Missionaries — It is but a short step from being a missionary to being a marryr. Two young ladies and a gentleman from Non were deeply impressed with the ruth of this statement one day last week. Upon leaving a certain place not far from Sonys the animal which they were driving suddenly decided to make a change in his etyle of locomotion. The style adopted was as unusual as disagreeable, and consisted in raising his fore and hinder parts alternately to an extraordinary height in the sir and advancing by jumps. He made about twenty rods in 2-10, which was rather slow travelling, but although he did not get of stuff in that time. He disposed of two girls and a young man, a entter, pair of chafts and a set of harmess. Having freed himself of these impediments to free action he went for a run through the fields. He was necured with difficulty. Fortunately no damage was done more than breakage of rig and harmess, which lose Mr. Snell. grove would have felt more had the danger been less.
