Thomas Munday, Sharon Grove, Ky., writes: "Several months ago my hair commenced falling out, and in a few weeks my head was almost bald. I tried many remedies, but they did no good. I finally bought a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor, and, after using only a part of the contents, my head was covered with a heavy growth of hair. THROWN FROM A WAGON.—On Scugge last Monday evening Mr. George Rood's son Cora, a bright lad of nine years, was thrown from a wagon, the wheels running over him, causing fracture of several ribs and puncture of the lung, filling the lung space with blood and air. He is in a very critical state and not likely to recover. Since then we have heard that inflammation had supervened.

A CRITICAL OPERATION.—Last week Mrs. George Morrish of Port Perry had removed from her person an inward tumor, naarly the size of a patent pail. She went up to the Toronto general hospital by the advice of her family physician to be operated upon as her last hope. Drs. A. H. Wright, Cameron and her own attendant were the surgeons, besides the hospital staff. She is, we are happy to state, progressing favorably, and if nothing unforseen occurs expects to be back again within two weeks. She had been in very feeble health for some considerable time previous.—[Standard.

Later was considerable sport at the market yard the other day over a pig purchased from a farmer who lives about a hundred miles from Brooklin. Mr. Farmer thought he would play a joke on the butcher. He had sold a pig by weight at six cents per lb. In order to make it weigh he feeds it lots of chop to the extent of a sack or two. In bringing it to town about a barrel of water was added to the hog's load, and when the meal became wet it began to swell up. Soon it became so extended at its diameter that its legs would not touch the ground and finally it "busted." The buyers went back and made the granger give up several dollars, but killed the pig and sold the meat at a large profit on the first rate. Then the fun came in when some wags went to the farmer and told him the pig was killed by letting the upper deck of a car fall on it; but after a short time thinking the good farmer remembered about the cargo of meal fed the hog and held his peace.—[Chronicle.

Poisoned by a Worm-Bite.—The genial postmistress of Manchester has been laid up with a poisoned arm the result of being bitten by a wood-worm. The doctor said that had the arm not been attended to when it was it would inevitably have developed into blood poisoning.

How Mr. Smith Grows Peas.—Mr. J. Smith, one-half mile east of the Grand Trunk station, Whitby, one of our leading and most successful farmers, has ventured out of the usual practice of sowing peas. His method commends itself to the farming community in which he resides, namely, the sewing in drills sufficiently far apart to be cultivated by horses. They are sown by a spout drill, with the first two spouts tied near together, say about three inches, making a double row; the third spout is closed up and the next two brought close together, etc., thus leaving a space about 16 inches, which he has cultivated twice—once when the peas were about two or three inches high; again in about two or three inches high; again in about two dry the series per day. He has been growing peas for some years for Mr. H. W. Wilcox, who has a large number of bushels let out. We would recommend farmers growing peas or those who intend growing in future any of the short varieties to visit the genial, warm-hearted

A FARRENS PROCESSION.—Our little village was awakened from its peaceful quiet by the rumbling of farmers' wagons, which were coming in from all directions and wending their way toward the station. It was about eleven o'clock in the foremoon when the last wagon passed that way. The question with us at first was "What does it mean?' and the answer came back "It must be a farmers' pienic," and knowing that picnics are all the rage at this pleasant time of the year we took it for granted that this answer must be correct. But, however, we were soon convinced that such was not the case, for in less than two hours from the time the last wagon pessed the street leading from the hotel to the atation was occupied by one of the grandest processions ever witnessed north of the city of Toronte. The wagons were formed in a line and each wagon contained one of the celebrated all steel Deering binders, manufactured by the Watson Mfg Co. of Ayr. Ontario, and sold by their genial agent, Mr. David McBain of Gamebridge. Mr. McBain had his customers drawn up in lines in front of Mr. Roach's hotel, where the horses were cared for and the men treated with the greatest cordiality. After partaking of a sumptuous repast prepared by Mr. and Mra. Roach the happy purchasers repaired to their respective homes with many feelings of thanks to Mr. McBain and the Watson Mfg Co. By adopting the following metto, "Good goods and honest dealings," a motto followed by the firm he represents, Mr. McBain has succeeded in doing the greatest amount of business done by any one agent in the county of Ontarie. He will have over two carloads of goods to deliver yet for this season. He is a genial, reliable agent, and the goods he sells are second to nome.

GREAT INJURY TO HEALTH,

The great danger in the traffic in adulterated food arises from the deception that is practised by manufacturers usually classing such goods as pure. This is almost invariably done when the adulterant is one that is injurious te health, For instance, manufacturers of Ammonis, Alum or Lime Baking Powders not only fail to inform the public of the real character of their goods, but carefully conceal the fact that they are made from these poisonous articles. Most of these manufacturers also claim that their articles are absolutely pure. No consumer will buy Ammonia or Alum Baking Powders knowingly, for it is well understood that they are detrimental to health. The sale of Ammonia and Alum Baking Powders as pure and wholesome articles, is, therefore, criminal.

Alum goods found.

It is a suggestive fact that DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER has been found, by the several State Commissioners, Government Chemists and eminent food analysts, to contain neither Ammonia, Lime or Alum, while the Royal Baking Powder was found to contain Ammonia and Lime in large quantities. The chief service of Ammonia is to cheapen the product; but, being a caustic of a powerful nature, it produces serious effects on the delicate membranes of the stomach intestines and kidneys; more particularly of infants and children, and especially when the Ammonia is taken into the system day after day, and almost with every meal. after day, and almost with every meal. This is said by physicians to be one of the causes of indigestion, dyspepsia, and those painful diseases of the kidneys now so prevalent.

Adulteration with Ammonia is quite as much to be dreaded as with Alum, which has always received the most emphatic condemnation from food analysts, physicondemnation from food analysts, physicians and chemists.

To determine the purity of any Baking Powder, make this simple test: Mix in a tin cup two heaping teaspoonfuls of cold water, place it over the fire, stirring constantly, allow it to boil thoroughly, or until the gas escapes freely; then smell. If adulterated, that unspeakable odor, proving the source of Ammonia, will be plainly detected. The presence of Ammonia in most cases indicates that Alum is used, as nearly all the Alum of commerce contains Ammonia. Pure Baking Powder will not give the faintest Ammoniacal odor.

I have received the agency for Victoria county for the Celebated Karn Organ, manufactured at Woodstock Ont., received the only silver medal, highest award over all manufacturers, at the Dominion Exhibition, 1883, S. John, N.B. This was the last medal ever awarded Organin the Dominion of Canada.

The Karn Organ also received the last medal awarded Organs at the Toronto Industrial Exhibition, Toronto,

Those in want of a good Organ should call at my store and see for themselves. I intend to sell cheap, as I keep no men and horses on the road, therefore I don't want any profits on men and horses.
