FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1888.

Tier Sons of En land of Port Perry lodge paid their Lineary friends a visit Wednesday. They ere to have arrived at twelve o'clock near, but coming by the boat did not read here till late in the afternoon, when it was too late to carry out the full programme. The Lindsay lodge met and escaped them up town headed by the Port Perry band, and after a good dinner at the loyal hotel a march was made to the a ricultural grounds where the games were to be played. It was too late, however, for these, and they had consequently to be deferred with the exception of the chil ren's races. The band was an unexceptionally fine one and added much to the enjoyment of the exceptionists.

PRESERVERRY OF LINESAY.—The Preservery of Lindsay held its regular meeting at Woodville on the 27th ult. Much ing at Woodville on the 27th ult. Much of the time was occupied with business not of much public interest. Mr. Robert Myers underwent a long and thorough examination with a view to licensure. His trials were all sustained with approbation, and he was thereafter duly dicensed to preach the gospel according to the usual form. The several students laboring within the Presbytery read the discourses that had been prescribed and were certified to the college. Arrangements are about completed for a union of the congregation of Mount Albert in the Toronto Presbytery with Quaker Hill in the Lindsay Presbytery, and the minister of the former place, Mr. Mc-Donaid, will take charge of both. Next day the annual S. S. convention of the Presbytery was held, but on account of the harvest season the attendance was not large. Some very instructive addresses were given, and much valuable counsel given in agard to S. S. work.

(INTLAMEN,—I tought one of your low down binders the year from your agent, C. Molane, I deay, and I must say I like it better the ry day I see it run. My little boy Walter thought there could simple that a small handle so well. He can out as heavy grain as grows out of I would like to see the grain he could not cut with it. He can make as large a sheaf as I want, and san tie it as tight broken five cents worth yet.

A lure for trout and black base is ang-gested by one of the writers to a sporting pariodical that is somewhat novel. He may that he has used it for thirty years, and never saw its equal as a bait. The skin of the neck and the head of a few, with speckled and red feathers on, makes a most enticing bait, and it may be used froch or be kept pickled in salt brine from fall till spring. He says:—"When on the hook it is a most enticing bait, and being tough hangs on well and looks bright. I have caught a backet of treut with one bait. Sometimes you may want a bait like a bug or grasshopper, or a large miller, this you can closely imitate by leaving on one or two fasthers. Sometimes by cutting from the wattles near the bill, with a feathers, for a large miller, this feathers, for a large miller, this you can closely imitate by leaving on one or two fasthers. Sometimes by cutting from the wattles near the bill, with a feather or two, or a piece of the comb and a piece of the little feathers attached, will large a treat when nothing else will."

Way be impeded. No loss is imposed by drowned land, and there is no reason why the water should not be held up.

Lous,—The last drive of logs has passed through. It contained about 25,000 logs, belonged to J. M. Irwin, and was in charge of Hoss Douglas assisted by clerk Hoxie. The drive came from the remote north, and had an unfortunate run, experiencing a constant succession of adverse winds, and losing a man at Fencion Falls.

Carors,—The farming community have had capital weather for the harvesting, and the rush of the work is through. Threshing has commenced and the yield is considered about an average. The losse, rolling land of this neighborhood has stood the wet weather better than many parts. Root crops within the last few weeks have picked up remarkably.

On Monday evening last Mr. R. H. Henderson, who for the past year and a half has held a position in the Napanee agency of the Dominion Bank, received notice of his transfer to the Lindsay branch, where he would receive promotion. While the announcement was a pleasant one, its suddeness, and the fact that it would sever many pleasant ties formed in Napanee, cansed many regrets. Mr. Henderson has been an active member of the Good Templars since the reorganization of the lodge here, and was W. C. T. elect for the approaching term. The members of the lodge learning of the sudden and unexpected order for his removal, called an emergency meeting and presented him with a flattering address, which indicates very fully the high esteem in which the recipient is held among his more intimate associates; we are pleased to believe that he is held in the same regard by all with whom he has come in contact since his residence in Napanee. He was also an enthusiastic devotee of manly sports, and his absence from the lacrosse team will be severely felt when close mateness are on. We join with his many friends here in wishing him unbounded success in his future career. Beaver. career, Beaver.

The Sylvest of Challenge.

We see by The Lander last week that Mr. Sylvestor arges us as Massey squarts, with havin used unfair means to get his customer to return his machine and take curs in tead. We dray the charge and he can not prove any such things.

QUARRY.—The Ontario & Quebec railway quarry has closed down for the present. A large quantity of fine stone has been shipped. The stone for the Midland railway bridge has also been shipped, and four massive piers have been constructed there. The piers are eleven feet under water, and the bridge will be 36 ft. above water, which will allow boats to pass under and avoid all delay of boats and trains. On the completion of this bridge by Messrs. McNeeley and Waiters, the old swing bridge at the Lindsay wherf will be abandoned. The cost of the contract will be about $50,000, a portion of which has fallen to the lot of Bobcaygeon.—[Independent.

Mr. Rainsford mechanical superintendent of the Miland railway, was on motion heard as a the feasibility of the town supplying the Midland railway with purposes. He said the company would have to find other means of obtaining was than the present one for engine purposes, and thought that the town could extend the pipes of the waterworks so as to mot their demands, as in a short time in any event they will have to be extended a that direction. The matter was merely laid before the council to see what can be done. The company would remunerate to both parties.

The matter was left to the fire and water committee to leal with and to see if suitable arranger and can be made with Messers. Needler an tion is satisfactoril arranged between the town and the company.
