THE COMING BANQUET.

Sir John Macdonald arrived from England this week and in a few day goes to Toronto. On Wednesday and Thursday the demonstration and banquet takes place. Preparations for the event are now about completed and delegates from every county in SIR,—Will you allow me to state some the province are to attend. On all of the facts relative to the inefficiency of the lines of railway fickets at sing fare will be issued to delegates, and it is estimated that several thousand will be present to congratulate their old leader on his fortieth anniversary in public life. Every delegate from this county should go.

COST OF EDUCATION.

to give each and every one a good public school education, but the curriculum had been extended little by little till now the province was called on to keep up two schools in place of one. This second or higher school was reallyintended for the professions, commercial life, etc., etc., while the working classes and others who could not afford to keep their children at school for so long a term received only the benefit of the lower or public schools, yet were compelled to pay for and assist in the education of the children of their richer neighbors when they were better able to pay for it themselves. Something would have to be done before long to remedy this state of affairs, otherwise the anomally would grow every year, There is no doubt that the grievance complained of by Mr. Barron is beginning to be keenly felt, not only by many in Lindsay but elsewhere, and it must be remedied to some extent in the near future. Of the working classes in our towns not one child in twenty ever passes into the higher branches of the high school owing to the circumstances of his parents and the necessity for him to begin early to work. The wealthier man's son, however, remains at school and finishes the course, and the poorer man is compelled to pay his share of the tax for educating, this young man and the richer one, who can better afford to may the expense, has his son educated at the expense of the other. We cannot see why it should be expected that the public should pay the expense of educating young men for the protesstone any more than they should be called on to teach a trade. A thorough public school system is as much as should be expected and as much as the public should be called on to give; the fathers who are desirous of having their sone study and fitting themselves for the professions should be looked to for the cost, and in nine enses out of ten are much better able to bear it. We believe we are safe in saying that there is not a texpayer but would be willing to pay his share but would be willing to pay his chare and 28 days. of the amount necessary for a thorough public school education for all:

public schools, the government and the county paying some 90 per cent. of the cost, and therefore it is not worth talking about. But every taxpayer has to pay his share of the county grant, and was the public school surriculum enlarged somewhat and the government grants given to the pub lie schools the educational tax would be much lighter to those sending children to the public schools, while those who desired to give their children an education for the professions could do so by bearing the expense, which they would no doubt willingly do. Such a system would lighten very much the taxes on the poorer people and place them on the shoulders of those better able to bear them, and who really receive the benefit. It is FOR SALE BY US, a question that should receive due consideration at all events, not only by the different school boards but by every friend of a true system of educa-

According to Lieutenant Greely's acsount of the nineteen men who pershed in the Arctic regions all but one were smokers, and the non-smoker was the last to die. The seven survivore were non-smoking men. This may be an argument against tobacco, or it may prove that non-smokers have less scruples about eating people than smokers have. If it is an argument against tobasso, the smoker had better not go to the Arctic. He had better remain at home, and die, an awful example of the evils of tobasso, at 95 or thereaboute. If he dies at home s will have the satisfaction of knowing that his tobacco saturated flesh will not be likely to be eaten by non-our present system of waterworks as well as to show some eleven years of needless expenditure of the people's money? In sent system of protestion for the town. A by-lew was submitted and the sum of $10,000 was expended for iron pipes and laying the same, purchasing two Holly pumps now in use. A contract was also entered into with Messrs. Needler & Saddler to supply a pump house, with shafts, gear-ing two leiffel wheels calculated to be 29 Mr. John A. Barron at the meeting of the board of education last week briefly referred to a matter in connection with our educational system, which sooner or later must become a question of vital importance to the whole of Ontario, namely, the increasing cost of our high school education. As Mr. Barron pointed out the true intention of the present system was the cite and and an are an area one as a good to the present system was the cite and and an area one and we must now have works are of no use and we must now have a new pump and pay $150 more for running it. However, as it is now the system is so imperfect that a meeting had to be called and the question discussed at a public meeting when a hoard of engineers was appointed by the mayor to examine the works and report. This it seems they did and found them in a worse state than anyone expected, that in fact the power anyone expected, that in fact the power was only 20 horse power and the pressure not sufficient for one stream. I find then tenders were advertised for supplying water for fire and town purposts when three tenders were received, one tender amongst others for $1355 per annum was favorably looked on as published in your issue of last week. Now, I think this tender is a very fair one and as it will involve an outless of $2.000 to start it going by the perlay of $8,000 to start it going by the person tendering and therefore too big a stake for one to take hold of and not carry out for one to take hold of and not carry out thoroughly every consideration should be given it, especially as in 20 years it becomes the property of the town and during this time is controlled exclusively by the mayor in the town's interest. Now, is not this a great deal better than the trouble we are having now without counting the much heavier expense every year.

Yours, A RATEPAYER. Lindsay, Dec. 11, 1884.
