For over two hours the attention of the audience was held spellbound by a rapid succession of beautiful views. Several tine views taken at the time of the rebellion in the North-west, showing the troops at various tations were exhibited, one in which the familiar face and form of Col. Deacon were easily recognizable proving of exceptional interest to those present. Sir John Macdonald and Edward Blake beamed benignantly from the canvas upon the multitude in turn. At appropriate intervals music was rendered by the chair, and Miss L. Begley of Peterboro, always a favorite, contributed two numbers, "Ave Marie" and 'Killarney," in charming voice.

Dundas & Flavelle Bros. Spring Millinery

Opening.

The spring opening of Mesers. Dundas & Flavelle Bros. surpassedinextent and magnificence their elaborate openings of former seasons. The whole of the spacious premises were on display, each department apparently vieing with the other for supremacy in elegance and taste. Silks dress goods, linens and staples, prints, embroidery, and small wares were shown on the ground floor. Nothing ceuld surpass the taste and judgment shown in the selection of the dress goods and silks, and seldom has a season shown the variety of colors and new shades as are exhibited by the firm this season. The mere arrangement of some of these in their window speaks for the decorative taste in the establishment.

The impression so favorably made down-stairs was more than sustained on reaching the second flat. Between the magic of beautiful goods and the crowding of an eager public to see the season's novelties, it was extremely difficult to view in detail. The centre of attraction though was around the trimmed millinery. The hats and bonnets, seemingly in endless quantity, were eagerly scanned and the warm and even extravagant terms of praise must have been gratifying to Miss Fogg, the lady in charge. Mantles and mantle goods came in for a large share of notice, also a magnificent range of ladles' dolmans were on display, principally shown in beaded grenadine, trimmed with lace—a garment decidedly appropriate for summer, being both elegant and cool and no doubt must be well received. Parasols in this department are evidently a prominent article in a well dressed ladies' outfit this season. The variety of materials and colors as well as the elegance of handles make them very prominent.

The carpet department, lying back of the millinery room, exhibited row upon row and tier upon tier of handsome tapestry and Brussels carpet, with borders to match. The floor was covered with different patterns showing the newest designs and colers in the trade. The walls were hung with rich tapestry curtains and also enabling them to keep on equality of price with the largest city houses. Evidently relle Bros. surpassedinextent and magnificence their elaborate openings of former seasons. The

In order to give every one an opportunity so looking through their store and show-room they remained open until eight o'clock Wednesday evening, though no goods were sold after the usual hour. After eight o'clock the wicket was closed and locked, but the lewer flat remained brilliantly illuminated until after eleven o'clock. The enterprise of this firm in presenting such a stock in our town, and the trouble taken in throwing it open for such a display is deserving of the warmest commendation. As elsewhere

This will be the "return match' between the two associations. A concert will be held on the occasion, of which the debate will form a part..... Messrs. F. F. McPherson and R. M. Anderson will be Lindsay's chosen debaters and will defend the negative.

—Mr. Meikle, evangelist, who was announced to begin a series of meetings here in the operatous next Sunday, has been persuaded to remain ten days longer in London, owing to the increasing interest in his services there. This will be a temporary disappointment to the people of Lindsay but will no doubt prepare them more fully for appreciating him when he comes. He will be here on the 22nd inst. at the latest.

—There was a large congregation at St. Paul's Easter Sunday, and the Rev. Mr. Marsh presched an eloquent and appropriate sermon. The musical portion of the service was exceedingly attractive and very creditable to the choir, and the leader and organist, Miss Leary. The Te Deum and Jubilate (both Jackson's) were very effectively rendered and the anthem "Thou hast taken my Lord away," the solo being taken by Miss Leary, was greatly admired. A good choir and fine music are most attractive and helpful in the service, and in this respect St. Paul's is to be congratulated.

MERCHANT TAILORING.

What looks prettier in the early Spring than a handsome man of fine physique with a nobby, new City Store
SUIT topped off with our new "LORD STANLEY HAT."
Many there are who are good looking, and yet lack in form.
It is necessary therefore for the purpose of improving your physique, to patronize a tailor who is capable of supplying the deficency: a little added here; a little there; a curved seam one place and a straight seam in another completely transforms a man of ordinary appearance into perfect form. To forms a man of ordinary appearance into perfect form. To accomplish such results requires experience and skill, an artistic and mechanical eye.

Our Mr. CATHRO possesses the above qualifications and is not only willing but anxious to prove his ability to please you. Our stock of Imported and Domestic Suitings, Coatings and Trouserings is perfect, we have a range of prices to please all. Our values we will leave to your own judgment for approval.

NEXT WEEK.

We will elaborate on Dress Goods, Black and Colored Silks, Dress trimmings and Spring Dry Goods generally. In the meantime, if you are on the buy, please come to the City Store, get quotations and take a look through, Remembers, we always doesn it a pleasure to show goods. ber, we always deem it a pleasure to show goods.

FASHIONS.

It is not given to every man to be so miraculously handsome that he can affect indifference to the HAT he wears. The majority of our customers are good-looking but we have noticed several of late who have fallen off considerably in appearance, the result solely of a limited supply

This is a serious matter and must be looked into. Step to the front, gentlemen, at once and do your duty by your country, by yourselves, by us and b(u)y a HAT.
