The Snow Blockade. (Writton for the Warder.)

The editor sat in his sanctum
While the snow whirled down outside,
and the editor said to himself, said he "The furies are out for a ride, The trains will sll be hindered And grevious mischief made, and we'll miss the daily papers— Plague take the snow blockade!"

The scissors will grow rusty, And dried up be the paste, And editorials written In the biggest kind of haste And local correspondence Will also be delayed, And simply on account of This beastly snow blockade!"

And where's the news to come from This ghastly sheet to fill, This ghastly sheet to fill,
With nought to steal or copy
And nought to ran the mill,
No local news, no nothing
Of any kind or grade?—
Confound the weather prophets
Who brought the snow blockade!"

"Th, yes, but let me see now, Just when the storm is o'er I'll tell them all about it, All and a little more-Of how the giant snow plough Got drifted up and stuck, And when the road was opened

The engines ran amuck ! I'll tell such dreadful stories Of accidents and such, Imputed to the snow-storm's Unearthly, fiendish touch; And how extremely hurtful

And damaging to trade And business dealings generally Must be a snow blockade." The editor sat in his sanctum, And saw the snow whirl down, And deep and deeper drifting, But his brows had ceased to trown, And o'er his homely features The merry dimples played, And he thanked his stars devoutly

For the lucky snow blockade!" Lindsay, Mar. 21st, 1983.

A Timber Question.

A case that excited considerable interest in the back country was decided on Thursday of last week, by his honor, Judge Whiteside, in the Haliburton division court, which will probably have the effect of checking the rapacity of unprincipled lumbermen. The cause was that of Stewart v. Irwin. The plaintiff resides on a lot adjoining the village of Haliburton, and the defendant is a lumplaintiff, went on to his land and cut a round. number of trees. Plaintiff wrote two letters to defendant complaining of the season is on us now. trespasses. These letters were unanswered, and the plaintiff put the matter in court. Mr. William Martin, a lumberman of life long experience was employed to count the number of ties cut by defendant and he reported as fellows —3 pines, 7 birch, 2 cedars, 2 bass-wood, 1 hemlock, 68 trees from one to six inches, and 40 trees from one to six inches broken by the falling of the big trees. For these the plaintiff charged, $6 each for the pines, $4 each for the birch cedar and measuring from one inch to six in diamater. The whole amount was $198, but an abatement was made from that amount to reduce it within the jurisdiction of the court. The plaintiff pointed out to the court that this was a most unwarrantable trespass, and that these trees had an ornamental value over and above their commercial value. To offer, as had been done in this case, to pay merely the com-mercial value of the trees cut and destroyed was simply scandalous, and the poor settlers in the back country had been too frequently deprived of their just dues by such means. It was the duty of the lumberman to ascertain, beyond all dis-The above figures indicate the strength and popularity of the Canada Life. Claims paid immediately on proof of death. VICTORIA ROAD.

Correspondence of the Warder.

AT the annual meeting of the North Victoria electoral division agricultural society Mr. John McTaggart tendered his resignation as secretary of the society, which office he had held for the past thirteen years. The president and directors wished him to continue to act as secretary if at all convenient, but Mr. McTaggart stated that owing to other business in which he was engaged, which occupied all his time, he could not possibly continue to fill the office. Mr. W. A. Silverwood therefore moved, seconded by Mr. Nelson Heaslip, that a vote of thanks be tendered Mr. McTaggart for the very efficient and obliging manner in which he has discharged the duties of secretary for the past thirteen years .- Carried unanimously. The president, Mr. Smithson, tendered Mr. McTaggart the thanks of the society, at the time expressing his regret that Mr. McTaggart could not make it convenient to continue to fill the office which he had held for such a length of time with credit to himself and the society. Mr. McTaggart replied in a suitable manner. The above was overlooked in sending the report of the annual meeting for publication.

> KICKED BY A HORSE. -On Friday Frank Bell, a young man from Fenelou Falls who was working at Minden, went into a stable to harness a horse, and the animal suddenly stepped forward and then kicked. Fortunately the horse was not shod on its hind feet, as one of them struck Bell on the forehead over the left eye with such violence that he was insensible for several hours, and had there been a shoe on the foot he would almost certainly have been killed. As it was he had a narrow escape, as he received aff ugly wound about two inches long and down to the bone. Dr. Curry of Minden, sewed up the cut and on Sunday the patient was brought home, where he has since been under the care of Dr. Wilson. At first there were some unfavorable symptoms, but they have entirely disappeared and he is now doing well.

A FRENCH FRACAS. - Last Monday afternoon there was a tremendous hubbub on Colborne street amongst a number of Frenchmen, and of course they were soon surrounded by a crowd of villagers of various nationalities, who in-tensely enjoyed it. What the row was about we have not been able to find out; but the dispute arose between two or three half drunken men, whom a number of sober ones were trying to pacify, and the whole lot of them argued and shrug-ged their shoulders and gesticulated as only Frenchmeu can. The only one who got hurt was one of the original disputants, who was twice knocked down by a stout lad aged about 17 named Christain, whose coat he had torn, and who wasn't a good enough Christian to stand that.
