-The London correspondent of the New York Times thus comments upon the political situation in England: The prospect now is that the whole week will be spent in baiting the government on one or another phase of its scandalous connection with er phase of its scandalous connection with the London Times' case. The questions already put have involved the unhappy ministers in all sorts of contradictions and damaging half admissions, and it would not be surprising from what has leaked out of fierce quarrels inside the cabinet if another week of torture does not produce one or more resignations. Both the attorney-general and the home secretary are mentioned in these rumors, and there is also a rumor that Mr. Balfour is going to throw up his position as Irish secretary to throw up his position as Irish secretary to be succeeded by Mr. Ritchie. This latter is a London tory of much personal popularity and very few class notions, who planned and carried through the sweeping democratic local government bill last year. -Mr. Norman Phillips of Belleville, one of the best known drummers of Ontario, was notified recently of an increase in his family. It was twins, and, to reconcile the father te his lot, a baby was borrowed from a neighbor, and when he arrived he was introduced to the little strangers and heartly congratulated. His greeting to his wife was "Why Many what do you democratic local government bill last year. He represents about all that is progressive and likable in the whole tory ministry, and his accession to the Irish office would be everywhere taken to mean that the tories are going to try and outbid Mr. Gladstone with an offer of home rule. Some such turn is not at all unlikely, but of course it would come too late to succeed in a partisan sense. What it might effect would be a calm and intelligent consideration by all parties concerned of the whole question of Irish autonomy and a cool emocratic local government bill last year heartily congratulated. His greeting to his wife was, "Why, Mary, what do you mean?" but after a time an explanation was made, and the father, with a sigh of relief, remarked that there are times in life when a pair is better than three of a kind.

agreement upon the form which the Irish themselves thought they could best make workable. This, I might say, is what Mr. Gladstone all along has desired. The Irish leaders, upon whom the responsibility for the success of home rule really would fall, would also welcome such a business-like arrangement instead of a hurried and fildigested constitution won ir the heat of political strife. It would be strange indeed if such a result as this should be the outcome of the whole long and yenomous fight.

-The election in the Kennington divis ion of Lambeth on Friday to fill the parliementary seat made vacant by the resignasank into a heap, perhaps secretly congrat-nlating himself on the fact that when the conservatives found a seat for him their choice fell upon the safest in all London.

choice fell upon the safest in all London. His withers were unwrung. The Irish chieftain, Mr. Parnell, was not present. He is no lover of crowds and scenes. None of the Gladstonian leaders had taken the trouble to come down, but they of course got the news at home, and it must have helped to cheer Mr. Gladstone, who has looked rather low and unwell all the week. A fine tonic to him will this election be. Home rulers have a perfect right week. A fine tonic to him will this election be. Home rulers have a perfect right to rejoice over their victory, for it is undoubtedly a severe blow to the government. It will cause conservative London members to shake in their shoes. Enormous exertions were made to secure the success of the ministerial candidate. The whole art and science of electioneering were exhausted in his favor. Prim rose dames knocked at every door. Their georgeous equipages swept through the streets. From every platform electors were invited to vote for the conservative candidate on the ground that he was related to Lord Salisbury, and Mr. Balfour, perhaps, was not quite wise to stake se much on the contest. A personal appreciation of the kind.

contest. A personal appeal of this kind was rather narrow. This strange battle ground was, however, deliberately chosen, and it is absurd for anyone to deny that the defeat of the ministerial force is a political event of the very first magnitude. the defeat of the ministerial force is a political event of the very first magnitude. It will give to the Gladstonians a new energy in fighting for the third vacancy. What are we to conclude from this? That the tide is turning in favor of Mr. Gladstone's home rule scheme or that the ministry is losing popularity? It may be that there is a little leaven of both at work. People are getting to believe that Mr. Gladstone would, if he had another chance, bring in a different sort of bill, free from objections. It has made them at last think that something must be done for Ireland board had criticised the council often for extravagance, and set up as a little better every way than other people, and now it was proposed that the board should be absolved from the consequences of their own foolishness. The fact was that members of the school board were sitting in judgment upon their own acts. The speaker then turned his battery upon several of the council and fired insinuations like grape shot and canister, stating that certain councillors were untrustworthy. The town was in debt and still the chairman of streets and bridges was receiving tenders for plank, cedar, etc., preparing for the spring work. He would get out a mandamus to-morrow if they started work and show them they they started work and show them they could not get along without the reeve of the town. In effect he admitted that he wished the matter of the school monies to be submitted to the ratepayers.

Deputy-Reeve Ray admitted that it was likely that if the matter was submitted to the ratepayers it would be defeated, and it would cost fully $150 to submit the by-law, and then, if defeated, the bank or the school board would take the matter into the courts and a long and expensive litigation would be certain to ensue with the result that the town would have to pay in the end. If the money was granted without dispute, any ratepayer who wished to resist payment could do so, and the legal process of testing the validity of the debentures would be cheap. This was the best course to pursue in the in erests of the public.

Mayor Walters here took his opportunstate that he had absented himself from state that he had absented himself from board meeting, since the matter of the deficit came up. Regarding the Francis-st. school he was on record as having voted against purchasing it.

Deputy-Reeve Williams stated that when the money was first applied for he felt inclined to look into the matter and every epportunity had been afforded a committee, with the result that the money had been fully accounted for... The motion was finally carried. Nays: Meeers. Roes, Fee, Grandell and Bryans, Yeas: Meeers. Fluery, Ray, Touchburn, Reeves, Parsons, Williams and Comstock.

Coun. TOUCHBURN, chairman, read the report, which stated that the committee had called for tenders for 7,800 ft. square cedar and 7,000 ft. round cedar, and contracts had been made as follows: $,500 ft. round, Kennedy & Killaby; 3,500 ft. to Joa. Wilson, these offers being lowest, at $2.25 per 103 ft.; Kennedy & Killaby, 7,000 ft. square, this being the lowest tender.—Carried.

Mr. J. Parkin addressed the council, offering $200 for the market fees for the current year on condition that he had full privileges of buying....Reeve CRANDELL spoke against allowing Mr. Parkin to have control of the market, which had cost the town thousands of dollars, and said it would be wrong to allow one man exclusive privileges....Mr. Parkin said that when Mr. Crandell's son had the market he; bought everything that was offered and turned it over for just what he could get.—Matter referred to town property committee.

The engine of one of the colonist trains that went up the line of the Northern & Pacific Junction, Wednesday, blew up near Huntsville. The engineer and firemen were terribly scalded. The former saved his life by jumping, but the latter was literally boiled before he could be got out. He was brought to Longford and died during the night. CLOTHING FOR THE POLICE. A deal of discussion took place upon a motion introduced by Coun. FLUERY, chairman of police committee, which was seconded by Coun. PARSONS, to the effect that $50 be granted each of the policemen in lieu of the usual clothing supplied by council during the year, uniforms procured to be similar to those heretofore used. It was pointed out by Coun. Fluery that new uniforms were badly needed, and the lump sum proposed would be much cheaper than the system heretofore pursues. Action was deferred until the committee accortained conclusively the liability of council to supply clothing.

Moved by Coun. Ross, seconded by Coun. Comstrock, that the chairman of streets and bridges committee be authorized to put in a crossing on King st., near Caroline st., motion for which was passed last fall.—Carried.

MORE BY-LAWS. The council then went into committee upon the first and second readings of by-law No. 857, appointing Dr. Colton Hood town physician for 1889 at a salary of $36; and by-law No. 558, extending the time for return of collector's roll until 1st of April.

"For God and Home and Native Land." THE W.C.T.U. AND THE SCOTT ACT.

An appeal to all clergymen, reeves, counelllors and public officers, together with all interested in the temperance cause:

We, the members of the W.C.T.U. of Lindsay, in view of the coming contest on the 4th April next in this county of Victoria for the repeal of the Scott act, do earnestly request you to influence all persons Deputy-Reeve RAX, chairman, read the report, which stated that the demand of the school board for she sum of $5.200 for high and public school purposes, and $1.600 previously granted, had been approved, and recommending the issue of debentures running twenty years to cover the amount. A long opinion from the town solicitor reviewing the phases of the question was appended...Deputy-Reeve RAY recommended that before the motion be put every opportunity should be given to discuss it fully.

Reeve CRANDELL at once took the floor. The school business of the town, he said, had been so bungled for years past that neither the board, the council nor the people knew until lately how matters stood. The board had been in the banks for thousands of dollars. About a third of the taxes raised went for the support of the schools and now that a deficit of $7,000 had been unearthed was it wise to sink the town still deeper in order to shield the board. The members of the board had criticised the council often for extravagance, and set up as a little better every way than other people, and now it with whom you come in contact in favor of the continuance of the act. We are thorsuchly convinced that the Scott act, though it has been imperfectly enforced, is a step in the right direction, and we sincerely hope for the sake of "God, home and native land," the sale of intoxicating liquor shall never again become a lawful occupation in our county. We still array ourselves in uncompromising hestility to the license system, believing that a Christian country should never legalize an unmitigated curse. We have taken the liberty of interest of the county at heart, and we sincerely hope this good cause may have your efficient assistance.

A short time ago the Scott act was repealed in seven of our counties, namely, in all these places the return to the licensing system has been invariably marked by a malarming increase of drunkenness so did not previously favor the Scott act that with whom you come in contact in favor of

A short time ago the Scott act was repealed in seven of our counties, namely, Bruce, Huron, Simcoe, Dufferin, Norfolk, Renfrew, Dundas, Stormont and Glengary. In all these places the return to the licensing system has been invariably marked by an alarming increase of drunkenness so extensive as to convince many of those who did not previously favor the Scott act that with all its defects it was vastly superior to the laws for which it has been exchanged.

WILL YOU HELP?

If we enquire into the causes that fill our charitable homes and institutions, we find that strong drink is at the bottom of nearly every case. Now if we could persuade our dear sisters to help not only to remedy the evil effects produced by intemperance but to remove the cause also, we should all work more intelligently and with a nearer prospect of success. A writer on this subject says: "Among all the obstacles in the way none are more astonishing than women who will not help. I wish we had the power to make every mother who is opposed to us live between two saloons till she is converted, and in the meantime her children should be in the charge of the humane society. The women could end the whole liquor business inside of a year if they would all work as some are doing."

There is no reason why the membership in each union should not be doubled during the year and this would be the second.

in each union should not be doubted dur-ing the year and this would be the case if more women could or would see this mat-ter in its true light, but whether becom-ing members of the union or not, we do expect this year from the Christian women of Canada a greater interest in the cause which we advocate and a greater influence exerted along the preventive line of this

Mr. H. H. Warner has placed in my possession the formulæ of the several medicines manufactured and sold under the general designation of "Warner's Safe Remedies." I have investigated the processes of manufacture which are conducted with extreme care and according to the best methods. I have taken from the Laboratory samples of all the articles used in the preparation of these medicines, as well as the several medicines in which they enter. The following prediction as to the ultimate fate of Pigott appears in the diary of Mrs. Jane Welsh Carlyle, under the date of April 27th, 1845:—"As for young Mr. Pigmott, I will here, in the spirit of prosey, inherited from my great ancestor, John Welsh, the covenanter, make a small prediction. If there be, in his time, an inection in Ireland, as these gentlemen surrection in Ireland, as these gentlemen (referring to her husband's Irish visitore) confidently anticipate, Mr. Pigott will rise to be a Robespiere of some sort; will cause many heads to be removed from the shoulders they belong to; and will eventually have his own head removed from his own shoulders.
