The Eldon Situation-Ratepayor's Letter. To the Editor of THE CANADIAN POST.

SIR, - Some time ago a letter appeared in THE CANADIAN POST IN Which reference was made to the lawsuits carried on by the municipal council of Eldon against Mr. Bermingham for an alleged obstruction of the highway. It would appear by this letter that those lawsuits were uncalled for and unjustifiable, from which the township had suffered or was about to suffer the loss of a large amount of money is law costs and other incidental expenses. Men-tion was also made of the reeve, Mr. Me Eachren, having given some extraordinary and controdictory evidence at the trials, which does not seem possible he could do no. He sweets that Mr. Bermingham had so obstructed the road opposite lot 14 in the 9th con, "that the people could not pass and repass." This must have been a certainty—a complete obstruction. There could be no nitstake about it, and it must have been recently placed there, for he adds, "as they were wont to do." Then at the trial for damages he deliberately awears the foad had not been and was not ob-structed, but was of the full width; that the obstruction complained of was wholly confined to the road opposite lot 13, which I believe has since been femoved without a citizen for the purpose of annoying and figuring him, for if the last statement is true there was no kind of reason for any of the verations suits brought against Mr. Berningham when he was put to the tent bla and expense of defending himself, which shows the council to be not only evil disposed, but lacking in ordinary prodence and indunent. If this is a sample of their ability and of the manner they have been transacting business the sooner they are got rid of the better is will be for the interest and honor of the ratepayers. We have other use for our money besides laying it out for such a fletitious luxury as INW CORTAL I have been anxionaly looking for some reply to this letter, some steps taken to re-lieve the public mind of the apprehension caused by its contents, but so far not one of the council has publicly declared his inof the council has publicly declared his innocence. This convinces me more than ever that there is something radically wrong about the Edon council, something unexplainable in what they have been doing or they would not for a single moment submit to the serious imputation conveyed to the subject to the letter befored to ing of they would not for a single moment submit to the serious imputation conveyed to the public in the letter referred to, the has been invited to reply or call a meeting to explain his course to his constituents, but he does neither. We are told that the reeye is a man of wonderful shiftly and of great dignity, fit for any position from a counciller to a lord chancellor. He is now the warden, and as soon as Mr. fister on can be disposed of he expects to be an Mr. Surely such a man should be able to defend himself and explain his motives when his conduct as a public man has been publicly called in quention. That he does not do so leaves un room to surmine the probable reasons: let, that his conduct is such that it cannot be reasonably defended; 2nd, that he has not the appetity to formulate a reply; or, 3rd, that he is not as cunsing at offence as he was supposed to be. The municipality of Eldon has been strugging for nearly twenty years under the presentes of a heavy railway debt. There has been much hungling and mismanant ment since, and the affeirs of the township have not into a very bad chape. What is required to be done—to scene a new loss at the lowest rue of interest, with as little expense as possible, and put the function of the lowest rue of interest, with as little expense as possible, and put the function of the lowest rue of interest, with as little expense as possible, and put the function of the lowest rue of interest, with as little expense as possible, and put the function of the lowest rue of interest, with as little expense as possible, and put the function of the lowest rue of interest, with as little expense as possible, and put the function of the lowest rue of interest, with as little expense as possible, and put the function of the lowest rue of interest, with as little expense of our rue of interest, with as little expense of our rue of interest, with as little expense of our rue.

Now let us grindly a dismary of antique. Now let us grindly a dismary of the patrice can have some confidence must be patrice on have some confidence. Not let us the patrice of the wints in a ridiculous lawent and spand over a thousand dollars of the patrice was few a motive so manifestly wrong and unjust that every must in the present council count to be shaused of it.

After all that has been safefit is incombent upon the council to either reply to "Ratepayer" or call a meeting at once succeptain their conduct to the people. The people are certainly entitled to that much consideration, and not to give it to them is very much like treating them with contempt. If the councilors have not the course for them when they come in January to give an secount of their sewardship, as they will then have to do. A man who cannot or will not explain his publicate to those who have a right to sake it of him is unfit for any public trust.

FENELON FALLS. SUICIDE.—On Saturday last Mrs. Vanette who lived on the Monck Road, within two or three miles of Gooderham, poisoned her-self with Paris Green; but why she committed the rash act we have been unable to learn. Dr. Giles, the Hallburton coroner, held an inquest, and verdict in accordance with the was returned.

THE CROPS. We are sorry to learn that the hope entertained some time ago that the hope entertained some time ago that there would be good crops in this vicinity is not to be realized, the intense heat having neutralized the effect of the rather shundant rain. Wheat, we are told, will not only be below the average in quantity, but will be light in weight, and prices are likely to be low, as the yield of that grain in India and Russia is very shundant. Coarse grains are said to be no better than than wheat, and pease in particular are turning out out very badly. Hay is a fair crop, and a good many loads have already been sold in the village at 33 per ton, which is about the usual figure. The shove is hand upon the statements made recently by a few furmers, and possibly others ly by a few furmers, and possibly others may not speak as discouraging.

OBSTRUCTING & NAVIGABLE RIVER.—At Onstructing a Navigable River.—At the sittings of the division court held in this village on Monday last, Judge Desir presiding, there were only about half a dozen cases to dispose of, but one of them was of considerable interest to all in favor of the free navigation of the Feneloa river, and the result of the trial gave great satisfaction to everybody but the defendants, and, possibly, a few others in the same line of business, who would like to have the privilege of stopping navigation whenever it suits them to do so. As stated two or three weeks ago, in a paragraph on the log three weeks sgo, in a paragraph on the log nuleance, Captain Frank Crandell of the steamer Eva sued Mr. Strickland, lumbernuleance, Captain Frank Crandell of the steamer Rive ened Mr. Strickland, lumberman, for 360 damages in consequence of the river being so full of the defendant's sawlogs on certain days last summer that the boat could not get up to the Falls. The case for the plaintiff, who was in court in person, was conducted by Mr. Thos. Stewart, and Mr. Strickland was represented by Mr. John A. Berron. His honor, in his comments on the case, said that not even the government had the right to block up a navigable river; that if he had been in Capt. Crandell's place he would have cut the boom and let the lose go; and that if lumbermen to suit their own convenience let their eawlogs over the slide in such quantities as to stop boats from running, they must take the consequences. In this case, as the plaintiff had not proved and could not swear to the amount of damages sustained, he would give judgment for a nominal amount, namely 310, but if other other cases of a similar kind came before him he would not deal with them so leniently as with the defendant. It is to be hoped that the above decision will lead to the shatement, if not to the suppression, of the wild nulsance," which is not only detrimental to the interests of steambest owners, but is a source of great annoyance to such of our villagers as are fond of aquatic sports. It is out of all reason that for days at a time and occasionally for a whole week the river should be filled from shore to shore with logs, and we have very little found the plassure of canocing or beating can obtain legal redress as well as the present of a craft that is run for profit. The high ways are onen to all; why not the navigable rivers. — [Gasette.
