writing Friday midnight asys: The long egony in over, and whether or not the and immediate extinction of the French represents the strangth of Mr. McCarthy's support. The minority was composed of the irreconcilables who follow the lead of he member for North Simcor, the supportare of the Davin amendment in preference to that of Sir John Thompson, and the other class of irreconcilables who instated apon the meintenance of the dual lanmings in the territories, The majority included the whole government following. with the exception of Mr. Melierthy. Mr. Peter White, Mr. McNelll, Mr. Weldon of Albert, Col. Trewhitt, Col. Dinison, Col. O'Belen and Me. Wilson of Lanner, and a fall aupport from the Hherel banches. It was known all day that the Thompson smendment would be out. eled by a very large mejority. Both parthe ingrain amous in the morning, and the result was a practy general determination to accept the compromise proposal mibinitted by the government. The conservative family had a nort of political love feast, and broke up with charts for Toronto, a number of proposed smendthat the that had eme upon the situation. Sir John Mardonald had figured as the anxious father of his country, spoke for Quebec and voted for Ontario. Sir Hector Langevin had posed as the champion of his off inded nationality; Mr. Cuspleau had rome to the fore an a patrict, true to country beyond even the claims of race and creed; Col. Danison had postured for the Francophobas of Ontario; the filetis had voted solidly for their nationality and now transpholans of Ontarlo; the litera had vourd solutify for their nationality and now it was rafe to unite and vote for the compromise and go into the constituencies with a leader for every element of the population, and with Mr. McCurthy, the best crus der of them all, lorge, if not semi ditached, bringing in sheaver for the common harvest. Mr. McCurthy was not with the brethren to the rinks morning, but he will be reasing, he voice at its loudest, when the brite comes on in the constituencies.

The government came out of causes with lik of their supporters pledged to standing for the special to standing for the supporters pledged to standing for the supporters pledged to standing for the supporters pledged to standing for the Soots set, the very best legal to it is the discovered for the supporters and the native of the times by smeadannias at the contest of the first supporters with the spirit of Mr. McCurthy and with the Bluss reduced to logal subjection. By a Leading Temperance Journal Resome of Legislation on This Question.

From the Good Templar of Canada. The good Templar has eschewed politics from its columns, believing that the heat interests of our order are served by siding in the formation of temperance character. Our order is a great school for the education of the country to temperance principles, and helping forward that education we ere hastening the time when prohibion our statute books. But while we, as an order, take no part in party politica, yet when the question of the liquor traffic erines, our duty is piets to help the gov. arnment that gives us the best laws both in restricting the traffic by stringent high license sets and in totally prohibiting it by a femular prohibitory set. Our order was the first great temperance organization to raise the standard of prohibition an the goal of its existence, and not until the Honor traffic is benished out of existence will our objects be attained. In the near future the country will be called on to elect a new legislature for the province of Ontario, and it becomes the duty of every Good Templar voter to consider for whom he shall cast his ballot. There are yet meny improvements wanted in our license laws. At the last meeting of the Optario branch of the Dominion allience, held in ments were discussed, among others, "s reduction of the meximum number of Hoennes to be issued in any municipality;" licenses to be issued in any municipality;"
"s provision that my person applying for a license whell have the coment of a majority of the fatepayers in the locality in which he is to operate;" "the licensing of all public houses;" "prohibition on public holidays;" "the aboution of steamboat licenses," tto, etc.

These are all very important questions, and it becomes our futly to consider into Le ting in the Light-Fory Decigns in the Louis Rights Mevement.

To the Editor of the Peterboro Exam-SIR,-When the equal rights agitation legan, having spmpathy with the ontensible and declared objects of the movement. I threw myself rather earnestly into the movement. Though a life long liberal I felt that, spart from any political organization, there was need to work for the reform of sbuses of a character unindent fied with any political parties, but including the intereste of the whole Protestant community. I was honest and earnest, and for some time felt quite at home with my new secociates, who though many of them conservatives in politics, under the new order of things, assumed the relation to me of co-workers in a common cause, which removed the political barriers which formerly divided us. But it was not very long before I was undeceived, before I had good reson to doubt the good fetth of my susception was aroused that the conservative element, had ulterior views, that they were seeking the advancement of their own party. This arose both from private events coming to my notice, and from the course of public events. I kept my suspicione to myself, determined to watch the course of events, determined not to be grawn into any scheme to suragonize the political party, of which I am still a member. Confirmation of my fears was not wanting, but a recent circumetance converted my suspicion into a certainty, and I cannot hear alleges under the converted my suspicion into a certainty. fied with any political parties, but including stills member. Confirmation of my fears was not wanting, but a recent circumetance converted my suspicion into a certainty, and I cannot keep silence under the circumstances. Not long sizes two conservatives of alleged equal right's sympathics, binted to me very pixinly that it was very desirable to get as many "grite" as they call there, to attend a certain equal rights meeting, with a view of committing them to a policy of hostility and oppositions to the Mowat government, whose overtinew, was pixinly intimated, (though not in so many words) object of the chief prometers of the gatherings. These "grite" were to be select in turn to bring as many torioses possible to the meeting in question, in order that a third party candidate might be nominasted for the local lepislature, with a good chance of success. I asked what about nominating a Dominion candidate at the eases time; "O, that can wair, there is no harry about that till everything is fixed for the local." This was avery flue esteme, indeed. However, I kept my counsel, answering evanively, and have no intimation of my resolution that this ended my real connection with the local branch of the equal rights' movement. This circumstance does not in the least impair my belief in the justice and merit of that cause keepen to father movement. This circumstance does not in the least impair my belief in the justice and merit of that cause keepen to fatherly overlawed, but I will not lead my eit to be a cate-paw and dange of designing tory vire-pullers; to help on their designs of overthyowing a government which if infancely better thus any the conservatives could or would conduct. With all its faulte, the Mowat government could not be replaced by a better one, former from the members of the cope but to the object of the local "ignal righters," and was a provenument in general questione, the Mowat government has a government more to my mind one or and or

An Odd Tory View.

The tory Brantford Telegram says: "It the country, will be preferred to him whom an and beast. It appears that the man most highly favored. Votes, not corn. whisky, not beef, are the most potent factors in this Canada of ours. Political tricksters, and not statesmen, are the men wanted, evidently, by the public reach the intellects of our public men, and a wise policy guide them?

Still Faithful Followers.

The Ottawa Free Press save: "The declaration of Messes. McCarthy and O'Brien that they are still faithful followers of Sir John Macdonald tends to confirm the pretty general belief that these gentlemen have been deputed by their leader to look after any stray "lamba" which may wander from the tory fold. and pilot them back in good time for the next general election. Not long ago Sir John Macdonald told one of his followers not to be alarmed over Mr. McCarthy's antics, because the latter had simply started a No-Popery agitation for the ourpose of preventing the French and Catholic members of the cabinet from being too aggressive and pushing their leader into compromising positions. The tory leader is actually encouraging a rusade against his own colleagues.

The Peterboro Examiner says: - In nother place in this issue we publish a etter in reference to the political aspect of the equal rights movement which should open the eyes of a good many reformers in this town and vicinity. The part of a great many concerned in the Mr. Mowst's government also recommended to the legislature a compulsory measure by which these magistrates could be appointed and the councils be competbility and beget confidence were secured.

The real object was concealed but by degrees those liberals are learning the truth and refusing to help run the tory machine." For eighteen years the conservatives have been hungrily longing for office. They cannot oust the Mowst government on its merits. At one time one cry is raised. That failing, another of a directly opposite nature is employed, and now, for the coming struggle, a scheme to delude reformers is being finely worked. The gist of the effort is to play upon the sympathies of reformers upon the equal rights question and convert them to opposition to the Mowat government, and commit them to the support of a third party candidate—a tory of the deepest dye. The game is transparent enough, especially in the light of the letter published elsewhere, to not deceive any reformer. Very little should miffice to put East and West Peterboro liberals on their guard. We have had proof that the promises of the tory heelers are not to be trusted to. Let reformers remember the base perfidy of the men who at the last general elections secured pledges from temperance reformers to withdraw their support from the local liberal candidate, on the understanding that temperance conservatives would support Mr. Cox in the Dominion. The liberals, like the honest men they were, kept their word on the conditions sgreed upon -and voted sgainst the reform candidate, or refained from voting. On the other hand, the conservatives almost to a man forgot their pledges and voted the straight tory ticket—for Mr. Stevenson against Mr. Cox. Now these same gentlemen are doubtless ready to do the same dirty work in the new scheme. Do not let reformers be deceived. No reformer can conscientiously ally himself with those whose sole aim and object is to put the tory party into power in Ontario. Let liberale look before they lesp.
