LINDSAY, FRIDAY, APRIL 1, 1887. THE MINISTERIAL MAJORITY.

The Mail, which is getting back into its treces again as a good party organ, has figured up the majority for the Dominion government at 28. The Mail claimed only tem or twelve a few days after the contest, and admitted that the life of the government hung by a thread. The elections in remote constituencies held since have given the government ten or a dozen of its present 28. The desperate measures resorted to since the 22nd February show that the government were beaten. But they determined to hold by fraud and force what the untrammelled voice of the seople had taken from them. The Mail's half has been taken from the opposition by foud and cheating like that in Kings, Ma timand and Algoma. Seven seats thus e ... ned would count fourteen on a diviand. They are secured for one session. al, ; and will undoubtedly be given to the references by the courts. But the votes for that one session is all that Sir John Macdonald needs just now. The remainder of the majority was obtained by means sourcely less discreditable; but the broad fact remains that the tory battalion is semewhat stronger than the reform battal-Whether the government will be able to get along without foundering is a problem of much interest, the practical solution of which will commence in a

MR. JOHN MOSWEYN AND THE STOLEN BALLOTS.

The Wardertackled the wrong man when he endertook to buildoze Mr. McSweyn and intimidate him into declaring that the Warder fabrications about the alleged sto-.en ballots were all gospel truth. The Warder has been lying all the way through and has been found out. It wants Mr. Mosweyn to maintain that the Warder statements are true and not false, but Mr. Mcdweyn has a reputation to lose and regard for truth, of both of which the Warder seems to be entirely destitute. Mr. McSweyn in a manly and honorable way discharges a duty to the public and to his fellow-citizens in stating clearly the facts of the case; and in declining to aid and abet the Warder in its misrepresentations.

Mr. McSweyn's exposure of the Warder's tactics is so complete and crushing that it is unnecessary for us to add a word. It will occur to the public as the Warder Hes about this matter in such a reckless and shameless way it will lie about any up the first fabrication. The intelligent and unprejudiced public will size up the Warder just about as Mr. McSweyn has should be jury against Hon. John Costigun. the 28th June. A true bill has also been found against Mr. Costigan's chief canvas ser, Victor Albert, for bribery.

fice fire has reculted in an open verdict-a few. The Warder has made some wild and reckless charges and insinuations in this matter, and will, no doubt make more. This is to be regretted, also. If the fire was the work of some reckless firebrands it should be known, and any clue leading in that direction should have been vigorously followed in the investigation. We place the evidence before our readers and reserve comment for another issue.

NOTES FROM THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, 19th MARCH. The present section of the Outario lea the late election so westened that it is impussible for them to carry on a heavy fight net the superior numbers and ability of the government eide. In the abs make way for Mr. R. P. Clarie of the occupies the next seat to Mr. Meredith. Mr. hard worker, but the descent from Mr. Mereie a long one, and indicates the poverty of sere. There are a number of new men who have not yet had an opportunity to win have not yet had an opportunity to win their spure and who yet may do good work for their party. Probably the most promising of the new men on that side is Mr. E. F. Clarke himself. Mr. Maradith shows his old time ability as a debater and more than his old time enruestness and gentality. He is one of the heart liked men in the house. Were his support stronger in numbers his own ability a d hard work would make the government's position an calling for a change in the law and the amendments promised were not many. The amendments promised were not many. The necessary act to make binding on the people the new consolidation of the statutes which has been going on for some time past, the extension of the advantages of high education, the gradual extension of the Torrans system to every county in the province, the introduction of text-books on the physiological effects of alcohol and more or less radical change in the system of using prison labor and the establishment of the new provincial park at Niegara Falls are among the legislative efforts promised. The address in reply to the speech from the throne was moved by Mr. Guthrie, who is regarded as by all odds the strongest addition to the present pariliament, and seconded by Mr. Evanturel, one of the many Roman Catholic conservatives who became alarmed at the cry raised by the conservative against the church and preferred to leave their party rather than sanction a "smesh-confederation-into its original fragment" policy. Mr. Guthrie made an exceedingly able speech, undoubtedly one of the best that has been made in a Canadian representative assembly on the subject of the address. Mr. Evanturel, though a
