— Lieut. Stairs, who is with Stanley, graduated from the Kingston military college in 1822. He is a Nova Scotian by birth and a man of considerable pluck. After qualifying himself by study for a position in the Canadian militia, Stairs found employment as an engineer in New Zealand. Thence he went to England to receive a commission in the Rayal Engineers. Stanley found him at Chatham and selected him from among a hundred efficers anxious to tread Africa's burning san's. It appears that we educate men for our military service at some expense. -Mr. Balfour, chief secretary for Ireland, in his speech at Glasgow Monday. set forth the ideas of the government on the aubiest of a proposed Irish college. He proposes that government aid shall be given to a Cathelic college, in which the regular curriculum shall be given, including the classics and mathematice, but that the government shall not sudow any institution for teaching theology in Ireland, Mr. Halfour, however, deciared that he would never advise his colleagues in the ministry to embark upon this arduous enterprise unless the following absolutely necessary conditions were fulfilled: First that the boon should be cordially accepted by the intended recipients-the Irish penple; second, that, the offer shall not be used as a political weap in by one party in par-l'ament against its opponents; third, that Englishmen, Scotchmen and Irishmen whal all concur in offering this boon. He confessed he saw no likelihood that it would be accepted with these conditions. It was never any part of his intention that the government should endow a Catholic theological chair. His only purpose had been to squip the necessary chairs for the study of literature, science, medicine and inw. He believed that founding a complate university would be fatal to higher education in Ireland, because it would remore the competition between Catholics

A London cable says: The meetings of the liberal confederation began at Manchester Monday. Mr. Gladstone delivered an address in the course of which he said the local government bill did not meet the legitimate demands of the country. -When will farmers learn to buy off dealers they know! A swindler is working western agriculturists in this way: He gives the farmer a machine for tying shocks, for which the farmer signs a receipt, the large letters of which show one machine free, and the small letters beneath proves to be an order for one gross and a promise to pay $285. - As Mr. Henry Smith was digging n the earth around the mineral bath pipes in the earth around the mineral data pipes in the rear of the weil and house in St. Cath-arines on Saturday evening he uncerthed a tin cash box closely bound with wire. It bore the inscription "V. R." and under-neath was an inscription of some kind which was almost eaten away with rust. The data however was outer distinct. The date, however, was quite distinct, 1858. The box was taken into the hotel office, where on examination it was found to contain $3,500 in bills of the now defunct Zimmerman bank and $32 in lawful coins of the realm. The bills, silver and copper were very much worn and rusted. It is supposed to be the property of a Colonel Victor Reynolds, who boarded at the Welland house over thirty years ago, when Zimmerman money was as good as gold. The colonel afterwards disappeared and nothing more was heard of him. He, no doubt, passed away with thousands of others in the bloody American civil war.

-At the meeting of the liberal federation at Manchester Tuesday a resolution was adopted urging the necessity for a prompt settlement of the questions of the disestablishment of the church in Wales and free education. Resolutions were adopted condemning any land purchase bill for Ireland which would entail a burden on the British taxpayers. They were protesting against the use of British funds to endow sectarian colleges in Ireland and approving international arbitration. It was also declared as the sense of the meeting that the British ought to avoid entanglement in International quarrels. Mr. Giadetone quoted the recent speeches of Lord Salisbury and the Marquis of Bartington as evidence that the unionist party is now forming plans in anticipation of a decisive deteat when the time shall come for a general appeal to the nation. The only reason for the existence of the dissidents as a party is an anti-Irish feeling. It was the curse of their destiny that they were chained to a wheel. They must revolve or stop with it and could not determine things for themselves. They had disestablishment of the church in Wales revolve or stop with it and could not determine things for themselves. They had done much harm which was perhaps unintentional, and is addition to the unintentional good. They had done some unintentional good. They had promoted the aspirings of Southand and Wales to definite acpirings of Scotland and Wales to definite sectional recognition. Furthermore, they had caused an enormous increase in the radiculism of the liberal party. They had advanced its political position. It behowed them to cuasider will their position in the light of the knowledge that with the settlement of the Irish question they will be extinct se a party. He concluded in giving his warnest manuals to the crowds who had stood by him in a time of adversity amounting to disconditure, placing confidence in a noble effort on behalf of a settle tentile.

It appears that two young men named Alexander Kennedy, of the firm of Wm. Kennedy & Sons, and Hiram Lymburner, son of Horace Lymburner of Owen Sound, were out after game. The bush being thick, Kennedy saw what he supposed to be a deer, and taking deliberate aim fired at the object, when to his horror he discovered he had shot his companion, Lymburner, through the back. The wounded man only lived a few minutes. He leaves a wife and two children.
