On February 18th there died at the homeead on the south branch in the township of harlottenburgh, Co. Glengarry, Mrs. Catherine ichellan, widow of Angus McLellan, deceased at the advanced age of 35 years. This old lady was a remarkable type of those stalwart Highlanders who itret settled Glengarry, and who in addition to their great strength of will were noted for their immense bodily vigor. She was a near relative of Finnan and John McDonald, who will be remembered in connection with the history of the Hudson Bay Co. in Canada. Finnan being especially brought to public notice by the incidents of his encounter with a maddened

a common hunter's knife as his only weapon.

—Mesers. Sadler, Dundas & Co. have had a gang of men in their limits in Monmouth township, about fifteen miles from Haliburton, all winter getting out stock—both logs and timber—for their mill here, and no more trouble is experienced in gutting the quantity and even quality desired than in former seasons. A timber limit somewhat resembles a berry patch—it will stand a deal of picking over.

The second grand carnival under the auspices of the Citizens' band will be held this evening (Friday) at the palace skating rink. Various causes detracted somewhat from the success of the first one held, and it is to be hoped this one will be better patronized, as it certaintainly deserves to be. The prizes offered are liberal and should provoke keen rivalry. Let the band be engauraged by your presence.

—A vigorous fire alarm sounded about 1.30 cm. Monda: morning aroused a goodly number of citizens from their peaceful slumbers. The flaries cast a bright reflection over the town, and many likely imagined that the fire was in their immediate vicinity. It proved to be a frame building just approaching completion, situated near the agricultural park, and owned and about to be compied by Mr. Stephen Oliver, to which he had transferred most of his house hold goods. The fire is supposed to have originated from a stove in which a fire was kept for the purpose of drying the building. The house was insured for $300

McNeely & Walters for $23,000 The building committee decided after carefully considering the question to sak for separate tenders from the different trades, with the confident expectation that the cost can be kept within the estimate. The Chatham building, after which the Linesay institute is modelled, cost, we understand, only $21,500 complets in every respect, with furniture and heating, and the building has two rooms more than ours, a great many more brick, and is faced with Ohlostone. In view of this fact the board expect to have the building constructed within their estimate. the purpose of drying the building. The house was insured for $300

—Travellers in the north country report that immense quantities of eardwood, ties, telegraph pols, hardwood logs, etc., have been got out by the settlers and piled along the railway for shipment to different points. The season has been an exceptionally favorable one for this industry, the snow not being too deep and the awamps being tightly frozen. This satisfactory condition of affairs and the large amount paid out by lumbermen for supplies of various kinds, as well as the exhibitanting prospect of an experimental farm in the near future, should cause a feeling of contentment to pervade the entire community, and bring to all a realizing sense of the Good, the True and the Beautiful,—to quote from our Bobcaygeon cotem

Marshall has a frame house on the lot to the south and will have it bricked in the spring.... —On Monday evening another debate took place in the rooms of the Catholic literary assobiation upon the subject: "Reselved, that Wellington was a greater man than Napoleon." The affirmative was ably upheld by Mr. Herb. Harry, the negative receiving the careful consideration of Mr. Jos. Kennedy. The attendance was large and great interest was evirced by those present in the subject under discussion. Dr. Lynch occupied the chair. The time taken by each speaker in "stating his case" was about half, an hour, and the many original points brought out gave evidence of the carefulness with which the subject matter had been prepared by the young debaters. The chairman congratulated them upon the manner in which they had handled their subject, and said it was a difficult matter to decide between the points made, but believed that Wellington, as at Waterloo, had a triffe the best of it.

—The Peterboro Peview says: "The checker match on Wednesday between Messrs. Robert Oryell, Lindsay, and Thomas Marr, Peterboro, had an unsatisfactory ending. The match was $25 a side, the winner of the most games out of twenty-one to take the money. Ten games were played on Wedne-day night, each man winning four and the other two being drawn. At 11 o'clock it was decided to stop playing and commence again at 6 o'clock in the morning At the appointed hour Mr. Marr was on hand, but his opponent failed to show up until an hour afterwards and then he stated that he was not prepared to continue the match, and after some parleying the match and the stakes were drawn."

The audience was large and all were exceedingly well. A good amount was realized in aid of library.

-A meeting of the pastors and Sabbath school workers of the town was held on Thursday to arrange for the holding of a county Sunday school convention. A synopsis of the program will be given next week.

The Peterboro Y. M. C. A. have notified the Lindsay branch that they will send a contingent of their picked and tried debaters to Lindsay in the course of a couple of weeks to discuss the question of "Woman Suffrage." The communication has caused a flutter in the Y. M. C. A. debating circles, and the champions are already over-looking their armour and preparing for the fray. A large audience will no doubt be attracted by the interesting character of the subject selected. The Peterboro Y. M. C. A. male quartette club will accompany the party.

—Tuesday morning two rinks left towa for Bobcaygeon, bent upon a friendly game with the curiers of that famous burg. The ice road was chosen, good time was made, and jokes and song, interspersed with curling anecdotes, whiled the time pleasantly away. The 'port' was made in due season, and friendly greetings exchanged; after which a bountiful dinner was partaken of at the Goulais house with a heartiness at once peculiarly suggestive of the curling fraternity. The watch-word, "Lindsay expects every man to do his duty," was then passed round, and way was made for the rink about 1 30 p.m. (80 far this reads first-rate and we absolve ourselves from the consequences.) The ice was found to be in first-class condition, the 'Caygeon curlers were on hand eager for the fray, and play was started about two o'clock, resulting in the visiting rinks being roundly defeated, as will be readily seen by consulting the score:
