Special to The Warder. No doubt you will Mr. Editor be pleased to hear of the triumphant return of Major Hughes as councilman for Man-The major did comparatively little canva sing and the large vote he carried under such circumstances must be taken as a pretty strong presumptive proof that he still stands high with those who we learn that a young swell from Hartley handle the franchise. Messrs. Burn and Johnston have also secured places at the council board. Mr. John Kennely is oner more reeve and Mr. James Clarke carries the honors of the deputy reeveship with apparent humility. "THE OX AND THE FROG."-Mighty is the city alderman in his majesty of office and rotundity of form, but in his boundless capacity and resources for the stowing away of the annual aldermanic dinner at the public expense we hail him monarch of all, "Hey with a three times three and a tiger." But we should require a salvo of artillery to boot to adequately express our admiration of the capabilities of our fellow townsmen who attended the free oyster feed given by our village aldermen on Thursday evening last as a thank offering in having been once again elected to office What is a vortex? Well, we thought we understood, but in all humility we must confess its true inwardness did not burst upon us until the sight of over one hundred able bodied citizens swallowing ovsters caused us to shudder at its awful magnitude. And they were all there, too: the old timer, the newly elected, and stranger still, the defeated candidates. It was grand. It was awful. It was FREE.
