LINDSAY, FRIDAY, NOV. 22, 1889. POE'S COTTAGE AT FORDHAM.

Here lived the soul enchanted Hy melody of sons: Here dwelt the spirit haunted Hy a demoniae throng: Here sang the lips clated. Here gitef and death were sated; Here leved and here unmated Was he, so frail, so strong.

The dying firelight blew While he whose song was peer less Dreamed the drear midnight through: And from dull embers chilling Crept shadows, darkly filling The silent place, and thrilling His fancy as they grew.

Here with brow bared to heaven In starry night he stood. With the lost star of seven Realing and brothorhood. Her in the sobbing showers Of dark autumnal hours He heard suspected powers Shrick through the stormy wood.

And of Astrate's bliss, He gazed into the hollow And hopolose valo of Dist And though earth were all surrounded By heaven, it still was mounded With graves; his soul had sounded The dolorous abyes.

He touched at heaven and hell, Fate found a rare soul pliant And rang her changes well. Alternately his lyre. Strained with strings of fire. Led carth's most happy choir Or flashed with Israfel.

Luting accustomed lays. No harper for new glory. No mendicant for praise, He struck high cords and splendid, Whereto were flercely blended Tones that unfinished ended With his unflaished days.

Here through this lowly portal. Made swered by his name. Unheralded immortal The mortal went and came And fate that then denied him. And envy that descried him. And malice that belied him. Have cenotaphed his fame.

BOBCAYGEON.

THE SHED GRAIN SWINDLE.—For some time past Mesers, Jos. K. Fose, G. Landon and Butler have been operating in the neighborhood disposing of seed grain. Mr. Fose appears to be the figure head of the coterie, and aports a silk hat and an elaborate display of society jewels. These gentlemen present to the farmers a particularly clever scheme by which they sell to the farmer say ten or twenty bushels of wheat at the triffing amount of $15 a bushel, asserting that when the crop is raised they will take from the farmer dauble the quantity of seed bought, and dispose of it at the same figure, deducting a commission of $4 a bushel on the deal. In the meantime the foo—that is the farmer, gives his note at twelve months for the amount of seed he takes. On the 30th ult. Thos. H. Nicholls and Robert H. McNelli of North Verulam went to S. W. Crabtres, eq., J.P., and took out warrants for the arrest of Jos. K. Fose and G. Landon, for having procured from them valuable securities, to wit, notes respectively of $120 and $300, under false pretences. The warrants were issued, but rather than be arrested the gentlemen returned the notes. It is well for Nicholls and McNell that they got their notes, but it is almost a pity they were not held to their bargain and made to purchase a valuable security in the shape of a large sized hunk of experience that might possibly have knocked into them a little ordinary common sense,—[Independent.

A BURGLAR'S HAUL RECOVERED. —About three weeks ago the stores of Mesers. Clarke & Cooke and of Frank Wilson & Co, were burglarised. The day after the burglary a man named Gordon, aliae Crawford, was arrested. Part of the goods were concealed and could not be found until the county messenger, Mr. Beardeley, got a clue to their whereabouts. The Advance says that he in company with Detective Sweeney went on Wednesday night and after a search of about four hours the goods were unearthed two miles from Orillia in a piece of woods near the roadside.—[Packet.

A Good Suggestion.—One thing we would like to call the attention of our school teachers to is the way they allow pupils to stand and walk. The habits formed in youth are not easily eradicated. Stand on the street corner and watch the scholars as they file out of school, and the result will surprise you. Scarely one holds her or himself gracefully; some shamble along as if their feet were too big to lift; others amble along with one shoulder rubbing their ears and the other shrinking hashfully downward; another will come "stepping up like a victim of seasickness," and so on, but not one with a graceful, and so on, but not one with a graceful, upright carriage, and the free, easy motion that should belong to youth. This can be remedied in a great measure in the school room, if teachers see that pupils stand erect, toes out and slowerin.—[Packet.

A MAN PUTS A BULLET IN HIS WIFE'S BREAST.—Some time ago Mr. Sanders and his wife disagreed and separated. Friday night last about 8.15 at a mutual friend's house Sanders fired four times at his wife, wounding her twice, once in the left wrist and the second time about an inch above the nipple of the right breast. Whether the wounds will prove fatal or not is yet uncertain. Sanders made the remark some time since that he did not care for his own life as long as he could kill his wife. Wendered Bells.—There has been quite a futter of excitement here of a most interest character. It all consummated on Tuesday when at five o'clock in the morning, so the song says, the old, old story was told again, and Miss Hattie Pussy became Mrs. Ringsa. Mr. R. G. Kingsan is of the firm of Kingsan & Co. of Peterboro, and Miss Pussy, as everyone here knows, is daughter of Mr. Charles J. Pussy, manager of our Irondale railway and of our local iron mines. The ceremony was performed at the early hour of five in order to enable Mr. and Mrs. Kingsan to catch the train for Toronto. Mr. A. Mercer of Peterboro was groomsman, and Miss Pussy, sister of the bride, bridesmaid. Rev. Mr. Kenrick of Peterboro officiated. There was a small party of guests present, but the large array of beautiful presents to the bride attested the popularity of both young people. Mr. and Mrs. Kingan will spend a week or ten days in the west before returning to Peterboro to reside, and thus we lose one of the belies of the neighborhood, and a young lady generally respected and admired by all who knew her.—[Independent.

WELL PLACED BENEVOLENEE. - Three care ago Mrs. Henry Joice, the mother of Well Placed Benevolenes.—Three years ago Mrs. Henry Joice, the mother of ten young children, cruelly deserted her family and left the district. The husband, week in constitution and afflicted with chronic disease of the lungs, struggled on in the township of Sinclair with part of his family; the others he gave out for adoption among the neighbors. One of these, a girl of twelve years, named Caroline, was adopted by a family named Corbett of Franklin. This child suffered from a severe attack of cetties about four months to know if a paper devoted to the interests the patient be sent to the general hospital, Toronto, as very careful nursing would be required to effect a cure, but the foster parents could not stand the expense and the township of Franklin not being organized no municipal aid could be obtained. An appeal for aid to Mr. Erastus Wiman was replied to as follows:

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 1st, 1889. F. L. Howland, M.D., Huntsville, Ont. F. L. Howland, M.D., Huntsville, Ont.

DRAR SIR,—Yours of the 30th ult. received. I am sorry that we did not see you as we were coming through, because I wanted to talk with you about the little girl to whom you refer to in your letter. I shall be glad to assist in the matter of getting her into the hospital, and I will confer with my friend Mr. Dwight about it. I will gladly pay her board and send herewith $10 towards her expenses to Toronto. Mr. Dwight will write you further in regard to the matter.—
Truly yours,

ERASTUS WIMAN.

On receipt of this letter a comfortable vehicle was dispatched for Caroline Joice and she has been duly forwarded to the general hospital, Toronto, This and many other benevolent acts towards the people of the district shows that the man so famous in connection with the great question of the hour, continental free trade, is possessed of a most philantrophic disposition.

Socialism would be extinguished in a month and the millenium ushered in before Christmas if all the wealthy of the earth were immediately to follow Mr. Wiman's

MINDEN.

Accident. — Mr. Francis Graham, of Minden township, had a narrow escape last week for his life. He was driving down hill with his team loaded with a portion of his threshing machinery, when part of the harness gave way and his horses becoming unmanageable he jumped off, falling so that the hind wheels of the waggon passed over the lower part of his body, fortunately without injury. We are glad to see him able to be around again.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT,—Some four weeks ago Mr. Wm. Williams, of Stanhope township, fell off a waggon going down a hill, the wheel passing over his shoulder, dislocating it, since which time he has allowed it to remain in that condition until Monday last, when he came to Minden for surgical treatment; but it was found impossible to reduce the dislocation, even with the force of four or five strong men. So the unfortunate man was sent to the Toronto hospital where it hoped, with their scientific appliances, he will be set all right, but it must necessarily be some weeks before the poor man can resume work. Meantime he has a large family depending upon him for support. It is a case of distressing hardship.—[Echo.

FENELON FALLS.

THE PERILS OF SHANTYING.—On Friday last a valuable grey mare owned by Mr. W. H. Stevenson of Fenelon was killed while working at Mr. Thomas Archer's lumber shanty in the township of Longford. The mares were drawing logs by means of a chain to the edge of a dump, and one of the logs, made slippery by the previous night's frost, slewed and went over, taking the team with it. They fell about twenty five feet, and the off mare was so badly torn by a enag or stump that she only lived an hour and a half, but her mate escaped without injury. Mr. Joe Donaldson, the teamster, got home on Sunday morning with the surviving animal, and brought with him a note from Mr. Archer stating that he (Donaldson) was not to blame. Mr. Stevenson bought the mares—which were large, well mated and only seven and eight years old—from Boyd and Co., and they were insured for $100 each in the company represented by Mr. Wm. Waffle. Shantying is a rather perilous occupation to both man and beast, and such accidents as the shove are by no means uncommon; but Mr. Stevenson is not discouraged and intends. A BRUTAL WIFE MURDER.—Some time last Saturday night Edward Kane, a plasterer, murdered his wife Mary. The two had been drinking together during the day and both are said to have been drunk in the evening. After committing the crime Kane lay down on a lounge beside the dead body and slept away his debauch, waking up Sunday morning to find the dead and bleeding body of his wife. EXTRAORDINARY RECOVERY OF STOLEN BONDS.—A new and extraordinary phase of the Drumm forgery case has turned up. Major Drumm came here from Kansas City last week and vowed he would prose-City last week and vowed he would prosecute every means to bring about the extradition of his nephew, who had robbed him of $58,000. The forger was in gaol and vowed just as strongly that he would give fight. But last Saturday he relaxed and communicated to the authorities through his lawyer, N. G. Bigelow, the fact that he was willing to disgorge. Major Drumm, on hearing this, gave an understanding that he would cease hostlities, and Saturday night Drumm left gaol accompanied by two detectives. They took the train out to Newmarket, where they hired a rig and Newmarket, where they hired a rig and drove two miles and a half into the country. Lanterns were procured and the ex-pedition went into the bush, where in the centre of a group of marked trees a hole centre of a group of marked trees a hole was dug and a tin box was unearthed. This contained bonds and securities worth $35 210; $3 770 was in United States bonds. After that the party drove to Toronto, a reaching there in the small hours of the morning. They drove at once to St. Michael's cemetery, a couple of miles out of the city on the Yonge st. road, where Drumm poin ed out a hole behind the headstone of a lady who in life was named Catharine McCaethy. Out of this hiding-place was taken $3,500 made up also in a tin box. Drumm was then taken back and relodged in gaod. His uncle was communicated with the first thing on Monday morning, and at once consented to go bail for the penitent forger to the tune of $50,000.
