The Front Gate.

An old and orippled gate I am, And twenty years have pas ed Since I was swing up high and dry Betwist these posts so fast; But now I've grown se powerful weak-Despised by man and beast-I'm scarcely strong enough to squeak Although I'm never greased.

Twas twenty years ago, I say, When Mr. Knes White Came kind of hanging 'round my way Most every other night. He hing upon my starboard side And she upon t'other, Till Susan Smith became his bride, And in due time a mother,

I ground intensely when I heard-Despite I am no churl-My doom breathed in a single word-The baby was a girl ! And as she grow and grow and grow,
I loud bemoaned my fate;
For she was very fair to view,
And I—I was the gate.

Then, in due time a lover came, A dapper follow, Brown by same, The grown-up baby wooth'!
They sprang upon me in the glosm,
And talked of moon and star;
They are married now and live at home Along with ma and par

PROVES A CORDUNCY ROAD FOR WELLING-TON BINGHAM.

and a contract of the second

Some months ago Wellington Bingham, of Orillia, aged 19, son of a respectable merchant of that town, became deeply them home and then got a sawing machine and had the log out into frewood.

A RAP FALL. The numerous friends demsel, calling hereal Etts Borland. To say that this affection was encouraged is to use too mild a term. The young momen fairly gloated over her victim, and here and the small of the back were badly injured, the effect of which has caused the most acute suffering since.

OFFIGARY. The death of Mr. Robert Ford is announced, one of the first sections in the township of Emily. He was born in the township of Emily. He was born in the township in April of 1843, when the country was one vast wilderness, taking for the wayward girl grew upon him until he made up his mind that life without her would be a burden. Notwithstanding that the woman bled him freely, the misguided youth believed all her protesta-tions of faithful love with a truthful innocence most touching to think of. Alas, the day came when the bewitching Etra found it necessary in the course of human events to leave the quiet little town of Orillia for the bustling Ambitious cityprobably for Orillia's good. While here ill health came upon her, and owing to the fact that she was not blessed with a plethora of worldly goods, she was forced to take up her abode in the city hospital, in which palatial building she now re-

Wellington could not bear the long separation from his darling, and leaving the comforts of his parental home followed her to Hamilton. To this proceeding Mr. Bingham, senior, seriously objected, and learning of his whereabouts yesterday followed him to that city. As the best way to finish matters Mr. Bingham procured a warrent for the arrest of his son on a charge of vagrancy, which Sergt. Prentice and P. C. Williams proceeded to serve. The misguided youth was found in the ward of the hospital in conversation with his lady-love, and, notwithstanding his protestations and entreaties, was torn from her side by the hard-hearted officers, put in a cab with his father, taken before the magistrate, dismissed, and taken aboard the train for Orillia, where he will soon be reposing in the bosom of his family. The young man was bookkeeper for his father, who is a hardware merchant, and had $97 and some jewelry in his possession. He went to Hamilton Friday morning and attempted to see the girl, but the hospital authorities would not allow it without an order from the chairman of the hospital committee, Ald. Blaicher. Nothing daunted Wellington procured the order and was admitted.
