Mr. O'Donnell will commence his experiments with about fifty young birds. When properly trained he will give the birds to the captains of vessels, who will take them out four or five miles, gradually increasing the distance until the West Indies are of the weather on the several islands. It is calculated a pigeon will make the trip between Nassau and Key West, about sixty miles, in one hour and a bail.

-A despatch from Kingston dated Sept. —A despatch from Kingston dated Sept. 16 says: There have not been in years as destructive bush fires as those which have burned this year. They are still consuming valuable timber, fences, buildings and in some instances the crops of the season. At Exanville, in the next county, fires are raging in every direction. On Sunday morning one fire started below the Cascades and by night had travelled half a mile towards the village. The fires in the vicinity of Golden lake are probably the largert. The farmers have been night and day battling against the flames. Mr. Brisco was working between two fires when a co was working between two fires when a heavy wind arose, spreading the fire so rapidly as to encircle him. -A Dublin cable says: Details of the murder of Constable Whelehan by moonlighters at Liedoonvaare on Sunday night lighters at Liedoonvasare on Sunday night have reached this city. The police, having learned that a party of moonlighters would visit the house of a farmer named Sexton, made arrangements for their capture. Conetable Whelehan, accompanied by about a dozen other officers, went to the place designated. Five of the force were placed in Sexton's house and the others in a shed near by, while Whelehan himself acted as sentined in front of the house. When the moonlighters appeared on the scene the door of the house was opened and three of them rushed in with loaded rifles in their hands. They were in the act of searching Sexton when the police secreting for the state police secretion of the searching form rushed out, and a flerce encounter ensued. Two meenlighters who among others had been left outside now tried to make their sceape, but the police placed in the shed prevented this and draws them into the house. —An extraordinary celebration of her majesty's jubilee took place on a recent Saturday afternoon at Densby Dale, near Barnsley, in the presence of thirty thousand spectators. A monster pie, weighing two and a quarter tons, was provided. The pie, which was baked in a specially constructed oven, contained sixty stunes of flour, 230 pounds of butter and lard, 225 fowls, pigeons, geese, turkeys and grouse and 67 rabbits and hares. A procession was formed to the field, where the pie was distributed. The barricades were broken down by the thousands of people who were apxious to get a portion and the distributors had a warm time of it.
