Janauschek in Lindsay. This great actress will make Lindsay a visit, appearing in the opera house Saturday evening. Sept. 22nd, in her great masterpiece "Meg Merrilies." Madame Janausehek is the greatest tragic actress now on the stage, and is ranked by the critics with Edwin Booth. The play is a dramatization of Walter Scott's celeplay is a dramatization of Walter Scott's celebrated novel "Guy Mannering," and is put on the stage with all the original music, choruses, costumes and stage and scenic effects as used by Madame Janauschek in her production at the union square theatre, New York city. No lover of the drama in its elevated form should miss this opportunity of witnessing this great play, and this magnificent actress's portrayal of her greatest and most powerful role. The supporting company of some eighteen ladies and gentlemen, the very cream of the dramatic profession from England and America, will assist her. Seats may be secured now in advance at the usual place. We clip the following from the Philadelphia Record:—During the past week the greatest of living tragediennes has been playing an engagement in this city which has been heralded as Janauschek's farewell to the Philadelphia stage. It is insisted by the great actress' manager that after this season she will play no more, yet this will seem almost incredible to those who but yesterday witnessed Janauschek's superb acting. Tragic actresses are not to be had upon call—least of all those who, like Janauschek, join to magnificent natural gifts the serene poise, technical quality and absolute mastery of expression that follow only upon a long and varied experience. Unless physically unable to act, an artiste so richly endowed should not leave the stage until the sacred fire of inspiration shall begin to burn dull and low. And Mme. Januaschek has never manifested a fuller and more complete grasp of the resources of her art than during her engagement at the opera house last week. brated novel "Guy Mannering," and is put on ent at the opera house last week.

—Some improvements are now being made in the large blacksmith shops belonging to Mr. James Hamilton's carriage works. It had been noticed last winter that the air in the shops was made very foul by the improper working of the torge for a draft, and it was decided that the only way to remedy the evil was to remodel the chimneys and build them higher, as the roofs of the surrounding blocks shut off the air. During the summer months the bad effects were not so noticeable, but although trade has been very brisk it was thought better to shut down and have the changes made at once rather than endanger the health of the workmen.

—We have a letter from Sanitary Inspector have the changes made at once father than endanger the health of the workmen.

—We have a letter from Sanitary Inspector Hughes stating that the smell complained of by "One who has a nose" is that of a disinfectant which he is using daily and which is a solution of soluble phenyle, acknowledged to be the best deoderiser in use. Mr. Hughes adds that if o. w.h.a.n.thinks closets are allowedlto empty into the sewer he is mistaken and should investigate before bringing such a charge—for a charge it is—against the board of health. There are no closets now connected with the sewer. There were two, but they were cut off some months since under his own supervision. Mr. Hugher concludes: "As the complainant appears to take pride in his nose it would be well to get it photographed and put up at the street corners that people might see what kind of a proboscis he has that he cannot distinguish the smell of a disinfectant and that of sewer gas."

—Mr. John Flurey's proposition with regard disinfectant and that of sewer gas."

—Mr, John Flurey's proposition with regard to the erection of a grain elevator deserves the favorable consideration of the town authorities. He proposes to build an elevator on the Queen's equare lots, on the north side of Kent-st. opposite the Sylvester works, and corner of Victoria-avenue. For that purpose the two frame houses at present on the lots will be removed. All that Mr. Flurey asks as that the present assessment on the houses shall remain for ten years as the assessment on the proposed new elevator; at the end of ten years the assessment is to be made on the proper valuation at that time. Mr. Flurey proposes to build an elevator somewhat larger than the one at Mariposa Station. The location is convenient and a siding can be easily put in from the railway. Mr. Flurey's plan is practical and feasible, and if carried out it will be a decided advantage to the town and to the farming community. Mr. Flurey should therefore have all reasonable encouragement in his enterprise.

This is without a doubt one of the most desirable building lots in lots in Lindsay, being near the business part of the town and railway station. Mr. Cody also bought the house and lot adjoining on William-st.

Union Plowing Match.

We are requested by Mr. Berkeley of Cambray to state that the county union plowing match will be held as usual this year. Our plowman should therefore prepare themselves for the competition, as there will be a good prize list. The directors are requested to meet at Mr. Veitch's hotel in Lindsay on the third day of the Central, (Thursday, Oct. 4th), at 10 s. m., to decide upon date and place for the match. It is thought ground in the north riding near Woodville or Lorneville will be chosen. Prizes will be given for sulky plows.

Church Notes. -Rev. Dr. Williams will continue his lectures to young men on Sunday evening next in the Cambridge-st. Methodist church. -Public service preparators to the communion will be held in St. Andrew's church this Friday evening at 8 o'clock, conducted by Rev.

John McMillan of Wick. church, Toronto, will preach at both services in St. Andrew's church next Sunday, 23rd inst. Communion will be dispensed at close of morn-nder the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary Society, in Cambridge-st. Methodist church, on Friday evening, Sept. 28th. Subject, "Ten days in Old London." Silver collection at the door.

—We understand Rev. Mr. McLeod has practically declined the call extended to him from St. Andrew's church, Lindsay. Mr. Mcleod it would seem is so deeply engrossed in the mission work at Banff and along the line of the C. P. R. that he considers it his duty to remain in the present field. This conclusion is one the congregation will regret but they cannot help respecting it, and they will therefore no doubt proceed no further with the call.

—Mr. James Heap has returned from a trip to the Northwest, greatly benefitted in health, and with a large fund of incident about the new country. An interesting letter from his pen is in type but we are compelled to hold it over to next week.

-Mr. J. L. Love, who for some years past has been acting as clerk for W. D. Matthews & Co. of Toronto in Mr. A. McDonell's office here, has been promoted to the head office in Toronto. His many friends in town will be pleased to hear of his deserved elevation.

—The usual notice elsewhere records the close of a successful and important suit in which Mr. Thomas Stewart, barrister, of this town, has been for some time the leading counsel. Mr. Stewart's many friends will congratulate him, and wish him and his fair young bride all happiness. Mrs. Stewart is well known in town, and will be cordially welcomed.

Sunday morning last about 3.30 a.m. Mr. Geo.

Bryans, who resides on St. James-st., east ward, wife, who had noticed the reflection of what Ar. Bryans arose and hurried out and found that the barn was enveloped in flames. In the building was stored the yield of 27 acres of wheat and barley, and the crop had been a fine one. Adjoining the barn were the stable and granary, divided only by a board partition. Stored in the granary was a quantity of old grain used for feeding purposes, besides various agricultural implements such as cutting boxes, root cutters, fanning mills and various tools; and about 150 fine fowls made the building their headquarters. The stable contained a fine span of horses and harness valued at $103. The fire had obtained such a firm hold upon the buildings and contents, fanned by a slight breeze, that the neighbors who had quickly assembled found it impossible to save anything whatevever despite their strenuous exertions, and the entire contents were destroyed. A new Brantford binder lying close to the barn was the product of seventeen acres of oats and six acres of peas, the last of which was hauled in at a late hour the previous evening, all of which was consumed. The fire alarm had been sounded feebly shortly after the fire broke out, and shortly after a couple of firemen made their appearance upon the scene, looked on for some minutes, and turned and left. Mr. Bryans expressed himself as being confident that had the firemen been fon hand promptly with the hand fire engine grain to the value of $100 or $500 might easily have been eaved, as plenty of water was available. The dwelling house was distant only seventeen feet from the stable, and the contents were hastily removed, but it fortunately did not catch. The total loss will foot up $2,000, with an insurance of $700 in the London Muttal. The cause of the fire is unknown, but Mr. Bryans thought from the sppearance of the fire when first seen that it must have started upon the threshing floor.

With this feeling of consciousness that we have dealt fairly and squarely with you, we are again applicants for your valued and highly esteem-

We have received the following letter replying to our cool customer, whose letter sppeared in last week's Post:

..... Sept. 18th, 1888. SOOTHERAN, CATHRO & MARK, Lindsay.

Dear Sirs,-In the name of common sense who is that crazy-headed galoote who has the presumption to send you six eggs to pay for his next suit of clothes. After carefully considering his generous proposition I have concluded that he knows no more about raising hens than a clocking hen knows about harnessing a horse, nor has he as much an idea of business as a cow has of mental arithmetic. He must be constructed on very peculiar plans and specifica-tions, and judging from the knowledge he displays in his letter he is a man who could use a fine-tooth comb on his own head successfully. He reminds me of the miser who wanted a new suit very badly but always declared himself too infernally ticklish to have his measure taken. What a pity the law treats it as a crime to have such cranks quietly but forcibly esconced in the sweet hereafter. You have evidently given the man sufficiently good value to entitle him to scratch his north ear with his left foot out of respect for you, and yet he has the gall to prove his gratitude by sending you six eggs to pay for his next suit and considers he is extremely generous in so doing. It is very evident this illustrious fowl (foul) producer is very badly loaded up; as the political boodlers put it, he should be loaded up the other way. Possibly he may take objection to the trifling habit I have of interfering with his plans and issue a challenge to combat forthwith; in that event it would be premature to say what weapons I shall choose. In the meantime I have a word to say to you about Clothing, too: I want two Suits and a medium heavy Overcoat from former measure, you make the selection yourselves. One Tweed Suit-shooting coat, etc, the other to be of your finest black worsted-morning coat, 4-button cutaway; Overcoat-fly front, medium length, dark fawn color. Kindly complete at your earliest convenience and express to me here C. O. D. and oblige, yours truly,

P. S.—Also two suits good quality Underwear, six pairs Wool Sox, one box 15½ Linen S. U. Collars, half dozen 4-in-hand Scarfs, one Waterproof Coat with Cape, 54 in, long, half-dozen White Shirts, good, size 15½.
