-Mr. Gladetone delivered an address at Southport last Wednesday evening. He was enthusiastically welcomed, the hall being crowded two hours before the opening of the meeting. Such was the interest manifested in the address that this morning a guines spiece was offered for the free season which were silotted to the electors, seate which were silected to the electors, and from three to five guiners were offered for reserve seats. The applications for places were so numerous that they could not be supplied. Mr. Gladstone reviewed the work of the liberal party during the past twenty-one years. He paid a tribute to the laudable anxiety of the powers to postpone a European crisis. He referred to the Cretan question as a formidable memore to the peace of Europe. He criticised at length the government's work, and claimed that all its useful measures were liberal. He made a point by declaring that the principles of the dock atrikers applied to tenants and trademen in Ireland would have been penal. He was touched by the election gains, and believed that if they could end the septennial act and appeal to the people to-morrow the verdict would be in favor of the liberals and justice to Ireland. The bulk of the speech was devoted to Irich grievances. He said the necessity of the continued proclaiming of new distants. d from three to fiv of the continued proclaiming of new districts was evidence of the failure of the rate was now the same as in 1884, when, in order to secure the support of the Parnellites, the tories declared that coercion was iter, the tories declared that coercion was not longer necessary. Mr. Gladetone said he was not able to lay before his hearers a scheme of liberal politics for the future beyond the outlines siready well-known. Lord Derby in a speech at Liverpool Thursday evening endorsed Mr. Gladetone's foreign policy. He deprecated alliances and said Regland had no business

o seeist Germany in Resping conquered -A fundon cable says: A great deal of space is being given by the London press to the feativities at Athens, whither northern foyalties are swarming in unprece dented numbers for the approaching marriage of the Greek crown prince to the sister of the German emperor. All reports agree that the Greek populace is simply delirious with joy over the event, and that no such excited public welcome has been seen in a European capital before in our times. The spiendor of the match, from a political point of view, might well arouse Hellenic enthuriasm, but the secret f the popular forvor lies in the old, familiar tradition that the glorier the old, familiar tradition that the glorier of the ancient Greek empire would be revived when a ruler named Conatantine should wed a bride named Sophis. The foung helv to the Greek throne was avowedly samed in defence to this tradition, and to the exuberant Athenian imagination there is nothing left but the hand of dectiny in the fact that the German bride bears the name of Sophia.

The Prince of Wales stood the journey to Athenia so badly, and hie falling health was no obvious, that it was suddenly arranged two days ago that he should set sell for Raypt in a man-of-war on Monday, accompanied by both his sone. This breaks up a whole series of feative arrangements, beginning with a grand court hell on Luesday, no far as Raglish participation goes, and it would evidently not have been decided upon without serions cause. Young William's visit to Constantinople, also to come off next week, will be made the text for ancience political speculations and diplomatic worry. Already it has been thought necessary to solumnly assure the Russian chancellery from Berlin that it will be wholly devoid of political significance, in one sense this may be true, for the two sovereigns will probably svoid vexed public questions, but William will at least form a personal opinion of the kind of man the sultan le, and will watch engerly every detail of the military review to be given in his honor, when 20,000 Turkish troops will march past him. -Mr. Giadetone made an address at Chester last Saturday on the condition of the working classes. He contracted the English workman's position to-day with that of fifty years ago, showing that during the haif century there has been an increase of 50 per cent. in wages, while the cheap food and clothing now obtainable are better than heretofore. He urged English workmen to study the history of the American revolution. He claimed that it was by and from this country that a love of freedom was sown in America. Rangland now in return resped advantages from American vindication of those principles of freedom which suimated the revolution. The system of government in America combined that love of freedom, respect for law and desire for order which formed the surset elements of national excellence and greatness. It was no extra-English workman's position to-day with cellence and greatness. It was no extra-vagance to say that sithough there were only two millions of people in the thirteen states at the time of the revolution, the group of statemen that proceeded from them were a match for any in the whole history of the world, and were superior to those of any one epoch. Their fortunate appearance was undoubtedly due to well-regulated muscular freedom.

-The Grand Truck railway has long been, in the eyes of English people as well se Canadiane, second in commercial importance in the Dominion only to the Bank of Montreal. Its management has not always been as much in the interest of Canadiane se they had, perhaps, a right to expect, in view of the extent to which it has been assisted out of the public domain and treasury, but it has performed great services for this country, and its proprietors have not suriched themselves. For some years the company's affairs have been pretty steadily growing more prosperous. Durk gube last half year the business of Purit g the last half year the business of the company has been greater, in almost every department the net earnings have increased and the percentage of working expenses has decreased, so that the period has been one of progress. The rapidity of the growth of the traffic of this long estab-lished line would be creditable to a new line. Since 1885 the traffic of the first half of the secondary attents. of the year shows a steady growth, the inrease in the number of passengers for the first half of this year over the same period of 1888 heing 175,197; over 1887, 201,959; over 1886, 397,971; over 1885, 573,734; and the increame of the freight trailic for the same period over that of 1888 was 258 056 tons; over 1887, 6 478 tons; over 1886, 373 174 tons; Wer 1885, 188 300 tone. The existence of the Canadian Pacific railway has not apparently resulted in a lowering of rates, as the average rate per ton in 1885 was 64 5d, while that of 1889 was do 7d.
