Several years ago, James Birchard, of parien, Conn., was severely III. The doctors said he was in Consumption, and that they could do nothing for him, but advised him, as a last resort, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking this medicine, two or three months, he was pronounced a well man. His health remains good to the present day. J. S. Bradley, Malden, Mass., writes ;

-An Oahkeah, Wis., despatch says: A curious story is told here of the miraculous recovery of Emma Bennet, a young lady who resides with her brother, William Bennet, a farmer near this city. For nine Years Miss Emma, who is now 32 years old, has been a bed-ridden invalid. Her disease was called consumption of the blood. During her pine work and could ing her nine years confinement she could not utter a loud word. Part of the time she was able to lisp in a faint whisper. Frequently she was thought to be dead. For upwards of three years one side of her body was paralyzed, rendering her still more helplas. helpless. Sunday, while the family was at dinner, from the sick room suddenly came a full round voice, singing strongly and sweetly the words: "He rose, He rose, He rose from the dead." The startled family rushed into the room, and there, was the sick girl, sitting in bed singing the words quoted. She asked to be helped to her feet, saying that she felt that she could

Mr.Cosine took the young woman up in his arms and carried her to the nearest pharmacy, where she found stimulants and extra wraps. Mr. Cosine's interest went further—he hired a sled and escorted the lovely maiden to her home. Rewarding him, the rescued lady, Miss Mary McEwan, has become his wife. The wedding took place on Sunday evening.

Sunday evening.

—Dr. McKay, member for Cape Breton in the Nova Scotia house, recently had a remarkable secape from death by lightning. An examination of his clothing revealed a small hole in the back of his overcoat collar, such a hole as a pistol ball would make, and similar holes in his undercoat and vest, but smaller and lower down. From this point down the spine the skin was slightly burned, leaving a somewhat zigzag shaped mark; thence down the leg, scorching it slightly, and to the foot, where there is a burn. The shoestring was completely cut on this foot. on this foot.

—At Trouville, a fashionable resort for the French, a pretty girl wore her hair floating upon her shoulders, with butterflies, brilliantly-tinted smail birds and dragon flies fastened upon it, so as to look as though captured in a golden mesh. Her small bonnet was covered with birds and butterflies, and her light blue gauze dress was dotted over with others, and several kinds of insects as well. She represented Air. Her sister, a dark haired girl, was Water. Her sea-green gown was trimmed in eccentric fashion with seaweed and her hair, floating like her sister's, was similarly decked. -At Trouville, a fashionable resort for similarly decked.

—A young lady named Miss McDonald, an only and orphan child, with considerable property coming to her at an early date, was to have been married to Edward Bryan, a worthy swain of Varney. He visited Durham to get a license and a clergyman, but only reached his home two hours after the minister. In the meantime the bride to be, annoyed by his delay, had gone off with the groomsman. In spite of all entreaty she would not come back, and surrendered the dress and shoes which the intended bridegroom claimed as his property. The next day the groomsman and the bride were married at Hanover.

Just like every other boom, the Ontario one has collapsed, and the small speculators are left high and dry. Quite a number left St. Thomas to reside in California, and when they arrived there succeeded in procuring work. One man writes home a very doleful account of how he "got leit." All the money he could spare went to buy a lot and build a house, for which, when finished, he expected at least 850 per month rent. When the house was finished there was no one to rent it and purchasers for real estate had vanished.— St. Thomas Times.

-A London cable says: The result of a conference Thursday of Parnell's advisers was that a further application will be made for a commission to take testimony in the United States, and also to release Dillon on bail during the sessions of the commission. The first is considered a bold move move of Parnell's, and in regard to the second the judges have the necessary power to accede to the request under the commission act. There is a prospect of Dillon's temporary release. The interest in the case may be judged from the fact that no fewer than fifty-lines newspapers will be represented at the sessions of the commission. Parnell's expenses will be enormous, but they will be covered by the subscriptions, although the efforts too in this direction have been rather spasmodic. A central fund is wanted, but the liberal leaders, while doubtless fully believing in Parnell, refuse as a matter of principle to acknowledge that the fortune of their party is dependent on the charactes of an individual. THE APPLE CROP.—Judging from the reports reaching us we are led to believe that apples are a large crop this year. In this immediate neighborhood the trees are bending with the weight of the fruit. English buyers writing to the Canadian press state that the demand for our apples this year will be much larger than ever, owing to the failure of the apple crop in competing countries. Whitely's Gas Well.—Gas boring has been suspended for this season, but it is hardly possible to give a result of what has been done. The drilling reached nearly seven hundred feet. The hole has been capped at the surface and a half inch pipe inserted from which the gas shoots up with a hissing sound, though there has not been any test applied yet. When corked it still hisses out with a sound similar to escaping steam. When fired it shoots up in so swift a manner as to put itself out if there is much wind. The directors of the company feel encouraged to believe that another year their efforts will be rewarded amply.—[Whitby Chronicle.

Gas Well Ablaze.—There was a great meeting of townspeople at the gas well Monday night, after the drill was removed to touch it off. The whole five and a-half inch throttle of the well was left open and set on fire. The blaze afforded great light for pranks, and among other things which took place the mayor was called upon and made one of his happiest and most eloquent addresses. He said the granite had been reached at last, but that ahould not stop the boring. Why not penetrate it, too? His motto was to keep on until we either found gas or came out in China. For the opinions of geologists he had the greatest contempt. What did they know? Nothing should be allowed to stand between us and gas. If gas were not found direct communication might be established with the antipodes.—[Chronicle.

A RANK FAILURE.—Meeers. E. H. Heapa & Co., furniture manufacturers, Oshawa, whose failure on Saturday created such a sensation, have made an offer to their creditors, The offer is 25 cents on the dollar, to be paid within thirty days. It is probabie that the creditors will accept the offer, seeing that they do not stand much chance of getting any more out of the estate. E. H. Heaps came out from England in 1886. In September, 1887, he purchased the factory formerly occupied by the Oshawa Cabinet Co. He also purchased the handsome residence of Mr. T. N. Gibb, agreeing to pay for both properties the sum of $21,000. The town granted him a loan of $10,000 for ten years without interest, secured by mortgages on the above-mentioned property, which property was exempted from taxtation. At the time of his advent Mr. Heaps represented himself to be worth $104,000, It was a surprise to his creditors when they were called together to find that Mr. Heaps' liabilities were $19,000 and his assets $5,000, this transformation act taking place all within one year. assets $5,000, this transforms ing place all within one year.
