JAMES HAMILTON Takes this opportunity of returning thanks to his numerous customers in the County of Victoria for the liberal patronage bestowed upon him in the past, and would inform them that owing to his increased bysiness he has been obliged to extend his premises. By renovating and enlarging his blacksmith shop he has made space for his new show room in the troot, as well as better adapting his premises for the purpose of manufacturing on a more extended scale, in order to supply the increased demand. He would inform them that now, with his increased facilities, he is manufacturing a larges stock than ever of

Which, for durability, comfort and neatness cannot be surpassed. He would also call attention to his celebrated Steel Plows, with a lid steel landside, to which he has added some improvements. Parties will fird it to their benefit to call and inspect before purchasing elsewhere. He would still further call their attention to the fac. that he has purchased the SULE RIGHT FOR THE COUNTY OF VICTORIA AND THE TOWN-SHIP OF MANYERS, FOR THE SALE OF COLLARDY PATENT IRON HARROWS AND CULTIVATORS, which impliments need no recomendation, as they have been so well feefed throughout the Domicion-Parties wishing to save time should secure one of these Harrows, as they are all of wrought iron, with steel Teeth. The following are a few of the many points in which this surpasses all other Harrows; I. Its Flexibility—The narrow sections are found to be much more effective even on level ground than the solid harrow or broad sections, they adjust themselvs to the unerven surface, drop into a hollow, roll over a ridge or stone, without being raised much of the ground, and in every respect hug the ground more closely. 2. The narrow sections of this particular make are not so liable to clog up with stones, roots or other foreign substances; these obstructions, effect not become in other Harrows, are thrown off or work through without difficulty. 3. The Tooth. We claim peculiar advantage in the tooth, at the head of which is a peculier tapering oval tenout, to fit a corresponding oval cocket in the main her or bealt, the greater axis of the tenon and its socket being in the direction of the draught, adding greatly to the atrength of both tooth and bink secreted by a nut at the top, and if the tooth become loses one turn of the aut tightens it. 4. The lower can a sharp edge in front,—"hardened steel" it cuts cleaner, works into hard ground more effective, and when from long use the edge leaves duly our lack the sists on the top, tours the tooth and rea
