Suakim, Dec. 20. - Before dawn this norning the British man-of-war Sterling and an Egyptina steamer moved; up the chast with orders to cover the schole at Handoub. At daybreak the forts opened fire upon the rebel trenches and the troops advanced to the attack, the black brigade on the right flank and the cavalry and mounted infantry covering. Scottish Borderers, the Weish regiment and the Egytian brigade occupied an embankment between fortr, the British infantry being held in reserve. The forts abelied the trenches, keeging up a terrific fire. The enemy held their ground with intense courage uptil the black brigade charged the trenches, which fell after held an h urr' hard fighting. The rebels fought with fanatical bravery. Two of the enemy are retreating towards Hasheen and Tamar. The British force numbers 4,000.

London, Dec. 20th.—The Standard's correspondent at Snakim sends the following particulars of the battle: "At 4,30 s. m' the man-of-war Raser opened the battle by shelling the enemy's trunches. The abigupt the coast followed suit, and landad parties who lighted fires and placed dummies in position. This had the effect of deceiving the enemy coming from Handoub. A RUSH ON THE TRENCHES.

London, Dec. 20.—A feature of the fight.

LONDON, Dec. 20.—A feature of the fighting to-day was the determined rush upon the trenches by the blacks and Egyptians. The dervishes fought with the utmost bravery, a great many of them dying in the trenches. The charge of the Hussars is also especially meationed. When the dervish cavalry saw them coming they dismounted from their hosers and planted their spears in the ground, but these proved no objection to the hussars who swept down upon the dervish horsemen like an avalanche, cut through their ranks and left half of them dead upon the ground. The hussars than re-formed and charged the remaining dervishes who fied. A large portion of the rebel force was not engaged in to-day's fighting, being absent camping at Handoub and the walls beyond that place. It is believed the rebels will be reinforced and make an attempt soon to retake their lost position. The hussars who followed the ficeing Arabs have returned. They chased the enemy to within four miles of Handoub. They were still running.

running.

Three zerebas and a stockade were built over filled trenches, and manned by four Soudanese battalions and British soldiers. The space between them and the water forts was occupied by a battalion of horse artillery. The Emir of Trinkitat is a prisoner. He is wounded. Osman Digna's nephew and twelve dervishes have been captured. All are wounded.

Serious complaints are made concerning the quality of the sabres and revolvers furnished to the troops. Several cavalrymen returned with broken sabres, and in many instances their revolvers became clogged and were rendered useless.

THE OFFICIAL REPORT.

An official despatch from General Grenfell, dated Suakim, 11.25 a.m., February 20, says.—The enemy's loss was 400. The husears are still pursuing the Araba. The trenches are nearly filled and two temporary redoubts are being built. The joint forces are entrenched. They will bivouse on the field to-night, the navai detachments with the machine guns remaining in the trenches. I have sent the man-ofwar "Starling" and all the available steamers to anchor off Handoub to in order to prevent a ferce from Handoub coming upon us. During the action the dervishes were so severely punished that we expect to have a quiet night.

LONDON, Dec. 21.—A despatch to the Times from Suakim says: The prisoners say they believe all the mounted gunners were killed. All tell the same story of privation and crueity at the hands of the Mahdi and Osman Digna. None of them wished to fight, but were forced to do so or persuaded to fight by promises of loos at Suakim and other rewards. The trenches were bare. They found no food, clothing or money, but only Snider rifles and cartridges. The prisoners know nothing of the reported capture of Emin or the fail of the Equatorial provinces. The natives assert that fiandoub would fall at the first approach of our troops. The government ought not to lose this chance. The task is an easy one, as there is not the slightest sign of any gathering of the local tribes. THE MAHDI'S UNWILLING SOLDIERS.

THE NEW CHURCH.—The Methodist church has almost reached its highest point of development. As the plan is a little departure from the ordinary, some at first complained of its style and size, but their opinions are rapidly coinciding with the predominating one that the Methodists are getting pretty stylish. Those who are capable of judging have said that in appearance it looks like one that had cost a thousand dollars more than it has. Last week made a striking difference in its appearance. Mr. Horner with his faithful staff came on Monday and as usual made things move. The moulding, cornicing and plastering were executed in a workmanlike manner. The ceiving has a hard fluish. The walls are sand and pencilled. Notwithstanding the unfavorable season we hear no complaints, and believe the plaster is all good. Mr. Horner has presented the trustees with a plaster paris arch and key complete which in appearance adds a hundred dollars to its value inside. The foundation has been pointed and now the outside, as to brick and stone work, is quite in keeping with the artistic fluish within. Mr. Horner's men have returned but he remains to run a cornice and some moulding for to run a cornice and some moulding for

We believe them to be too honest to squander any time even if the privilege should offer itself. He left the church empty and unlocked and was out two or three hours before he thought of his carelessness. He immediately ran to the building and found his money gone and no one in. Mr. Jas. DUNSFORD.

(Correspondence of The Post PRESENTATION. - On the invitation of the pupils of Dunsford public school a number of their parents assembled in the school room to witness the presentation to the teacher, Mr. A. M. Irwin, of a handsome copy of Macaulay's essays and poems in three volumnes, a beautiful cabinet photograph album and a very neat autograph album. The school was very prettilly decorated with evergreens entwined into wreaths, stars, etc., and presented an appearance cheering to the feelings and pleasing to the eye. The decorations were the work of the children who cunningly kept their object concealed from the teacher. After Mr. Irwin had taught one or two classes who showed great proficiency not only in their lessons as printed in their books but also understood the subject and connecting thoughts of the lesson, Mr. E. Thurston was called to the chair and introduced Misses Maggie and Ida Thurston and Miss Aggie Woolland. Miss Maggie Thurston carried the copy of Miscaulay's essays and poems, Miss IdaThurston the albums and MissAggie Woollard read the following address:

Dear teacher,— We the pupils of school section No. 2, Dunsford, desire to convey to you an expression of the esteem in which we hold you as a kind and faithful instructor. Much as we regret your departure we will be pleased to remember you as one ever diligent and impartial in the performance of his duties. We rejoice to know that a further advancement in your studies is your object in leaving and hope that the example of your laudable ambition will be an incentive to us to greater diligence in our studies. You will therefore please accept this copy of Macauly's essays and poems and these albums as a token of our effection and esteem; and that in the near future you may occupy a much more exalted position than could possibly be offered you by the people of Dunsford is the earnest wish of the pupils you have se faithfully guided for the past two years. THE SPRINGFIELD REPUBLICAN

The Leading Journal of New England

Established in 1824 by Samuel Bowles

Lately Enlarged and Improved. The year 1888 has marked notable events in the history of THE SPRINGFIELD REPUBLICAN. A new building admirably arranged for the large and growing business of the paper has been erected and occupied. It stands on one of the most desirable corners in Springfield and is the property of The Republican company. The paper has also been enlarged by the addition of eight colums to its quarto sheet, making its regular size 56 colums. These improvements afford THE REPUBLICAN better facilities than it has ever before possessed for the performance of the work of a great modern newspaper and the fulfilment of its duties to the large and intelligent constituency whom it serves.

of the work of a great modern newspaper and the fulfilment of its duties to the large and intelligent constituency whom it serves.

The Refuelican censiders it to be the first office of a newspaper to print the news fairly, fully, intelligently and without perjudice. This it undertakes to do every day in the year, giving special attention and extended space to the local news of Western Massachusetts, Northern Connecticut and Southern Vermont and New Hampshire. Its organization of reporters and cerrespondents for collecting the news in the territory described is wonderfully complete, and the thoroughness and promptness of its service is unrivaled. In Boston and Washington The Refuelican employs trained journalists as its regular correspondents to supplement the news of the Associated Press, and in New York, Albany and other important centers it commands the aid of well-equipped special correspondents whenever occasion demands.

In the treatment of political and social questions, The Refuelican is thoroughly independent. It stands up always for the real interest of the people as against monopoly, corresption, coercion, deception and every form of demagogiam. It counts the welfare of the country as of more consequence every time than the spaces of any party. It seeks to be broad-winded, generous, fair and good-natured in its discussions of public affairs, and to represent always the true and pure American spirit. The Refuelican devotes liberal attention to literature, to science, to education, to all social and economical questions. Busides giving its readers "All the news and the truth about it," this paper offers them daily an abundance of excellent miscellaneous reading, instructive, entertaining and interesting.

THE SUNDAY REPUBLICAN Is prepared with special pains to meet the needs and taste of the New England public. It presents the news, local and general, in readable and attractive form. It always contains a pleasing original story or sketch, a good sermon, a department for children, the latest news from the thesters and of outdoor sports, a literary column, interesting heme and foreign correspondence, a full children page covering a wide range of live topics, local sketches, original poetry, etc. It is a wholesome, newsy and interesting journal well suited to the day of rest.
