MOUNT HORRE.

Mr. W. J. Ferguson is doing immense work with his clever thrashing machine, but nothing beyond what we wish him.

Those possessing cross dogs in this locality would do a great favor to the public if they would either mangle or in some way prevent them from running to the road after every one who passes by.

BALSOFER.

BALSOFER is a small village, having 3 stores, a blacksmith shop, carriage factory, gristmill and flouring mill, wooden and cloth factory, and a shoemaker, and I think one would do well.

We have had very cold and stormy weather. The roads have been blocked with snow drifts and the mails have sometimes been three days behind time.

Another year ago the Rev. Mr. Fall, the Presbyterian minister of this place, took a painful disease inside his mouth near the root of his tongue. He has consulted with different physicians of Toronto and elsewhere for a cure, but has not been successful. It gives him much pain to speak at present. His friends will feel very sorry for the reverend gentleman.

FLEETWOOD.

Big Work.—Mr. Wm. Burke one day last week threshed twenty-five bushels of peas from morning until three o'clock. He had them cleaned and in the bags as the clock struck three. Who can beat that? I believe we have got the boss thresher in Fleetwood.

Visiting.—Mr. John Shea, from Owen Sound, is here visiting his friends. It is now twenty-five years since he was in this place. He finds great changes since he last visited it.

The Army.—We had an exhibition of the performance of the Salvation Army one day last week. It is reported there is to be a small detachment of the army to be quartered here under the command of a lieutenant and ensign, the ensign also to perform the duties of adjutant. It is a good station for a recruiting party, as there are plenty of recruits to be picked up here, especially if there will be a small company offered.

FORT H. F.

RAILWAY ACCIDENT.—At two o'clock on Sunday morning a freight train (No. 16), was standing on the Viaduct, Port Hope, awaiting orders to proceed. The train hands apparently had a long spell of work and were drowsy with fatigue. To this source must be traced the fact that the train had no rear light and the signals were not attended to promptly as might have been. At all events another freight came up unperceived along the viaduct and dashed into the caboose of the stationary train. The engineer Martin Sheehan of the coming freight did not notice No. 16 until he was close upon it. He at once reversed his engine, and calling to his fireman to jump for his life, sprang out into the darkness. The fireman struck the bridge and escaped with only a few bruises. The engineer, however, was not so fortunate. His spring carried him out over the side of the bridge, and down he went to the road beneath, a distance of between forty and fifty feet. In his fall he struck the telegraph wires, and to this his distributor got being instantly killed. Fortunately for the occupants of the caboose, the approaching freight train had diminished its speed, as it customary in traversing the viaduct. As it was the caboose was completely wrecked, and the engine had its pilot and other parts considerably wrecked. The train hands say it is a miracle that there is in the caboose escaped with their lives. The accident happened at any other station the train would have been going at a greater speed, and would have ripped the caboose from end to end, and probably the next couple of cars ahead of it. It is feared that Sheehan has sustained internal injuries that may prove fatal. The express from the east was delayed nearly six hours through the accident. Engineer Sheehan, who belongs to Belleville, notwithstanding his fearful jump, managed to be the first to get to the station with the news of the accident, and assistance was telegraphed for to Cobourg and Belleville.

The Tucker Spring Pad Truss

FOR HERNIA OR RUPTURE.

OUR TRUSS, which we have pleasure to place before your notice and consideration, dispenses with the ever uncomfortable Body Spring, having the means to convey a proper pressure just where it is required, THAT IS IN THE PAD. The Tucker Truss is very light, single on weighing about 4 lbs., and the double one not 8 lbs., it completely and comfortably retains the Hernia under ALL positions and exertions of the body. A swivel attachment to the belt prevents displacement by locomotion or stooping, and its ready and complete adjustability by which each Pad is made either RIGHT or LEFT at once or fixed at ANY desired angle commends it, and also, it is more durable than any other, as there is nothing to rust or break, ALL the metal work being nickel plated.

GEO. W. BEALL.

More about WATCHES and Prices.

I am not interested in crying down any particular make of watch or in unduly praising up another. I keep ALL desirable makes and grades of watches—every make that I believe will prove satisfactory to my customers and that I know to be of good value AT THE PRICE.

About Prices.

I wish to correct a false impression that may have been created in the minds of a few (I cannot believe there are many) too credulous individuals who perhaps have been imposed upon. Certain dealers have extravagantly and boastfully advertised that they can buy for 50 PER CENT. less than I can, or if you are to believe them for less than all the world beside. 50 PER CENT! Ask any business man if he believes that statement—if he believes that goods such as watches, whose values every practical dealer knows to a cent, can be bought by any one dealer for 50 per cent. less than any other, admitting that both are prepared to pay cash? 50 per cent! When there are dozens of dealers in this province alone who would buy any quantity and jump at the chance at even 10 per cent. less than honest cash values.

Further.—The LEADING watch factories have called for more WATCHES than they can make, more than they can fill for a year to come, absolutely refusing all further orders for present delivery. Do you think under the circumstances they would sacrifice their credit when the cash is ready for all they can make at full prices, some grades being in such demand that dealers would give more than the price to get them if they could.

I claim to give the terms at least equal to those given by anyone in Lindsay or in Toronto.

Perhaps my reasons briefly are:—

I can sell for a smaller profit, having no partner to divide with or to support, thereby saving a good round sum equal to two stores and taxes thrown in.

I employ no workmen, being a practical watchmaker myself (the oldest in the town of Lindsay) and prepared to do watch-repairing in first-class manner, as low as can be equally well done anywhere.

I buy strictly for cash and sell for cash.

I know my business thoroughly. How to buy and where to buy and am prepared to give every advantage of a reliable BUSINESS MAN, and there are many advantages in purchasing near home from one you know well.

Remember the place. Call and see for yourselves.

GEORGE W. BEALL,

Watchmaker and Jeweller.
