

THE TRAPPER'S STORY.

During the spring of 1885 one party was engaged on the headwaters of the Fraser...

Early one morning I awoke with a small headache, and started for the construction region...

My first day's work was to clear a narrow trail that led to a mountain...

My next job was to get the weight I had thrown in for wood...

When the fields of his land stretched the high plain, I was not particularly glad...

I felt confident of meeting the light with an advantage to myself...

With my rifle I was sure shot, and it was not long before I had secured a fine specimen...

It was not long before I had secured a fine specimen of a mountain sheep...
