The Lessons of Life. We have lessons to learn through the changing years That silently come and go; The ones which doubtless our untaught hearts

Needeth the most to know, A lesson is set on each page of life For our weary eyes to con; Some we study mid blinding tears,

Others neath skies of June, Some are learned in youth's bright EGGFEL. When our hearts are free from care;

Others not till the passing years Have silvered the sunny hair. Some are learned in the noon of life.

When fainting upon the road, We fain would lay our burden down, And rest from the wearing lead. Others we fail to understand, Though pandered o'er and o'er;

Not with clear visions shall we see Till we stand on the farther shore. Ah! well for those who make best use

Of the lessons life can give; Who learn aright through the changing

The lesson of how to live,

..... FENELON FALLS.

The pretty little village of Fenelon Falls wears a busy aspect this spring, and more so than it has done for a me years past. This is mainly caused by the many new enterprises now under concerns is sure to develope. On every side can be seen new buildings just completed or fast nearing so, mainly of brick and some of wood. The only unsightly thing to be seen is the big hole in the wall of the old grist mill, which gave way from the effects of the frost or the value of the old grist mill, which gave way from the effects of the frost or the value of the old grist mill, which gave way from the effects of the frost or the value of the old grist mill, which gave way from the effects of the frost or the value of the old grist mill, which gave way from the effects of the frost or the value of the old grist mill, which gave way from the effects of the frost or the value of the old grist mill, which gave way from the effects of the frost or the value of the old grist mill, which gave way from the effects of the frost or the value of the old grist mill, which gave way from the effects of the frost or the value of the old grist mill, which gave way from the effects of the frost or the value of the old grist mill, which gave way from the effects of the frost or the value of the old grist mill, which gave way from the effects of the frost or the value of the old grist mill, which gave way from the effects of the frost or the value of the old grist mill, which gave way from the effects of the frost or the value of the old grist mill, which gave way from the effects of the frost or the value of the old grist mill, which gave way from the effects of the frost or the value of the old grist mill, which gave way from the effects of the frost or the value of the old grist mill, which gave way from the effects of the old grist mill, which gave way from the effects of the frost or the old grist mill, which gave way from the effects of the old grist mill, which gave way from the effects of the old grist mill, which gave way from the effects of the old grist mill, which gave way from the effects of the old grist mill, which gave way from the effects of the old grist mill, which gave way from the effects of the old grist mill, which gave way from the effects of the old grist mill, which gave wa sign and the location chosen.

Fencion Falls has long been noted for its lumbering interests and its saw mills, and these to-day appear to be as busy as ever they were. On all sides can be seen large rafts of logs, some brought miles back from the (itill river and Burnt river limits, but all disappearing quickly before the rapid circular saws. Owing to circumstances we were only enabled to visit one of the large mills—the McArthur & Thompson mill, situated on the shore of Cameron lake. This mill is close to the railway track and during last winter its capacity was increased to nearly double. Yet they are now compelied to which are seldom seen, yet which are all made to work by steam without in the least decreasing the pressure. One is for the carrying out of all the sawdust from the many saws, both the big and small, least decreasing the pressure. One is for the carrying out of all the sawdust from the many saws, both the big and small, which are buzzing away at many different places, by means of small elevators, and places, by means of small elevators, and adjourned to Tuesday, the 19th June, which carry it all out and deposit it in a big heap for the furnace fires. Second comes an appliance for turning the logs as Correspondence of the Warder. the sawyer requires to do when slabbing off, and which he performs by simply moving a lever and it is laid over for him as he desires. Two shingle machines are also running constantly at this mill, and the bright, active youngsters are kept busy in packing them up ready for transportation and their customary quar-

ness of all kinds is good and from the ed by our new superintendent. beavy stocks carried by many a large business is carried on. In dry goods Messrs, Jarvis & McDongall do a very large trade this spring and their store cannot be beaten by any outside the city, while many others have first-class stores and the very best goods. The grocers and provision merchants, of whom there are many, are equally enterprising and altogether an exceptionally large trade is done here this season. Nor should we leave out Mr. Nugent, the druggist, and Mr. Jos. Heard, the stove and tinware merchant, both of whom we are pleased to learn find their business THE crops in living prices. As to hotels they have good ones in Fenelon Falls. The Simpson house and the McArthur house cannot be beat in any country town, while the new Brooks hotel and the Crandell house are fast pushing themselves to the front. Capt. Crandell is intending to bring a spring down from the top of the hill to his house, and from the continual additions and new fixtures being introduced he will undoubtedly soon have quite a swell house. We are glad to see him prospering and trust he may do well always as he is doing now. There are several other points we must refer to, but this is long enough for once from Fenelon Falls, Accordingly we stop till next week, (Crowded out last week.) BLASTING CASUALTIES. - Tuesday shower of fragmentitious rock from the canal broke four or five panes of glass in source went through a window in the rear of McDougall & Brandon's premises, de-molishing more than half of it. It is fortunate, notwithstanding the severe bombardment to which the village has been subjected since the canal was commenced, no person has yet been hurt.

ARBITRATIONS. In the recent arbitration between Mr. Jordan and Mr. St. Michel regarding the value of a brick store built by the latter on ground since acquired by the former, Mr. Jordan was adjudged to pay $1,100. In the arbitration held this week between the Government and this corporation in consequence of Water street having been required for canal purposes, the sum of $3,000 was awarded to the village, which has done well by the transaction, as it will probably be able, after the canal is finished, to rent the street with all the valuable stone thereon at a nominal figure.

THE CANAL Mr. A. P. Macdonald says the actual construction of lock No. 2 will be commenced on or about the list of July. The other lock will be eleven feet deeper, and before much more rock can be taken out a coffer dam will have to be built, as the excavation is almost down to the level of the water, and it will thereby the many new enterprises now under operation and the boom in building which can be made on No. 1. Yet they are now compelied to work more than full time and have more orders ahead than they can turn out for many weeks. The amount of timber this firm uses up is a caution, but they have a large supply of logs on hand and limits secured for several years at least. Every kind of manufactured pine lumber and shingles is here earried on, some logs being used for shingles and others more hard and better adapted for lumber. Itound this large mill there are many little appliances for saving labor and time which are seldom seen, yet which are all passed and orders drawn on the treasurer for the same :- C. E. It is free from mercury or anything injurious and makes a more durable plate than any of the rubber compounds. One or more of Mr. Gross's English Black Rubber Plates may be found in almost every neighborhood within 30 miles of Lindsay, and all giving the greatest satisfaction. J. NEELANDS, DENTIST, Lindsay. 20 years' experience. GOLD ALLOY PLATE. Dentistry revolutionized. Mr. Neelands announced some time ago that he was introducing this new kind of base for artificial teeth. He has this new kind of base for artificial teeth. He has now sufficiently experimented with this material that he can with confidence recommend it to persons getting artificial teeth as perhaps one of the best materials ever used. It is a compound of the Royal metals. No bismuth or antimony enters into its composition. The material is cast from a direct model of the mouth, therefore the finest lines of the mouth are accurately copied, thus securing a perfect fit. The Thernal conductively is such as to secure to the mucous membrane freedom from passive congestion so very common even with black rubber and other common plates. Persons who wear it claim that they do not experience that hot feverish feeling in the mouth so usual with rubber plates. A leading dentist of New York stated before the Dental Association that he had worn every kind of plate ever used and they had all felt more or less uncomfortable until he had worn this. There is but one other dentist in Canada at the present less uncomfortable until he had worn this. There is but one other dentist in Canada at the present date hesides Mr. Neelands who has secured the patent right to use this material. Teeth can be inserted on this plate at a price that will not be much more than on rubber. This material can also be used in conjunction with rubber. There is little doubt that before many years this will almost entirely supersede rubber.

GAS.—Mr. Neelands made a special study of this gas with Dr. Colton, of New York, the inventor for extracting teeth without pain. Mr. Neelands has given it to thousands while having teeth entracted, with the greatest satisfaction.
