TREAR was quite an excitement caused the other evening in the kitchen of a certain house in town. It seems that a resident of Fenelon Falls, who we understand is a married man, strayed into the kitchen and began to talk to the girls, and was trying to make them believe he was a single man, when they happened to find out that he was married. It did not altogether please the girls, for he got the contents of all that was in the teacher. kettle, and most of it happened to get into his boots, which made him get out the fisherman's bait, and together with the fish swallowed the hook.

The cow by-law having successfully run the gaustiet of all opponents, has become law, but the trouble is now to find one to administer it or rather to act as poundkeeper. Mr. Crandell for fear the chief constable could not have sufficient to do magnanimously proposed to nominate him for this very important office, but the council considered he could be better employed at something else, and the matter was left in abeyance till after the election. It is an open question whether Mr. Rob. Brown or Mr. John Hartwick will be the coming man. Hartwick will be the coming man.

IN THE SUCCESS OF THE

Because we were the first to rend asunder the old fashioned long winded high prices. Because the City Store continues to be the regulator of low prices and leading styles.

Because we always advertise exactly what we practice. Because our whole aim and study is to buy cheap and sell cheap.

Because we give better value for money than can be had elsewhere. If the above is not true why do so many merchants pretend to try to follow in our wake?

If the above is not true why do we incur so much jealousy? If the above is not true how could we have established so large a trade in so short a time? If the above is not true how could we hold our trade and increase it as we have and do each succeeding month?

There must be some good reason for our great success. There must be some good reason why others try to copy our style of business.

There must be some good reason why our patronage is daily increasing. Kind reader, it rests with you to buy goods cheaper if you will, but give us your trade and influence and help us to double our present business. Our object is to buy cheap and sell cheap, and the larger our business the cheaper we can buy and the cheaper we can and will sell.

Consider the above carefully, and when you want DRY GOODS, MILLINERY, CAR-PETS. CLOTHING, READY-MADE OR ORDERED, come and see us. We will do our part to make it pleasant for you, and give you bargains that will bring you back again.
