This being either the fault of the returning officer in delaying the returns or of the clerk of the crown in chancery in delaying the announcements in the Gazette, Mr. Mills moved that the facts be Isid before the house. The result was the appearance in the "Votes and Proceedings" two days later of a table which furnishes food for thought. It would seen, that the returning officers on the possibly have been expected of men who but because they were good tories. There will need explanation. For instance the lion. this village in a bus belonging to the magnificent victory, the return was made on the 14th of March and not gazetted until the 9th of April. It is impossible yet to apportion the blame. It would be a most serious thing to charge the clerk of the government or his own partiasanhip to influence bim to allow these delays, for such conduct would be a direct violation of the isw and a gross outrage upon the privileges. the same time the pole of the rig was shivered to pieces, after which one of the horses got loose and ran a short distance south and then turned around to see why the other was not following it. School.—Our school is large at present and appears to keep both teachers busy. It is pleasing to see that parents take such an interest in the welfare of their children as to give them the benefits of at least a common school education. Children who have such advantages should be thankful that their lot has been cast in an age of enlightenment, and in a land where the educational interests of the people have been so carefully attended to. I think, yes, I am certain, that the parent who does not make an honest effort to give his child at least a fair education, is committing one of the greatest mistakes that a parent, into whose keeping God has entrusted the precious soul, can possibly commit. Parents do your duty, and your children shall rise up and call you "Blessed."

[To the Editor of THE POST.] SIR,-Will you kindly insert the following is SIR,—Will you kindly insert the following in your valuable paper on behalf of the Citizens' band of this town. As leader of this band and one that is deeply interested in its success and welfare I wish to bring before the notice of our most prominent citizens a scheme that I think will be advantageous both to the town and the band. Now, sir, as the band is advancing rapidly in a musical point of view, and wishing to compete in the band tournament to be held at Rowmanville in June next, and knowing that the do justice to ourselves and the town to which we belong that it is essentially necessary to purchase a few new instruments. I have thought if a list prepared for honorary membership were placed before our citizens that a number of gentlemen interested in the welfare of the band would enroll themselves as honorary members, and by so doing they would add such a tone and standing to the band that would infuse so much zeal, spirit and vicor into the active members that the band in a short time would both be a credit to and an honor to the town. No doubt, sir, you are well aware that all of our best bands throughout the country have their honorary membership roll. In some of our fine bands they exceed by far the active membership. The fee in most cases range from $5 to $10 per annum. By the addition of these gentlemen it will not only be a great financial benefit, but it will be the means of placing the band on a thorough systematic and business foundation, which is very much needed.
