-Mr. Goechen, chancellor of the exche quer, presented the budget in the house of commone last Thursday. It shows expeness exceeded the estimates by £11,000, and the receipts exceeded the estimates by over 43,000,006. The duty on alcoholic beverages realized over £5,800,000. The beer duty exceeded the estimates by £270,-1000. The duty on foreign spirits exceeded the estimates by £421,000, on home er or later play a big part in Muscovite spirits by £1,010,000 and on wine by £12,000. The total receipts from alcoholic heverages exceeded the estimates by £1,810,000. The dutice on coffee, cooce and chicory showed a decrease of £17,500, while the dutice on tea showed an increase of £10,000. Commenting on the gross revenue from alcoholic beverages, £29,205,000, Mr. Goechen said the figures showed a universal rush to the beer barrel, the spirit bottle and the wine decanter. Everybody seemed bent on toasting the national prosperity and increasing the revenue. It was a circumstance that must be deplored. A clover examination would not diminish the surprise, for the largest increase had been—of all the spirits in the world—from rum. (Laughter.) The rum was drunk mainly at seaports. In 1888 the number of drams taken reached 245,000,000. Is 1889 275,000,000. It was an extraordinary historical fact that in the years 1875 and 1876, the greatest drinking years recorded, there was precisely the same proportion of revenue from the different spirite. Increased prosperity therefore meant a great increase in the consumption of alcoholic drinks. The postul receipts exceeded the estimates by £100,600 and the revenue from telegraphs exceeded the estimates £90,000. The exact surplus reached £3,221,000. He said the national debt during the last three years had been diminished £23,221,000. This was the largest reduction of the debt during the name length of time. Hr. Goodnes estimated there would be an expanditure of £36,857,000 during the coming year and a revenue of £00,400,000. In some way it is becoming suspected that the Grand Duke Constantine is mixed up in hese latest plots, and the telegraph brings two conflicting stories about him—one that he will soon be made minister of public instruction, the other that the czer had ateraly reprimanded him for having written a poem containing liberal ideas. This latter is the more probable tale of the two. Rach of the last three reigns; has been troubled by a Constantine of its own, who Rach of the last three reignal has been troubled by a Constautine of its own, who was the centre of a more or less open faction at mutiny about the Russian court. The accession of Nicholas to the throne in 1825 was marked by a terrific fight with grapeshot and cavalry in St. Isaac's equare, Moscow, to quell a hoetile demonstration in favor of his brother. Constantine in turn was for years the focus of the elements opposed to the caur's liberal policy, and is even believed to have subsidised the first attempt on the caur's life. This man is now along in years, and too much occupied with his personal comforts and diversions to be dangerous, but his son Constantine is only 32; he is active, popular, and the best educated of the Russian princes, with a good knowledge of science and broad political opinions. It is not surprising, therefore, that the public suspicion should connect him with the present deaffection, and it is not improbable that he will soon.

The Port Hope Guide states that on Saturday last a farm of 116 acree, about five miles distant from both Coboury and Port Hope, was effered for sale by auction under mortgage, and the highest bid received was $49 per acre. Six years ago $73 per acre was refused for the same property. Instances of a similar character could be furnished from every county in the province, and yet the Dominion government is pursuing a policy which is certain to increase still further the cost of living to the farmer, cut him off from one of the best markets, and thus accelerate the already rapid fall in the value of farm lands.

the Chases Factory Qu m Mr. J. W. Moore of Lakefield. [To the Editor of THE POST.]

Sen,—There have appeared lately in the Lindsay papers considerable about the choose business, a business so well known and prized by the farmers of Ontario that I have not thought it probable that anyone would be deceived by anything that might be written against it. That cheese factories in some localities have proved a failure is too true. But why? The fault lies with the farmers who supplied the milk to such factories, or rather, failed to supply the milk promised, and why have they failed They pay little or no attention to their cows, get them to give a little sup of milk for three or four months out of twelve and that when milk is least valuable for cheese or butter, and send this to the cheese factory from June to September. Before the first of October most of their cows are about dried up, and because they only realiza from five to ten or twelve dollars per cow, they declare to the world that cheese-making does not pay, that cheese factories are a "fraud" and that those engaged in the business are "swindlers, sharks," etc. They feed practically nothing to their cows and get nothing in return. Keeping cows after this fashion does not pay and of course soon starves a cheese factory.

It comes down to a simple matter of arithmetic,—nothing from nothing and nothing remains. I have yet to learn of the failure of a cheese factory which has been well supplied with milk for the first five years of its existence. The farmer who makes an sureement to supply milk to a cheese factory and lives up to that agreement will never be disappointed. I sincerely pity the man who, if he expects to make anything out of his milk, either in butter or cheese. has not skill enough to make his cows give him 10 lbs. of milk at a milking for a period of six months, which would give him 3,640 lbs. of milk, or if he kept Sunday's milk at home he would atill have 3 120 lbs. to send to the chrese factory. This has been nearly if not quite doubled by Mr. McRea of Brockville, in a herd of one hundred cows. I will here give you the names and post office address of two of the patrons of the Lake-field cheese factory, so that any of your readers may write to them and find out for themselves whether the gentlemen are making money or losing in this business. permission, as I have not seen them lately.

Mr. G. W. Mann, of Bridgenorth, from nineteen cows sent to the factory 67,536 lbs. of milk, or 3 554 lbs. per cow. for which he received the sum of $49400 or $26,00 per cow. $67 l3 of this was earned in the month of May and $106 fil in the month of October months in which the West Ops farmer acts as dry nurse to his cows and in which the West Opscow is not supposed to do anything. Thos. R. Mann, Bridge-nerth post office, from seventeen cows sent to the factory 69,772 lbs. of milk, or 4,104 lbs. per row, for which he received the sum of $503 30 or $29 61 per cow. Of this amount $79.54 was earned in May and $88 @ in October. These figures are nett. after all expenses are paid, and are for 1889, which was hardly an average season. believe the salvation of this country is not in "two-rowed barley" nor in commercial union, although that would help the farmer, but in our great dairy industry. which is bringing more money to those engaged in it to-day than may other branch of agriculture. Yours respectfully.
