Father-You don't mean to tell me you can buy all these things in one store. Susan-Indeed I do father, and hundreds of other things. They are also the City Merchant Tailors of Lindsay and keep a tremendous stock of Cloths and Tweeds. You must go there to buy your new Suit and Overcoat, and a Fur Overcoat too.

This evening, Friday, the entertainment—one of a series to be given weekly by the young peoples' association of the Methodist church—will be held in the lecture room of the church. The work of preparing the room has been pushed on rapidly during the week and is now nearly if not quite completed. The committee in charge of the entertainment have prepared a very full and interesting program of musical and literary selections, and there is no doubt but the occasion will be one of the most successful of the series. Chair will be taken by the president, Mr. R. J. McLaughlin, who will deliver the opening address. Other matters of interest will follow.

The entertainment was then brought to a close..... The society will hold their next entertaisment (this Friday evening) in the basement of the Methodist church. The committee in charge are using every effort on their part to have this entertainment of high character and an extensive program is being prepard.

—During the first four days of this week special services were held in St. Mary's church to afford the large congregation the facilities necessary to comply with the conditions of the extraordinary jubilee proclaimed throughout the world by the pope. Father Laurent, V.G., and his curate, Rev'. Father McGuire, were assisted by Rev. Fathers Conway of the cathedral, Peterboro; McEvoy, Fenelon Falls; McCloskey, Kirkfield; and Connolly, Dewseyville. Four masses were celebrated each marning—at 6, 7, 8 and 9; at the latter of which a short instruction was delivered by one of the rev. gentlemen. In the evening at 7 instruction was again given, followed by religious exercises of the lubilee and benediction of the biassed sacrament... The congregation at each service was very large, and the eloquent remarks of the different speakers were listened to with the deepest attention. The number of communicants was very large at each of the masses.
