Weser Works.

We are informed that a responsible party in town would be willing to build and maturain a frost and fire proof engage house and fire hall combined for the sum of $2,000 per annum for 25 years receiving also the present pipes in use in the waterworks system. With the worthington pump, which would be put in, it is claimed five hydrants would be supplied at once in case of fire instead of one or two as now. The company would also in this connection be enabled to inaugurate a waterworks system for all domestic purposes. The gentlemen proposing this scheme should lay the matter before the council.

Light Weighte.

The Belleville Intelligencer says that aptimithatending science after science and prosecution after prosecution, the weighte and measures act is still violated, especially in small villages, and country store weepers, the principal violation of the law consisting in traders persisting to keep the "old time" measures in their possession, and although is almost every store in the counties forming the Belleville weights and measures division—vis: Heatings, 'rince Edward, Northumberland, Durham, 'citerhore' and Victoria—sciences of these measures have been made, and the traders warned of the penalties attached to their having them in their possession, still they turn up somehow each time the stores are recvisited. The Impector determined to prosecute in every ones where these measures are found, and so 3 persons, two in Tweed and one in Fobboro, were prosecuted last month, and in each case were fined that month, and in each case were fined that month, and in each case were fined last month, and in each case were fined to and coate. The Crown Drum Stove.

Retains its reputation as being the most useful, besides coonomical heater, ever put in a room or hall for giving out plenty of hot air and keeping your house comfortably warm during winter, also the air is kept in constant circulation in the room it is placed in. I am pleased to add a few names of patrons already for this season to severel scores of patrons for past seasons, all of whom speak in praise of them: Messre. D. C. Trew, C. D. Barr, E. Lauder, T. Walters, W. Foley and Mr. J. Junkin, Bobeaygeon. Manufactured only by R. McFeely, at his stove and tinehop and coal oil depot, cast end Kent street, Linday. Call and get every information about them. You will save the price of one of those keaters in half the season by their saving of wood, besides having twice the comfort for the wood burned.

The Opera. The entertainment given under the auspices of the curling club known as the Ragan Illuminated Tours in Bradburn's opera house have proved very interesting. The first evening consisted of Paris, the magnificent, on Wednesday glympses of Scotland and last evening Wales and the lale of Wight. The scenes were very fairly produced and with careful and full explanations and descriptions afforded both amusement and instruction to the audiences.

On Wednesday, Nov. 5th., the Baker & Farron troups show in Lindsay in the play of "The Emigrants." It is an amusing play and well worth an evening's visit. The Toronto News of Oct. 7th, where they had splendid success, saye: "The Grand was jam full last night. The lower floor had scarcely a vacant seat, the first gallery was as full as it well could be, while up in the ton gallery the gods were piled in two as full as it well could be, while up in the top callery the gods were piled in two deep. The Emigrants—well everybody has seen the play, and knows Baker and Farron, and it is sufficient to say that the inimitable pair have lost none of their old time vivacity and humor. They have a number of new songs, which were regularly encored, and several times the artists were called before the curtain. The old Toronto favorite, Harry Rich, kept up his end of the show in great shape, and deserved all of the honors accorded him. The support in general are fairly up to the mark. The Emigrants will be given again to-night, which closes the engagement." The Telegram says: A bumper house greeted the old-time favounities, Baker and Farron, last night at the grand "The Emigrants" in their hands proved mirthful, and the two comedians were, as usual, ful, and the two comedians were, as usual completely at home with their audience, Railway Notes. The semi-annual meeting of the Grand Trunk railway company, was held in London, England, on Wednesday last. The financial report shows a deficit, compared with 1883, of $232,000 in passenger traffic; $870,000 in freight; and a saving of $735,000 in working expenses.

If the desecration of the Sabbath on the Grand Trunk railway be persisted in, the farmers of North Orillis and Medonte threaten to have divine service held at the crossings, first placing obstructions on the line which will effectually prevent trains from scattering the assemblage.
These services held at short distances slong the line, begun early in the morning, and taken up by different ministers in succession, would form obstructions which the company could not well overcome.

The mayor of Orillia is taking prompt measures to have the running of Sunday measures to have the running of Sunday trains in that vicinity put a stop to. On Tuesday his worship sent the following letter to Mr. A. White, manager of the Midland division of the Grand Trunk, Peterboro: Dear Sir—The inhabitants of our town, for the last two Sundays, have been greatly ennoyed by the trains running and the whistling of the engines, during divine service, and application has been made to me to have a desceration of the Sahhath prevented. I am sure I have the Sabbath prevented. I am sure I have only to mention these facts to you, and you will at once have the evil complained of stopped, and save me the unpleasantness of using my authority in the case. Yours respectfully, GEORGE J. BOOTH.

Disastrous Fire.

Another very serious fire visited Lindsay Sunday, burning up a large amount of property and much of it uninsured. Shortly after 11 o'clock, while services were being held in the various churches, smoke was seen issuing from the large Grand Trunk freight house known as the Whitby & Port Perry, and by the time the alarm had been given fire was bursting out of the been given fire was bursting out of the roof. Where the fire was discovered first was used by W. D. Matthews & Co., Toronto, as a grain store house and contain-ed many thousand bushels of barley and wheat. From there, fanned by a brisk wind, it rapidly spread and soon the entire store house full of freight of all descriptions was one burning mass. To make tions was one burning mass. To make matters worse long lines of cars stood alongside the freight sheds all laden or partly so with all kinds of merchandise and grain, which were every few minutes taking fire. Soon, however, men began to arrive from all quarters and with the help of others arriving from the churches car was gradually run out of the vard each car was gradually run out of the yard and down the track along Victoria avenue, till some forty cars were pushed there and others on the other side in the opposite direction. Some six or seven care could not be got out in time and fell a prey to the flames, while three others were dragged named Joseph Gamble, died a few days ago at Lindsay, Ont., in destitute circumstances. He mentioned having left a wife and three children at No. 38 Sydenham street, Montreal, about three years ago, since which time he had not seen or heard of him. This paragraph is sent to the press, hoping the information herein contained may reach the family of the deceased.

The Salvation army had another memorable day on Wednesday. A Mrs. Pearce, one of the leading members of the organization, was buried that day and the army as is customary turned out on messes to the fuscrat. With the hanners fying and noisy drums and tambourines they created a scene rather repulsive to those accustomed to the decorum usually shown in funerals taking piace in Lindsay.
