Mr. J. Nesbitt, of Brighton, was prosecuted by the friends of the Scott Act, for sending threatening letters to persons warning them against supporting the act. There was not the slightest evidence against Nesbitt, who was honorably discharged. The plaintiffs in the case are severely censured for trumping up the charge against Mr. Nesbitt.

At Cobourg on Monday, Jas. Mooney, of Cartwright township, found guilty of arson, was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary; and John Whitton, of Brighton, found guilty of assault with intent to do grievous bodily harm by biting, received two years in the same institution. The threatened letter case at the Cobourg assize, in which Jas. A. Kelly, of Brighton, was prosecuted by the Scott Act friends for sending letters to persons and warning them against signing the Scott Act petition, has ended in a "draw". Considerable excitement was occasioned at Joseph Moon's hotel at Highland creek near Pickering, Thursday evening last, owing to the actions of a couple of professional tramps who were on their way east. One of them entered the hotel, and asked for a glass of potentiated whiskey, and on being informed that no whiskey of that particular brand was kept in stock, he drew a revolver and threatened to clear out the crowd. Mr. Moon and a bystander made a grab at him, and succeeded in taking the revolver from him, and the tramp went on his journey.

One of the first apple trees ever planted in Ontario, and probably the largest, stands in a fallow field, on the farm of Mr. Jas. Rosevear, lot 3, sec. 2 of Hope. Mr. James Irving, the well-known gardener of Hope, takes great pride in showing the tree to curious on-lookers. He mentions the fact of Mr. John Armstrong of Cavan, having known the place where the tree stands, some fifty years ago as an orchard, owned by the descendants of the red man. The country about the place at that time was almost a dense forest. The tree is still full and green, and bears a pleasant eating apple of the seedling kind. The tree measures nine feet four inches in circumference, at about one foot from the ground. Mr. Irving thinks it can't be beat for size and age, in any other part of the Dominion.

The Stratford Herald says—"The genial farmer who brings us in the first load of wood shall receive free of charge, one smile of approbation." We are in doubts as to what the "smile" really means, but if it is only approbation straight, we are willing to go one better, and give two smiles.

Sadly but silently the "burrah" business of the Reform party has been amicably arranged. The Toronto News says: "A final meeting of the Mowat committee was held a few days ago for the purpose of finally settling up their affairs. The secretary reported that he had levied an assessment of $9 each on the guarantors and returns were all in. The amount in the treasury after all expenses were paid was so small that it was not thought worth while turning it over to the Reform fund. And so ended the great procession, the said banquet, the windy speeches and the hopes of an increase in the Reform fund." Many are thankful that things are no worse.

No other places have as yet been heard from, nor can they for some days to come, but it is understood that the general feeling is strongly in favor of compelling the company to redeem the promise made in April last, and pay the old rate of wages.

About 1000 people gathered outside the hall, and as the lecturer saw he was not going to be listened to, he told the chief of police to clear the hall. This was done, and all but Mr. Chiniquay left. That portion of the public concerned in the workings of the Canadian patent laws and the alleged defects of the patent act of 1872 will be interested in the case brought up Monday in Toronto, which took the novel shape of an application to the court for a prohibition restraining the Hon. John Henry Pope, minister of agriculture, from hearing an application by the Toronto Telephone Manufacturing Company to cancel a patent owned by the Bell Telephone Company of Canada.

The grounds on which the Bell Company apply for this prohibition are various, and the matter was argued at a great length by a formidable array of Q. C.'s. It is understood that the reason for the Bell Telephone desiring to have all these questions settled by the courts instead of by the minister of agriculture is principally because the minister has no power to take proper evidence on such matters, and because a decision by the courts, if in favor of the Bell Company, would be final and prevent further trouble to it on the ground that its patents were invalid.

It is asserted, and would seem to be the case, that the patent act is very defective in some points.
