24TH CELEBRATION.

Mr. Weese said the committee appointed had not been a correct one, and that consequently the whole business got into the hands of irresponsible parties who apparently cared only for making what they could out of it. committee he had to express his regrets that not more interest was taken in the question, and that although there were so many complaints regarding the utility of the water system scarcely any one appeared prepared to say what should be done or what really was the trouble. The special committee had met, then a meeting of the committee, firemen and the were much annoyed by it.-Referred to principal property owners called but very rew had attended. The subject was there fully gone into, and two schemes were d, one to extend the present system of pipes, the other for the purchase of a steam engine and hose. As to power nothing definite was shown. It was urgued by some there was not sufficient ower to get the water to the tops of the mildings on Kent street, while others buildings on Kent street, while others said there was plenty, and as fully as much as was required for all purposes. For himself he did not know what was the best plan, although he had given the subject considerable study. He thought, however, before extending the waterworks as was proposed they should first see to the pumps and have them in preper order before spending $5,000 on extensions when the town is financially in its present condition. To do anything in the way of extension would require the borrowing of the money, and to borrow $5,000 now would be a very expensive affair. At the end of twenty years it betrowed through debentures they would pay some $9,000, under the instalment plan $3,150. He thought it would be a plan $8,150. He thought it would be a difficult matter to sell debentures now at more than about eighty-four cents, al-though they had successfed in selling their though they had succeeded in selling their last at par. To pay this sum of $5,000 in twenty years would require an extra tax to be raised of $550 the first year and would gradually decrease to $265 at the end of the term. It was, however, for the council to say what was to be done, and he thought perhaps the gentlemen who desired to incur the expenditure would be able to show a cheaper mode of obtaining it.

WATERWORKS EXTENSION. Mr. Connolly moved, seconded by Mr. Mallon, that the mayor and clerk be instructed to prepare a by-law for $5.000 for the extension of the waterworks and putting in another wheel.

The Messrs, Humphrey Bros., carriage took an active interest in municipal affording in the council a number of the extension of the waterworks and putting in another wheel. UD. the extension wheel.

Mr. Connolly said he brought up the resolution in obedience to the veice of the meeting, which appeared to be in favor of the extension. The people were the ones to judge as to whether they wanted it, not the council.

Mr. McTavish, Mr. Begley and other The clerk read a statement which was handed him as to hew the money collected from the citizens was spent, and as a gentle hint for the $100 from the council stated that several claims were not yet paid. The statement will be found also where

The conditions of that resolution, he mid, The conditions of that resolution, he mid, had not been carried out, insemuch as there had been no celebration, and no money had been paid into the treasury as should have been. The money which had already been spent by the citizens to so little purpose they had nothing to do with, but as they were handling public money they could not vote it away without getting value therefor.
