—The stairs in the new post office are completed and are well worthy inspection. The work was done under Mr. Naven's personal supervision. They are different to the ordinary stairs, being self-supporting. The work throughout is being rapidly pushed to completion.

—Mr. Lumsden has commenced operations for the erection of a commodious two storey brick veneered house, of modern design, on his lot, Kent-st. west. The situation is one of the choicest in town, and no doubt Mr. Lumsden will have a house in keeping with the location.

—The attention of our readers is directed to the prominent edvertisement of Mesers. Soothersa, Cathro & Mark, of the city store, in this issue. The reputation of this firm for reliable goods at "right prices," is an saviable one, but this season they contemplate breaking all previous records both as to variety, quality and —don't forget the fact—price as well. Those in need of anything in the line of dry goods will de themselves a seat turn by calling and inspecting the firm's fine stock... The effect of the past mild weather is noticeable in the rapid rise that has taken place in the waters of the Scugog. Large quantities of ice come down daily, showing that the river is opening up. Prospects for an early opening of navigation are bright.

—We omitted to state last week that the large refrigerator put in by Mr. J. W. Williamson, butcher, was built by Mr. Robt. Widdess, carpenter, east ward, according to measurements taken. When put together in the shop every plece was joined most accurately—a difficult thing to accomplish when the work is done outside.
