SOMETHING BUYERS SHOULD THINK OF:

A. B. buys Goods at X. Y. & Z.'s. They are nice to look at, have a surface finish, low in price, and most buyers would say "CHEAP GOODS." You will find them get shabby in a month and wear out in three.

This is ONE SIDE—take a Peep at the Other:

C. D. buys Goods at McLEAN, SMITH & Co.'s. They wear the same all the way through they are body cloth; they wear well and look well till they are worn out.

Now, the questions to be considered are these, viz.: Are not goods which quickly fade, look shabby and wear out in spots, bought at a dear price, however little money they cost?

Won't the Goods which give long and good service and don't fade be cheaper and a saving of money in the end? Think of these facts when you are buying.

This with Deminion day in July and the civic holiday in August would give an average of one holiday per menths during the summer menths. It is rare to find a house to rent, and buildings not yet finished have been rented in advance. It is gratifying to find by the addition of new buildings on unoccupied lots but that citizens are doing over the work hastily done twenty years ago and putting up better and more handsome homes to replace those whose usefulness has gone. Local contractors report that the amount of building in view this year will more than double last year's operations, which reached in value nearly the sum of $100,000. Mr. Root. Bryans, the leading lumber dealer of Linday, reports, and hiestatement may be taken as indicating the extent of the boom in building, that he has closed contracts to supply materials which suggested thus far in the year more than the entire business of last season and better than any during the past five years.
