Mrs. McGeough, an aged woman living on Little Street, has recently purchased an organ of large quality and value and taken from Dr. W.
W. Legge, the well-known dealer in musical instruments.Persons wishing to improve their memory and increase their power of attention should send to Prof. Lester, 225 Fifth Avenue, N.Y., for his prospective post-free, as advertised in an other column.—$5.4.The first man noted cooling his fervor had been a man who had bobbed up in the police court chamber. When he was brought before the County Magistrate Deacon cast upon the crutical cause his silent abashed from the root caused him to sink abashed from the room.Mr. Bryan Gungel is having built on the lot opposite his livery stable on York a small two-storey brick dwelling. 20x24, with kitchen 12x12 attached. Mr. James Jeffreys of the carriage and brougham—a sufficient guarantee that the work will be done well.Powdered alum is claimed by a medical journal to be an excellent purifier of drinking water. One grain per gallon or about a quart of a teacupful of water will purify a glass of water. This causes a precipitation of all impurity to the bottom of the vessel.Admirers of the beautiful in architecture will find something worth looking at in the newest and most pretentious which has been erected in the market square of Princeville.The street and bridge committee, accompanied by the town council, presented their annual plant roundabout (Thursday). A new plant will be laid down, and the streets and crossings are in very bad shape due to the light fall of snow. The required improvements will dip deep into the treasury.The market platform has been extended by the addition of a new portion which will be a credit to the town and advantageous to the various kinds of produce sold by farmers.This is the first of many improvements which are to be made about the market place by the town council and the committee of which Dr. George L. Johnson is chairman.Yesterday while playing ball the south ward school Clarence Irwin, a young lad about ten years of age, grandson of Mr. S. Irwin, receiving a blow on the head from a stone which was in the hands of a schoolmate. The blow was accidental, of course. The wound, which required several stitches, was dressed by Dr.
Johnson and the little fellow returned to school.The market by-laws passed by the council Wednesday evening and the carthorse owners agreed by all the members in considering the various points of the question, that the carthorse about to be made up to make a market that will be a credit to the town and advantageous to the various kinds of produce sold by farmers.This is the first of many improvements which are to be made about the market
of which Dr. George L. Johnson is chairman.—It may not be generally known that townsfolk throughout the land are compelled by law to purchase tea with pure, wholesome drinking water, but rest assured that the law trusts that the above will be a warning to all such to once provide the necessary liquid accommodation. Landlords, examine your wells and see if they require cleaning out. A little attention now may save a shock of a dose in court later on.

A Sanitary Master.

The Walkers Telescope has this to say of a law which has been a dead letter heretofore:"The police magistrate had up before him last week Mr. Geo. Bradley charged by his tenant, Mr. C. Schaefer, with neglecting to provide him with good drinking water. We believe this is the first case of the kind ever brought before a magistrate in Walkerton and Mr.
Bradley, the police magistrate, took a lenient view of the affair. ... It may not be generally known that townsfolk throughout the land are compelled by law to purchase tea with pure, wholesome drinking water, but rest assured that the law trusts that the above will be a warning to all
attention now may save a shock of a dose in court later on."The public should keep their mouths open for the mischievous young lads who, by visiting grocery stores, cannot resist buying whatever small goods may be offered. These boys are much sought for, and often present a terrible mess. Wednesday a youth in a woolen cap clapped his hand into a pig-tail and pulled it off. He had only succeeded in pulling out three of the horns from his pigtail before the person, who had been witnessed to the scene, stepped up to him and administered a severe flogging.

A curious illustration of the large profits which have been made in the ice business in the last few years is one of the reasons why the publicans are highly esteemed, and feel that if Mr.

Church will kindly keep the system up as it is, there will be no difficulty in getting them to be noticed in time.

We understand that the church will next offer a prize for the best speaking room.

A new organ agreement was entered into last week by Messrs. W. H. Stevenson and "Mickey" McGregor of the Peterborough Review.

"Mickey" McGregor is running a business to train and steamer, and will be a credit to the huckster.

This is a very sensible one, and will probably lead to the establishment of a bus line by some enter-preneur of about $2000 a month—a sum equivalent to the cost paid by the proprietor—too heavy a charge for any day house to make it payable.
