One of his legs about five weeks ago became very painful, and medical skill was called in to examine it. Upon a thorough examination it was found that the bone had become decayed and that the only remedy was to open the flesh and scrape the putrefaction away from the bone. An operation was performed, and the little operation was performed, and the little fellow is doing nicely.

-In speaking of the bungled work in the execution of Kemmier at Auburn, Thos.A. Edison said :-" The fault lies wholly with the doctors. Theoretically they are right, no doubt. The nerve centre of the human no doubt. The nerve centre of the human system lies in the base of the skull. But practically they are all at sea. Here we have had something like 30 perfect examples of instantaneous death by electricity in accidents that happened in and around New York. How was the electricity applied in these cases? Never to the head. Of what use has been the death of these 30 men? In every case the mortal charge entered. In every case the mortal charge entered through the hand. In no case was the atrength of the current nearly half what was to have been passed through Kemmler's skull. The reason why contact by hand is so much more fatal than through the head is that electricity travels through A strange case of hydrophobia was de-ve oved Near St. Paul last Friday. -A Berlin cable says: One of the results of the interviews at Osborne between Queen Victoria, Emperor William, the Prince of Wales and Lord Salisbury is the withdrawal of the candidature of Prince Waldemar for the throne of Bulgaria. Family reasons, notably the protest of the King of Greece, influenced the decision. Under the promptings of Empercr William both the queen and the Prince of Wales are beginning to take a more active part in foreign politics in England.... Saturday's Post gives suggestive prominence to a special London despatch saying that just as the emperor's visit to Oeborne in 1888 afforded the starting point leading to an Appelo Comment and as the visit Angio-German agreement, and as the visit of the Prince of Wales to Berlin was not without bearing upon the treaty, so foreign thice circles now believe that there was a political significance in the present visit of the kaleer, the outcome of which may as tonish the world. The Pest's allusion, as read here under the light of the reports circulating in the official world, point to a project of the kaleer's to obtain the czar's ascent to another Berlin congress, siming at a general European peace compact, implying a limitation of armaments. Lord Salisbury's declaration at the Maneion house that Europe was never more pacific and that the nations were growing inclined to compromise indicated the strain of his communication with the pewers. The kaiser is going to Russia as the apostle of peace, and now desires the kateerin to ac-company him. The czarina ignored the approaches of Gen. Von Schweinitz, the German ambassador, regarding the reception of the kateerin, so the Grand Duke of Heave, on the solicitation of Emperor William, has started for S'. Petersburg to will treat the league of peace as a futlity

—Frank Reynolds of Cobourg sent an ocean ticket to England last month to bring out a little girl all alone and only eight years old. Mr. Reynolds sent instructions to Liverpool Eng., to have the child labelled to his address in Cobourg and put in charge of the steward of the ship, and then taken to Montreal and placed on the cars is care of the conductor. Little Annie Tyers was placed on on board the steamship Vancouver of the Dominion line at Liverpool, on July 17th, and landed in Cobourg on Thursday safe and sound in the arms of her mother, who was anxiously awaiting her arrival. swaiting her arrival.

-Last Saturday morning at 9 o'clock a severe thunderstorm passed over a section of country north-west of Campbellford, accompanied by heavy rain and hail, which did considerable damage to crops. Quite a number of barns were struck by lightning. The only casualty reported is that of Albert Rowe, a young man, who with a little girl drove under a shed near a barn. The latter was struck and shattered just in front of the horses. Neither the girl nor the horses were affected, but Rowe was knocked down by the shock, and blood ran from his mouth, nose and ears. Simon Hatt, a Frenchman from Montreal who has been duping people in this district on a small scale for several weeks past. He came to Belleville about a week ago and visited several prominent business men and succeeded in getting about a dollar in each case. Calling on a merchant on Mon-day of last week, he offered to buy a day of last week, he offered to buy a couple of sets of harness, for which he gave a cheque payable at the Montreal bank on the following Thursday. He said it was the custom in Montreal when a good cheque was given to give back a dollar or so, "just for good luck," as the sharper put it, but as he was not particular about the price he paid for the goods his dollar was generally forthcoming. Strange to say the game was auccessfully worked on some of the best business men in Bellsville, and on Wednesday he quietly laft the city. The Wednesday he quietly left the city. The victims did not report the matter to the police, choosing to suffer the loss rather than have their foliy exposed, and no effort was made to arrest the sleek-locking Frenchman, who was gaining a good livelifrenchman, who was gaining a good lively hood in a small way. It is needless to say that his hotel and other small bills were left unpaid. Madec apparently effered a flood field for his play, for it was here that he next turned up and succeeded in victimizing nearly everybody he came in contact with. No less than fourteen horses were purchased from unsuspecting farmers in the township, who, according to agreement. the township, who, according to agreement sent them to the purchaser, who was supposed to be in Madoc. He found the honest farmers only too willing to give the victimizer a "dollar just for luck," and in several cases he got more than that amount. He also as suddenly disappeared from Madoc a few days ago, leaving the hotel stable full of horses. It was not long, however, before the cat was cut of the bag and the farmers commerced to swarm into the village looking for their horses, which they found all right. None of the various bills contracted in the village were settled and a warrant was sworn out for Hatt's arrest and placed in the hands of a con-stable. Acting on the atrength of the information that their man had been seen in the vicinity of Foxbore, a couple of officers made a diligent search and soon had him under lock and key. He has been taken to Madee for his trial.—[Bell-ville Ontario.
