MR. MCINTYRE'S CANDIDATURE.

Our esteemed contemporary with characteristic mendacity desires to defend Mr. McIntyre, yet takes good care to meet no question openly and fairly.

One point we might refer to, however, is its labored effort to show that Mr. McIntyre's nomination was by the free vote of the convention and not through the trickery of the Lindsay ring.

When Mr. Peck talks so glibly of what an excellent representative he has made does he tell the people of money granted by the Government to be expended on roads but which was actually spent for electioneering purposes and subsidizing shaky voters?

And even if it attempts to prove that Mr. McIntyre did receive the nomination by fair means can it show any reason why the electors should be called on to elect him? At the time of the railway deputation on the late amalgamation business did he act the part of an honest representative of the town?

Then, without referring now to the McMillan matter—one of the most reprehensible and unscrupulous acts that could possibly be imagined to take away the ground from a friend—what is his public record on other points? Did he not at the late June election do everything in his power to arouse the feelings of the electors against the Dominion Government and do his best—little it may be, but nevertheless his best—to arrange province against province and legislature against legislature for the sake of party advantage?

We put it to the intelligent electors of Victoria whether it would be safe or wise to send to Parliament such a candidate as this, especially when they have Mr. Fairbairn in whom they can rely. Whatever Mr. McIntyre's abilities may be as a lawyer it is a well-known fact no reliance can be placed upon him as a representative except so far as personal interests demand, and the interests of Lawyer McIntyre are very different to Farmer Fairbairn's.

THE YANKEE CANDIDATE.

Mr. S. S. Peck, the Yankee candidate from Dakota, is busy canvassing in North Victoria and with his glib tongue is endeavoring to show what an excellent representative he will make if they elect him.

But whether Mr. Peck will admit it or not there is no great question this is the game he is up to or he would never have been here again. A man who will take money in an unlawful manner from his county and then refuse to pay it back cannot be gifted with any great regard for his constituents or have to any appreciable extent the interests of his constituency at heart.

When Mr. Peck talks so glibly of what an excellent representative he has made does he tell the people of money granted by the Government to be expended on roads but which was actually spent for electioneering purposes and subsidizing shaky voters? Does he inform them one third of the money was spent in temporarily repairing a few of the roads, and that the remaining two thirds were used in hunting and sporting by Mr. Peck and his friends and in assisting many to leave Haliburton for the more desired Dakota territory?

If Mr. Peck is elected again is there any reason to believe he will do any better? Generally when a man acts dishonestly with another once that is the last time he has the opportunity, but in this case there appears to be an effort to do things differently. It remains with the North Victoria electors to say whether this man shall again impose upon them, or whether they will elect one of themselves and a Canadian in the true sense of the term.

and capable men are so badly needed in the House? But the electors of North Victoria are certain will never pursue so suicidal a course as to send there a man so devoid of all honesty and truthfulness as Mr. S. S. Peck nor so unscrupulous a Yankee politician.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE Dominion Parliament meets on February the 5th.

GREAT sympathy is again expressed for "the old man" and tears in abundance are shed in his favor by our Grit friends. But would it not be as well for them to bottle up "those tears" till the night of Mr. McIntyre's defeat, who will no doubt be better able to appreciate them? Mr. McQuade understands Grit sympathy too well.

A FEARFUL loss of life has been occasioned by the burning of a large hotel at Milwaukee last week. Ninety persons are supposed to have been either burned to death or killed by jumping from the windows of the upper stories. The hotel was a large six story building, and the fire spread so rapidly that in three-quarters of an hour it was in ruins. The loss is set down at $500,000.

THE Post is kind enough to tell us we have done the Conservative party great harm by what it pleases to call our "reckless and unprincipled assaults on political opponents." We thank our contemporary for taking us into its confidence and its evidently expressed desire to help us to defeat Mr. McIntyre; but is this statement to be relied on or like its figures "subject to correction?"

THE Napanee Mills Paper Company are preparing for the erection of a pulp mill for the manufacture of wood pulp, for the express use of their extensive paper mills at Napanee, and the negotiations to secure site, etc., in Fenelon Falls are pretty well advanced. They will consume in the new manufacture large quantities of poplar, bass-wood, white pine and other soft wood, which have hitherto possessed little or no commercial value.

OUR esteemed contemporary says we have called Mr. McIntyre a horse thief. We can assure the Post we never did anything of the kind nor did we know that Mr. McIntyre had ever done anything of the kind. If the Post knows of any horse stealing escapee Mr. McIntyre has been engaged in it is to be hoped it will inform the public, for it would never do to send a candidate of that kind to Parliament. That would be almost as bad as the effort to send Peck there.

WE had hoped that the Fenelon Falls Gazette, which by the way poses as an authority on the "astuteness of the press of this county," would be manly enough, if not to oppose the notorious Peck, at least sufficiently honest not to condone his rascality. But the Fenelon Falls Gazette appears to be as big a scoundrel as Peck for it is ready to condone any public crime so long as the perpetrator is a good Grit, and he is fortunate enough to keep himself outside of the penitentiary. This is certainly a sad state of affairs, but we are sorry to have to say nothing better could be expected from the Fenelon Falls Gazette.

PETERBORO Times.—We think the Conservatives of South Victoria show their good sense when they selected Mr. Charles Fairbairn, the popular reeve of Verulam, to contest the riding in the interests of that party at the approaching elections for the Legislative Assembly. Mr. Fairbairn is a man worthy of the highest public confidence. No one can study the record of his career since he has held office either as reeve or warden of Victoria without being convinced that he possesses the qualities of a public man, sound principles, intelligence and courage to do what is right, without caring who may be pleased or displeased thereby.

DURING a political campaign Reformers and Reform journals sometimes take peculiar methods to dodge the onslaughts of opponents, but the present mode of our contemporary is the most unique yet. THE WARDER, it appears, has been making some allusions to the record of Mr. McIntyre regarding public matters which will not bear the light and which has raised the ire of the Post and the clique to such an extent as was never known before. Vengeance loud and deep is breathed on our devoted head, and the electors are "warned" through the Post they must not take any notice of any thing we say regarding Mr. McIntyre. Poor innocents! Do they think they have such supreme control over the minds and intellects of the electors of Victoria as to make them shut their eyes to anything we may say just because they dare not attempt to defend it or to prove anything to the contrary? If they could have proved that we were not stating the truth would they not have done so long before this, and instead of column after column of bad temper and abuse have shown to a discerning public that the magnificent temper they were endeavoring to raise had some foundation in fact? Notwithstanding their "warnings" we can assure all interested that the electors of this county are fully able to judge for themselves in such matters, and instead of wasting column after column in abusing us it would be more to the point if they endeavored to place Mr. McIntyre in a more favorable light, if such is possible.

THE Post pretends to give the figures for the balloting of the candidates at the late Conservative convention here, but naively observes that "these figures are subject to correction." We should think so, indeed, and would advise our contemporary to "correct" them right away, for it lies most frightfully.

OUR esteemed contemporary with characteristic hypocrisy holds up its hands in holy horror at what it pleases to call the misrepresentations of THE WARDER, and then straightway tells the public that Mr. Fairbairn is a "wire-puller and has been looking for the Conservative candidature for some years." Could impudent lying go further!

MR. S. S. Peck thinks the laws are more liberal in Dakota than here, especially regarding the seizure of goods for debt. Perhaps that is the reason Mr. Peck quietly moved his effects to that State and purchased a large farm with Haliburton county funds. Mr. Peck is a little too sharp we are afraid for the honest farmers of the north.

MR. D. J. McIntyre is out on his canvas and once in a while makes a bold effort with uplifted hand to harangue the sturdy farmers of Mariposa and Verulam. They assure us his attitude is striking and much admired, especially when dealing with the treachery of the Grit Lindsay clique in the division court business, the only drawback being that he forgets to add his own share in the cowardly doings. Mr. McIntyre would no doubt be able also to make a good point by telling the electors how neatly he helped to sell the interests of the town in the late railway amalgamation to the Government so that they might be better able to fight the Canada Pacific Syndicate when they get their road built through Ontario. This would undoubtedly take well and show him up in his true light.

It appears to us that if the Post and the Reformers generally were to be more honest and truthful themselves instead of finding so much fault with others it would redound to their credit and be an assistance to their cause. To accuse Mr. Fairbairn of being a wire-puller as they have attempted to do, and the convention as a packed body for the purpose of nominating him, is the most infamous falsehood the fertile imagination of a Grit clique could conceive and worthy the unscrupulous political clique of Lindsay. Do they think Conservatives are as devoid of honor as themselves and who long before their convention met had already settled their nomination by an office to one and the nomination to the other? The Grit clique must remember that though they stoop to such unscrupulous and underhand tactics that is no reason Conservatives should do so, and that if they are compelled to buy off one candidate and intrigue for the other's nomination that Mr. Fairbairn's friends and the convention had no reason to do the same. When the Post and its clique want to attack Mr. Fairbairn it is to be hoped they will in future pick on something that has at all events a semblance of truth and not again attempt to lie so unblushingly as would put even Satan himself to shame.
