The government might close his lips, but there was a spirit left in Ireland to day that all the baroneta at their command could not all-men and a strong force of military e-corted O'Brien to the court house, where a formal charge was laid against him and he was remanded to jail. The streets were crowded with people. The mayor complained to Magiatrate Gardiner of the presence of the minitary and police, which, he said, were not needed, and were calculated to irritate the populace... The streets through which O'Brien was taken to the jail were lined with troops. Stones were thrown at the police executing Mr. O'Brien, and several of them were wounded. The police charged the crowd, using their batons freely and injusting many of the appearance. John McKeegan was fined $50 and $1.50 conts at licitevitic for selling liquor to an Indian.
