A cognise old time canvas-covered ploneer wagen drawn by two mules attracted a good deal of attention at the ferry dock. Window, last Friday. The turnout was the property of T. Hinckler. Mr. Hinckler, who is accompanied by his wife and sty children, tells the following story: sty children, tells the following story. Fitteen years ago I was a happy and prosperous former on Wells island, opposite Kingston. I heard many glowing accounts of the far west, and, becoming faccinated with far west, and handsome place of prowith them, sold my handsome piece of pro-perty and went to Southern Kausan. It would take more than words to desorthe to for the suffering and misery we have gone through since we struck there, but I may be thankful that we were able to leave. —Sir Charles Dilke's new book, "The Problems of the Greater Britain," is well received, and promises an immense sale. The writer deale chiefly with the questions of the resources and defences of Great Britain, and embodies in his work much of the condemnatory matter which formed the basis of the articles he published some ago calling attention to the defenceiese state of Ragiand's coast. He insists that imperial defensive measures, after the plan of those adopted by Germany, are absolutely essential, and also carneelly recommends that Ragiand follow the German system of federation as speedily as possible. Imperial federation, he asserts, is bound to come sooner or later, and the scooner the better, is must not, however, be forced upon Canada and Australia, which are the best and most trust worthy political isborguides that Ragiand hae, and whose solution of the great problem of the exact relations of capital to labor, and vice verse, aust ultimately be accepted by the home country.

-A London correspondent says: Few people even in Russia realize the extent to which German colonization has grown inside the ovar's empire, and hence we are disposed to regard as tyrannical the edicts against the Gormane in Russia, which really have considerable juntification. The United States alien property law was based on far less urgent grounds. If all the English capitalists now inventing millions in America were cuying lands solely, and importing colonists by tone of thousands who would never learn our language or sympathies with our institutions, there would be a closer parallel. All through Southern Russia and along the Black Sea Germans have bought vast tracts of land, being able to pay what seem big prices to the imporerished and uncelentific Russian proprietors and still make fortunes by better cultivation and machines. In seven large provinces they are said now to own a majority of the scree, and these for the most part are stocked with German farmers. No Russian peacents are employed who are unable to speak German, and so those latter are driven out by thousands into places where the labor market is already glutted. The Standard devotes aswage leader to the demundation of the idea, declaring that there is no difference in principle between providing the poor with gratuitous knowledge and providing them of the English people is certain to be fatally injured if these demoralizing doctrines of free education are ever carried out upon a large scale, a view which I am sure will be of help to American readers in forming an idea of what the tory party in England really is like. A pronuncismento of this sort may possibly scare Mr. Goschen out of his plan, but it is more likely that it will be presented, and that after immemorial precedent the party whip will be applied to compel the tories to pase it. This may not, however, happen for a long time yet. Things move here with historic slowness. It will be thirty years next month since a select committee of the house of commons made a report in favor of opening the British museum in the evening, and these good people who pride themselves on their energy and executive ability have this week begun to admit the public to the museum during evenings.

On Monday of last week a Mr. John Green, said to hail from the Midland district and to be a married man, teaming for Mr. Wm. Regan near Burk's Falls, had a bloo I vessel burst while on his way from the bush to dinner, and he bled to death before assistance could be rendered. It seems that the unfortunate man had been to the railway station with a load, and was on his way back and was within a short distance from Mr. Regan's barn when he began bleeding, as the tracing of the blood indicated, by several rods before he finally fell off the sleigh from the weakness caused by the loss of blood. The team kept on to 'the barn, and the teamster being miseing Mr. Regan with his help started to find out what the matter was, and discovered Green in a dying condition. He was removed to the house, but died four minutes after being discovered. As far as time, distance of blood traced and other circumstances gave evidence it is supposed that the man must have died in about ten or afternam minutes after the bleeding commenced.

-There is a happy Frenchwoman near Cobourg. She is the second wife of the late Francis Delear, who married her in Montreal. Francis served in the American civil war, and for eighteen years afterwards tried unsuccessfully to secure a pension. Then he died. Seven years ago another trial occurved and resulted favorably. A few days ago Mrs. Delear was paid over $12,000 back pay. She has given half the cash to her stepron and banked the balance for herself.... The Cobourg World says: On Saturday morning last Mr. W. S. Orr. accompanied by his soliciter, Mr. John W. Kerr, proceeded to the humble dwelling of Mrs. Mattlda Delear on the lakeshore, and there on a plain pine table counted out and paid over in gold coin and bank notes the sum of $12,637.27. This pile of money represented the pension fund which the United States government at Washington had finally acknowledged was due to the widow of the late Francis Delear, as old soldier in the American army, who died at Cobourg three years ago lass September without receiving his pension. He was a member of Company "I" in the 19th regiment of Illinois infantry, and went all through the great civil war between the North and South. By the aid of the new Hydro-Carbon Gas Furnace he can make indestructible porcelain fillings and restore broken and decayed teeth to their original shape, contour and color. By this process old roots can have porcelean crowns attached; consequently there is no plate required.

Gas, Vitalized Air, administered with great success for nearly 23 years, extracting teeth for thousands of persons without a particle of pain. He uses the latest approved appliances for administering the Gas. He studied under Dr. Colton of New York, the inventor of gas for extracting teeth, who has given it to over 160,000 persons and not a fatal case.

persons and not a fatal case.

MR NEELANDS uses Ball's Local Anaesthetic for extracting teeth. He is now using a new style of forcep which he had expressly manufactured while on his last visit to New York, which removes the teeth without danger of injury to the gums or jaw, the gums healing up beautifull; in a few days and no consequent trouble. Artificial Teeth inserted on all the popular bases and by the most approved styles and appliances for their retention and comfort, Numbers of persons are wearing teeth made by Mr. Neelands over 20 years and never required repairs. Prices from $10 to $25 for an upper or under set.
