THE LOCAL MARKET.

Deliveries in grain and general produce have not been exceptionally heavy during the past week, nor have prices materially changed. In fact, they remain as near as possible the same as last week, but barley appears to be more firm with an upward tendency. Other grains are almost dead, so to speak, but owing to the Chicago and western dealers endeavoring to "corner" to some extent there may be a slight rise before long.

DENERAL PROPUCE. Foreign markets for all kinds of farm produce and grain have not changed this week to any appreciable extent. Liverpool is reported steady, but prices are unchanged. The United States markets appear to be only steady. The market There is no demand for any produce offered on 'change, Flour is dull : the market quiet, no demand, Reported that superior extra has been offered at equal to $4 60 here. Wheat is also dull and no demand. Barley quiet but a trace of steadiness is observed. Oats are not mentioned, but there is no active demanded. Peas are unchanged. Hye is quiet and nominally lower. Hogs unchanged.

The Mark Lane Express, in a review of the British grain tradeduring the past week says :- "The floods have futher retarded quotable change in native breadetuffs.

Beats the CLOUGH & WARREN, MASON & HAMLIN, BELL(of Guelph), and the Smith American organs.

It affords us unlimited pleasure to again congratulate the enterprising manapers of the Dominion Organ & Piano Company, of Howmanville, on the unbounded snecess of their organs abroad. Yesterday's mail brought them the following letters, forwarded by their English house Mesers, Forsyth Bros., of Manchester and London, and which they have given us permission to publish :-Derry, England, Oct. 11th, 1882.

MESSES, FORST'H BROK.,

CHNTLEMEN, -I have been exceedingly busy during Church Congress week at the exhibition, or I should have written you sooner respecting the organ you kindly sent for exhibition. When your traveller was here I mentioned that Chappells (of London) were sending me the largest organ that Clough & Warren made, Metzler, a Mason & Hamlin large size, Bell Organ Co. (of Gueiph),—a largest size also—the Smith American Organ Co., one of their largest size; and, as I wished to make the exhibit as complete and telling as possible, you might perhaps be willing to send a representative) instrument on same terms, viz., that I paid carriage each way. I am bound in truth to tell you, that although the organs I have named exhibition, or I should have written you that although the organs I have named were fine instruments, everybody of the large number who tried and examined the stock, was of the opinion that the Dominion organ was certainly the best, in very semall spot supply, and fetches fancy prices, ranging from 36s to 36s. Harley was very quiet, prices being steadily maintained. Cargoes off the cost are quiet and prices unchanged. There were six fresh arrivals. Five cargoes were sold, four withdrawn, and eight remain, including five red winter. Cargoes formant that atthough I have in stock two large ones of Clough & Warren manufacture, I am convinced that if I keep it, and place it at the end of my long saloes it will soon sell and lead to a good business in cluding five red winter. four withdrawn, and eight remain, infour withdrawn, and eight remain, including five red winter. Cargoes forward were dull and rather weaker. Sales of finglish wheat during the week, 47,325 quarters at 46s 5d during the correspondquarters at 46s 5d during the correspondfore decided to keep it.
