his misleading statements with regard to this Company.

I had intended taking no notice of his misrepresentations; but as he seems to think he must go a little further. I feel it my duty as Agent for the London Mutual to expose just a trifle of the work of a man who had been dealt with so leniently for years, as he had been by the London Mutual Company. For this purpose I herewith give the public the benefit of the following testimonial, signed by a prominent farmer of Emily and certified to by A. O'Leary of Lindsay, showing how little reliance can be placed either on Mr. Corneil's work or on his word. The certificate is as follows:

Emily Township, July 8, 1890.

I, Richard Mulcahy, have been shewn the application on which Policy No. 156,040, dated August 12, 1887, was besed, in which it is stated that there were two brick chimneys on my dwelling at the time. I declare that I did not authorize Mr. Corneil to make such a statement and that the signature is not mine, nor did I authorize him to sign said application for me; the changes made in the application were unknown to me. I stated that I would put chimneys on. Signed) RICHARD MULCAHY.

sections of the McKinley bill to Canada illustrate what are the possibilities for an active, intelligent sgent of the Dominion in that place. Fer instance, the whole been shaped and modified had there been a proper representation at the early inception of the bill. As it is, it is left to drift without any organization, and the politically controlling interests which the brewers represent are in no way centralised or made effective.

One circumstance will emphasise better than anything else the possibilities for usefulness of an agent. It so happened that in the discussion of the new tariff in the committee of ways and means, when lumber was reached Mr. McKinley expressed a willingness to put it on the free list providing the Canadian government would consent to the abolition of the export duty on logs. A friend of Canada who was at that time in Washington took the trouble to telegraph a long message to Sir John Macdonald requesting assent to Through Tickets to all that proposition, but no answer was returned. The bill was under consideration for three weeks, and this important item mittee of the senate, and the chances are it will be continued at $1.50 per 1,000. Had there been an active, energetic agent, with whom communication could be had as between the ways and means committee and the government of Canada, and who could have insisted upon an answer, free lumber would have been aftorded to Canada. But to the gentleman who telegraphed, having no official standing and perhaps not being in high favor with the powers at Ottawa, his communication was ignored and the exaction of $1.50 on every 1,000 feet, say a wagon load of lumber, entering the States will hereafter be enforced. Since the repeal of reciprocity the lumber dealers of Canada have paid into the treasury of the United States $20,000,000, and in the next twenty years an equal amount may be paid unless there is a mitigation by reciprocity or by diplomacy of this charge. This vast amount might have been eaved hereafter had there been at hand in Washington an authorized agent of ability and experience and of sufficient influence to be recognized by the government at Ottawa.

United States and Canada at the present moment. One of the first things for the liberal party to adopt in addition to unrestricted reciprocity is the right to have an agent at Washington to watch and influence the relations between the two countries. The necessity for a high commissioner in London to represent Canada is not one tithe as urgent as that which demands a similar official at Washington. The closer the relations between the countries the more important this will become.

The anxiety which seems to exist in Canada with regard to the McKinley bill is manifested daily by the numerous letters prominent Canadians are receiving from the Domiaion. It is impossible for me, for extravagant, and that the anticip never equal the realization. Our trip so far this year has been all that could have seen wished, despite the fact that the first two days out were confined to the imits of our camp grounds. But this condition of the weather had its merit because at the camp for which we would not have had time had the weather been clear.

At present there are five in our party. "Uncle Jim" Knowlson, of course, is at the rother in-law of Mr. Knowlson; Jack Bucknell, "Bucky" Knowlson and yours truly. I have a harder time than ever in keeping up the American end of the camp, but I have succeeded so well that the stars and stripes float proudly over our little domain to the exclusion of all other bunting. I am the only Yankee in the crowd.

but am equal to the emergency. The first days here, as I have said, were The first days here, as I have said, were devoted to fixing up and lasying around. We rigged up a tent for the patriarchal division of the party, and then prepared a canvas palace for the rest of us. We have as comfortable a home as it is possible to arrange under canvas. Table, chairs, fine beds, etc., are among the fixtures. The old folks are just as well off, only they live down hill among the plebeian skeeters. Our camp ground is on Big Mud Turtle lake, on the way to Gull lake, where we made our headquarters last summer. As before, we came as far as Coboconk by rail, but did not go on the same night because rain threatened and it was deemed advisaable to put up at the hotel over night. able to put up at the hotel over night.

Our first adventure occurred the very first day in camp. We had started to do a little bass fishing but had not time for a catch because the rain drove us to shelter. We ran into the smaller tent and naturally took our rods in with us, not taking time to remove the minnow. We sat down on the beds and listened to the peals of thunder and downpour of rain. Before long the water found its way under the canvas, and a little rivulet was soon form-While we sat there discoursing on the awful wonders of nature, we were suddenly electrified by seeing one of the fishing rods bend over almost end for end. "Uncle Jim" was sitting on the butt end of it, and the trembling of the rod caused his whole body to vibrate as if stricken with palsy. With remarkable presence of mind gry brook trout, seeing the tempting mor-sel on his trip down, snapped at it and lodged the remorseless hook firmly in his Why, if Isaak Walton's ghost was prowling about in our vicinity it would have hid its head in shame. Uncle Jim had not room so with a dexterous double movement he loosened the reel at the butt and separated the rod so that only the last two joints were brought into play. He thus managed to land the three-pound beauty after about ten minutes coaxing. He tried in vain to get another bite while the shower lasted. If any more trout par fought shy of the bait.

But if the first two days were unpleasan we affectionately call Uncle Tom. Like all norning. Bucknell and I went over with morning. Buckneil and I went over with him and were preparing to follow his example in the matter of bathing—for he had already commenced his ablutions and was standing in the water up to his armpits,—when suddenly he disappeared from view, giving vent to an ear-piercing yell as he went down. Jack and I plunged in after him but could find no trace of him, notwithstanding that he is of portly build. We were at a loss what to do. It is not agreeable to go thumping against the logs and stones at the bottom of a lake, yet we could do nothing to prevent it, not knowand stones at the bottom of a take, yet we could do nothing to prevent it, not knowing the cause of his disappearance, or the direction he had taken in his submarine journey. We were nearly dumbfounded, therefore, when we saw him bob up serenely right in front of the camp, a distance of fully 250 yards from where he went under. He was dragging a big lingua after him. He was dragging a big 'lunge after him, and his face was flushed with what was the greatest piscatorial battle ever fought.

the greatest piscatorial battle ever fought. I will give the details of the adventure in his own words:

"I was just about to take my bath and had dipped my big sponge under water, when I was drawn by a vigorous tug on the sponge, I knew not what the motive power was, but I held on for dear life and was jerked about in the water for what seemed to me to be ages. I never let go my hold, knowing that in the end I should overcome what ever force was propelling me, and so it turned out. Gradually the speed elackened and finally stopped altogether. My feet touched bottom and when I thrust my head above the surface of the water I found that I was only a few paces from the camp. I did not find what I had on the sponge until I dragged it ashore and found, as you see, this fine maskinonge. How did it hang on so long, you sek? Why, that's simple enough; I have a strong cotton twine tied to the sponge with three or four hard knots in it. One of these knots got caught between the lungs's teeth and he could not let go."

HYMENEAL.—We have almost forgotten, in the rush of harvesting, to note a pleasing event that took place on July 6th last. We allude to the marriage of Mr. Peter Kiarley, one of our most substantial farmers, and Miss Mary Jane Hutton, one of our most popular young ladies. The ceremony took place in St. Mary's church, Lindsay, Vicar-General Laurent officiating. Mr. Francis Hutton, brother of the bride, was best man, and Miss Mary Kierley assisted the bride. After the ceremony they took the train for the west on a short honeymoon trip, after receiving the congratulations of a large circle of friends.

SAD DEATH OF A LITTLE GIRL.—A most pathetic accident happened south of the town Monday. Mr. George May was drawing sand from a pit near his house. His little child, a two-year-old little girl, followed him out. She stood by a gate post as he drove through, and being on the opposite side he did not see her. He heard the child cry "Whoa!" and stopped the team, but before he could do so the little one was knocked down by a wheel and run over, the wheel passing over her little body and head. She was terribly injured and died in an hour and a half after the accident.

A TROTTING MATCH. — On Saturday evening an exciting race took place between R.W. Hart's Jack Frost and James Vallentyne's Blackhawk Morgan mare. The race was keenly contested and resulted in tavor of Jack Frost by about a length. The "Gleaner" was present at the race and after the excitement had subsided the "Gleaner" offered to match itself against Maud S. of Canada or F. O. P. on the home stretch, one hundred and fifty yards, for stretch, one hundred and fifty yards, for twenty-five dollars. One of our local sports took up the bet and the "Gleaner" invited the young man to Cannington to put up the money, but he said he would do it there and then. The "Gleaner" withdrew within its shell, saying that it did not have that much boodle with it. The boys here are of the opinion that either of the horses would win. No doubt the "Gleaner" is a hustler but we think he lacks the nerve to be successful in a trial like the above. Mr. John McKay has had four men employed all spring and has even then found it almost impossible to turn out the work in the required time. Mr. McKay's excellent work is so favorable to the farming community that work is brought to him over a radius of thirty or forty miles.

PERSONAL,-Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Wood of Lindsay have been visiting in Kirkfield. While Mr. Mosgroye was out driving last week one of his medals became detached from his vest and was lost. REMOVAL.—Mr. M. Nelson, our popular station agent and operator, has been removed to Haliburton. A few friends gathered at Mr. Harrison's on Saturday evening and gave Mr. Nelson a tarewell party. Mr. Nelson was well liked during the four years he had been stationed here, and we are sure he will gain the respect and become as popular among the people of Haliburton. This speaks well for Kirkfield pupils and the principal, Mr. E. Moegrove.

Successful Operation.—Two very difficult and dangerous operations have been very skilfully performed by Mesars. Gerow and Thorn, our well-known veterinary surgeons. On one horse they put back a very bad hernia so skilfully that it is almost impossible to see anything of the operation; and in another case they removed a very dangerous tumor from the breast of a horse, cutting away part of the tumor from the jugular vein. The first horse is entirely well, and the second horse will be fit for work in a few days.
