BEGINNING 1888

"This is the beginning of the end, the first week of the year."

Prospective and Retrospective.

The commencement of a fresh business year, to an enterprising Merchant, is a time for the most serious reflection. A review of twelve months past will, indeed, afford ample food for reflection for most men, and is in many likely to prove a most salutary practice. In the case of a business man, if his affairs have been prosperous throughout the year he must not lose sight of the business habits and governing principles which contributed to bring about that pleasing state of affairs; and on the other hand, if all has not been well with him he should institute a most searching inquiry, find out the locality of the "leak" and take measures to repair the damage done to his business.

It is pleasing to be able to state that the past business, with us, has been a very successful one. The satisfaction given the public in service and goods has been aptly demonstrated by a large increase in the army of purchasers, who appreciated thoroughly the advantage of purchasing from a stock combining the greatest variety and best qualities, kept constantly replenished with fresh goods.

Our goods have been found to give utmost satisfaction to housekeepers. From a Cake of Soap to a Chest of Tea or a Barrel of Sugar the quality of each article sold is satisfactory for the money, and our stock is so complete that the intending purchaser, however scant or plethoric her purse, can find what she requires, and have the assurance at the same time that what she obtains has equivalent value for the money.

Several carloads of Staple Goods have been received since the holidays, and the stock will be found as fresh and well-assorted as was the case previous to and during the festive season. We are kept constantly repairing the inroads made upon the stock. You can't well do better than give our store a trial for the year just commencing.

Some telling bargains in HANGING LAMPS. Even if you have not thought of possessing one it will pay to come to a sudden decision. Can not well be cheaper.

Don't let it escape you that we keep the PURE GOLD SPECIALTIES---Baking Powder, Spices, Essences, Coffees. Flavoring Extracts, etc. During the holidays there was a deservedly large demand for these goods---consequently pleased housekeepers. With thanks for past favors, and soliciting a continuance of the same.

New Year's Greeting.

"May Peace and Plenty reign in every household."

Since starting in business about a month ago we have met with greater success than anticipated, and feel grateful to old friends and many new ones who have looked us up.

In this connection it is proper to say that those who have not yet called upon us are invited to do so. We shall at all times make it a point to do all in our power to satisfy purchasers and render our relations satisfactory.

Our position is very favorable towards accomplishing this. The stock is new and fresh and is replete with every line found in a family supply

THE POST CAMPAIGN. THE GOOD WORK GOES BRAVE. LY ON.

Our Popular Premiums-Taking like Hot Cakes-Selections from our Mail Bag-A few Hints for Subscribers.

The reception accorded the popular premiums offered with THE Post has far surpassed our expectations. Two additional orders for "The Family Physician" have been necessitated, and a third will be mailed to-morrow in order to meet the demand. This is the big book that goes with THE Post for $1.50 paid in advance; 9c. or 10c. additional for postage when sent by mail,

Two Inches Thick.

A Testimonial from the Back Country. Monmouth, Dec. 29th, 1887.

I consider "The Fami y Physician" and The Post the best value I nave ever received. The book is just the thing for the back townships, as it will save money, doctor bills, and much anxiety of mind. I can recommend it to my fellow backwoodsmen.

John Parker.

Little Britain, Dec. 14, 1887.

I have received "The Family Physician" and it is fully what it is stated to be-a fine large beok, very useful and valuable. I have taken THE Post for over twenty five years—that shows I consider it a good paper.

JOHN SAILES.

"HOME AND HEALTH."

This is an exceedingly taking premium and a very valuable and useful little book. It goes with THE Post for $1.00; 3c. addi. tional for postage. The two buoks are not given. Those who wish to take advantage of this offer should pay up to January, 1889, at once, as after Saturday, 21st inst., the offer WILL BE WITHDRAWN. If our supply is exhausted before that date only those who come first will get the book. Examine address-labels. New subscribers are en. titled to this book.

FROM OUR MAIL BAG. We make room for a few from many letters of the same nature : FRED. WERSE, Minden: Two subscriptions and "I wish you a happy New Year." A Methodist minister writes: "I am a regular reader of THE POST, which I regard as a thor-oughly live journal and ably conducted."

W. R. Dick, Winnipeg: "Euclosed please find $1.03 This will pay for "Home and Health" and The Post for next year. We can't keep house without The Post."

house without THE Post."

W. Calder, Spence: "Euclosed find $1.00 for renewal of m; subscription for your valuable paper for the year 1898. THE Post is always a welcome visitor in our midst, as we get all the news from our old home every week."

J. B. WHITE Coboconk; in remitting, writes:
"I fear I am a day or so too late to secure your premium for THE Post, but you will please overlook the slight neglect and send me THE Post for this year, and the "Home and Health" premium also, as I am only a day late. I cannot do without the paper anyway."

A Presbyterian minister writes: "I have now, as you know, been taking THE Post for a number of years, and although I take a number of other papers I do not mean to drop THE Post. Enclosed is $ 60. You will understand by this that in renewing my subscription I have, like many others, taken advantage of your liberal offer in the matter of premiums. Send me The Family Physician. Wishing you the compliments of the season."

To Distant Subscribers.

In answer to enquiries we may state that we cannot send "Home and Health" to subscribers in the States owing to the customs, but we have arrangements made by which 'Our Family Physician" can be mailed to any address there for $1.50 and 10c. additional for postage. A Gentle Reminder.

As overdue accounts for THE Post (including printing and advertising) are now being passed as speedil; as possible to our solicitor for collection it may happen that remittances may cross in the mails our solicitor's reminders. Wherever that happens the party receiving our solicitor's accounts will simply await a receipt, which will be forwarded by return mail. But the best way is to remit promptly at once and thereby save c sts. We mean business; and so does our solicitor.

BE PRECISE.

Subscribers are specially requested in remitting to write name and post office plainly. A subscriber (at Balsover, it is thought) sends in two dellars but argiects to give his name. We are not particular, of course, and will not object if a few hundred do the same, but on the whole it will be more satisfactory to give name.

We have obtained a limited number of a par icularly pleasing premium 'Our Portrait Gallery," giving flue litho-tinted engravings of Queen Victoria. Lord Lan-downe. Sir John Racdonald, Mr. Blake, Mr. Mackensie and Mr. Mowat. A handsome pertfolio for the parlor table. With The Puer for 18% for $1.16.

I hear that private remonstances are being addressed to the premier. No doubt there will be a public expression of these feelings at a formal meeting of the party before the meeting of parisament."... In an interview while in Paris Mr. Gladotone diamaged the Irish commissioners rent reduction decree as a "tramendous deciding," and said he was thunderstruck at the server. He also said that the bory cables, inving differented the tenants, would not allowed the landlords.

SCHOOL EXAMINATION AND PRESENTArion .- Friday, the 24th inst., was a day of pleasure and happiness for both old and young in our section. On that day visitors from all sides poured into our school-room until at two o'clock it was crowded to its utmost capacity. Among the more prominent visions were our much esteemed pastor, Father Connolly, Mr. W. Allingham and Mr. P. J. Maher, all of whom very kindly assisted in the work of examining. The room was very tastefully decorated with specimens of writing, mottors, drawings and evergreens. Many expressions of admiration were passed especially on the drawings.

Map drawing seems to be a specialty with Mr. Matthew's pupils. A marked evidence of the pain-t king and efficient teacher which Mr. Matthews has proved himself to be since be came amongst us was the many and well delivered recita-tions with which the children entertained their visitors. These were given at intervals between the hearing of the different classes, calling forth the hearty laughter and applause of everybody. The auswerand applause of everybody. The answering in the different subjects upon which the children were examined was well above the average. After the examination was over, Miss Mary E. Mu ray and Miss Mary E. Tracy cam: forward on behalf of themselves and fellow pupils, and presented Mr. Matthews with a handsome sented Mr. Matthews with a handsome gold scarf-pin and the following address:

Mr. Heary Matthews: Dear Teacher,—It is with the greatest pleasure that we, your pupils, learn you are to remain with us for another term. It seems a mere lapse of time since you first came amengst us; but short though it be, it is surprising the number of friends you have won. It is mostly to you we are indebted for what knowledge we have acquired; and knowing it is beyond us to repay you for it; we offer you this small present and hepe you will accept it as a token of the regard and esteem in which you are held by the pupils of school section no. 4 Km ty.—Signed on behalf of the pupils,

MARY E MURRAY,

LEONARD CLANCY,

MARY E. TACY.

DANIEL COSTELLO.

After the presentation and address Mr. Matthews thanked his pupils in very Matthews thanked his pupils in very warm terms for the handsome present and very kind address it pleased them to offer him. He referred with pride to the four years spent in their school, and assured them that the pleasure of another term with them would be his as well as theirs. Father Connolly, Mr Allingham and Mr. Mahar expressed themselves as being highly pleased with what they had seen and heard during the afternoon and congratulated Mr. Matthews and the rate-pavers on the success of the examinations. congratulated Mr. Matthews and the ratepayers on the success of the examinations.
Mr. Mahar spoke in his usual happy style.
He felt there was a great work being done in the school. The cool and collected manner in which the children had given the recitations allotted to them, the kindly feelings which evidently existed between pupils and teacher, and the great number of parents present to encourage the teacher and children was ample testimony of this. He congratulated the parents and Mr. Matthews most heartly on the success of the day. The proceedings were brought to a close by tendering a vote of thanks to all those who favored the school with their presence that day.
