The collegiate institute literary society closed its term of existence for 1890 on Friday evening

This was beautifully executed and elicited great applanes.

3. "Cuckoo Seng," by Miss Silver. This was the gem of the every serious of approbation.

4. Debate—"Resolved, that the civilization of Greece has had more effect on modern England than that of Rome." Affirmative, A Grant, T. March: negative, C. Matthews, C. Cliff. The debate was listened to with deep interest and many bursts of sudden and hearty applause showed that the audience thoroughly appreciated the specimer and comprehended the nature of the subject. There were some brilliant flashes of craury on both sides and strong points as well. After the close of the debate ballots were distributed to the audience, every one voting. Whilst the count was being made Mr. Milner treated the audience to his numerous selections from Lucian. The count of ballots showed that the negative had carried away the palm by a mejority of 22.

5. The girls' giee, "Good-night," was a taking offert and pleased everybody, although regretting that it meant the closing of the program.

Before the young ladies retired the boys' glee club came as a powerful auxiliary to sing the national anthem, which concluded the pleasant evening.

-S. B. Hyers' Colored Musical Comedy Co. the members of which are genuine colored setiets, open an engagement of three nights, commencing Monay, May 12th, in the operahouse, Lindsay. The Toronto Empire had the following regarding the company: "In these days when the theatre-goer has become accustomed to the burnt cork and negro imitations of minstrel troupes a genuine colored company is considerable of a novelty. Hyers Colored Musical Comedy Co. that appeared at the Academy this week gave an entertainment above the average of the ordinary minstrel show. The first two parts of the program comprise the usual songs and dances, among them such favorites as "Mary a Gone Wida Coon," "De Court House in de "ky" and "Old Red Cradle," exceilently rendered by melodious powerful voices. Miss May Hyers has a contraito voice of sweetness and power. In Tom Davies and T. C. Small are found two artists whose realistic acting and excellent singing met with great favor. Steve Cooper's sand jig in the second part was a very clever performance of leg manipulation. A genuine old-fashione i break-down at the end of the second part quite captured the sudience. Altogether the performance was excellent,"
