Though the care were all loaded the contents were not injured.

-A Buffelo lady had a curious experience in travelling in New York lately. It was a stormy night and a high wind was blowing in herce guata, In passing from one car to another a miden black wrapped her white around the brake, and in freeing heraelf the cloth was badly rent. The pocket of the draw was torn off, and her pocketbook, containing money, tleketa, keyn and checks, sailed off into the black night.

A curious discovery was recently made in a graveyard at Placentia, Nfid. Two tombatones stand there bearing inscriptions in a language that the natives could not understand. A member of the English house of commons who visited Placential last summer copied the inscriptions and submitted them to Professor Robert Smith of Cambridge university, the well-known Hebraw and Ambic scholar, who pronounced them to be in the Basque language. The Basques frequences those shores nearly three centuries and

On Thursday of last week Mrs. W. E. Hoghurgh of Norwood met with a severa accident. She was engaged in house cleaning, and while mounted on a high board by some means slipped and fell, her board by some means slipped and fell, her head striking against a washesaid and inflicting a deep cut at the base of brain on the back part of her head. She was found lying on the floorin a pool of blood and in a state of unconscioueness. Medical aid was immediately summoned and restoratives applied, but the unfortunate lady still lies in a very precarious condition.

A horrible aecident occurred. Thursday evening at Coal Valley, near Meikeeport, I'a, which resulted in the burning to death of Mrs. Cook and her two children and in the total destruction of the house. Mrs. Cook was using petroleum to mindle after when the contents of the can ignited and an explosion followed. The woman ruesed out of the house with her clothing in a blaz and perished in the yard. The house took live and was consumed, and two little children who were in it were burned to death. A third child encaped a similar fate by following her mother out of the house. A lady went into one of the fachioushie Boston shops recently to buy a wrap and in course of search for the right thing pickcolor of which greatly pleased her. It was dark red, but heavily braided, and to her ed up from the counter & C tare it would have looked better without the elaborate trimming. Holding it up to inspect its peculiar cut, she said to the attendant: "I should likethis one. It is very handsome, except for all that common passementeric on the front," "Excuse me, madam," said a voice behind her in hangary tones, "Excuse me, that is my jacker, which I've just laid off to try on another!" The lady, who is keenly slive to situations, says she felt like "one of the thinks better left unsaid," in Punch, and got out of the way as quickly se possible.

-A Chicago despatch says: The herotem of John Vorbanck in raving his infant child from certain death nearly cost him his own life on Saturday afternoon. His 18 months old babe had toddled down to the railroad track near his house and sat down het ween the rails to play. The whistle from an approaching switch engine attracted the attention of the father, who was at work in the yard, and glascing up he was horrified to see the child sitting on the track watching the swift approach of the locomotive. The father rushed toward the track, and throwing himself in front the track, and throwing himself in front of the engine seized the child with both hands and throw it safely to one side. He can thrown across the rail and his left leg herribly mangled, and it was after words necessary to amputate it. He slee feed yed injuries about the hips and Official advices from St. Petersburg declare that there is a marked improve-They hold & ment in the Russian relations with Ger many, and that the entents cordinic with Prince Hismarck has been renewed despite the polemic over the Austro-Bussian treaty reserving the occupation of Bosnia. who received a severe sud probably fatal electric shock the other day, and a rather queer experience. A leak in the floor of the Western Union telegraph office allowed water to run down through upon the wires supplying an electricity in Abern's seloon underneath. The water unducted the fluid off upon the celling and ignited it. At the moment the flame burst forth Abern saw it, and, thinking to extinguish it in time, exepped upon a chair said opened sections water hottle. The stream had no somer hit the fluid than Abern dropped to the floor unconscious. The stream of liquid from the bottle to the overcharged wires formed a good conductor for the electricity, and only the fact that Abern had hold of the glass bottle saved him from instant death.

—So nervous and irritable has the case

-So nervous and irritable has the czar become that the causes of his trouble must never be mentioned to him in any way. In never be mentioned to him in any way. In order to obey his wishes in this respect the very newspapers he reads have to be specially prepared. He new receives mo other papers but those expressly printed for him; the vertext penny magazines of old, containing at best siew inoffentive despatches, the rest being made up of society government the series in recomming the blessings of his thrown in, recounting the blessings of his autocratic government without a strict adherence to truth in their chumeration. The herence to truth in their enumeration. The editor of this special sheet, to which the czar is the only subscriber, and which appears in a single number, saw no harm in inserting the reports of the feativities on the occasion of Emperor William's Obtain safety. "I shall never live to reach four source years and ten and have the benufour score years and ten and have the bene-diction of millions of my subjects shower-ed upon my head."

-A London Saturday cable eays: -" It may be convenient to sum up roughly the progress made in the parliamentary papers upon the crimes bill. According to parliamentary papers issued yesterday the government's original draught has become so unrecognizable that in order to make the debates invaligable in the beauty of the control of the contro debates intelligible, it has been necessary to issue to the members a reprint of the clause in the condition to which it has been traceformed. The six days' debate on that part of the clause which has been passed has swollen it to three times its original size. The nineteen lines that have been passed have grown to fifty-two in the process. Most of the additions take the form of checks and restrictions. The bill was gary hadly drawn no in order to secure ishates intelligible, it has been neces very badly drawn up in order to secure brevity, and the consequent shortness of the debate. Irishmen who visit London express profound concern for the enormous exodus of the Irish to America. Twelve thousand persons are said to have left since April, and there are no signs of a diminution. "The people," said one visitor, "have lost heart, and are flying from their native land as if it were smitten by & Destilence. Mr. Giadetone attended a luncheon given a few day ago to forty Nonconformist ministers at the residence of Dr. Parker of the City Timple, and made an address of an hour's length, the subject of the whole discourse being Ireland. He said there never had been any reason for charging the Parnellites with complicity in Irish crime. Six years ago, while prime minis-ter, he had denounced the Parnellites as dangerous. That was totally different from charging them with crime. The present utterances of Major Saunderson, of Lord Randolph Churchill and even of the Marquie of Saliabury, were more dangerous thes any utterances the Parnellites had ever made. Mr. Gladstone held that the alliance between the liberals and the Parneilites was a perfectly open one and one that had been brought about by community of belief. It compared favorably with the alliances between the conservatives and the Irish in 1881 and 1885. The coercion bill was an insidous attack on the press. The measure was designed to create new offences. It was a dishonoring and depracting bill. In conclusion Mr. Gisdatone vehemently denounced the gov-ernment's attitude on the Times charges against the Iriah members, and said the prosecution of the Times by the crown would be a horrible fares.
